ASK ILLINOIS: WET OR DRY?

HOOVER URGED TO USE VET BILL TO PUSH TREATY

Plan Would Avoid Special Session.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—Whether President Hoover will proceed with his program for ratification of the navy limitation treaty at a special session of the senate or revert to the original plan for action in the present regular session will be determined at a White House conference tomorrow.

The President listened yesterday to the urgings of Senators James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader, and George H. Moses [Rep., N. H.], president pro tempore of the senate, to postpone the consideration of the treaty until after the autumn elections. Today he heard Senator Henry J. Allen [Rep., Kas.] advise him that if he wants the treaty ratified before the elections it would be far safer to have it taken up in the present instead of a special session.

Allen Warns President.

Senator Allen told the President that in his opinion the senate, if called into special session, would be likely to postpone the treaty until the winter session, or at least until after election, because of the eagerness of senators to get home and begin campaigning for reelection.

The Kansas senator thought that the wisest strategy would be to bring the treaty before the senate at the present session, immediately following the passage of the rivers and harbors bill, but before the veterans' legislation is taken up. There has been much talk of the difficulty of keeping a quorum of the senate on hand to discuss the treaty, but Mr. Allen opined that few senators would dare go home before the veterans' bill comes up. Altogether, the effect of the situation, thought Senator Allen, would be to expedite the disposition of the treaty.

Hoover to Consult Borah.

Mr. Hoover was greatly impressed by Allen's presentation of the question, particularly when he was assured that the friends of the treaty command sufficient votes to put it on the program this session. The President decided to invite Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the foreign relations committee, to the White House tomorrow and ask his advice on the change of program.

Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], leader of the opposition to the treaty, discovered today another series of official documents bearing on the London negotiations which the state department has withheld from the foreign relations committee.

He immediately added a request for these papers to the request sent by the committee to the department yesterday for other suppressed documents.

Senator Johnson made his discovery in the text of a navy general board report to the secretary of war last August, in which certain correspondence between the London and Washington governments was referred to. This correspondence contains the earliest interchanges between the two governments on the question of establishing Anglo-American naval parity.

Stimson and Hoover Confer.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson conferred with Mr. Hoover late this afternoon. He later refused to disclose whether the request for the suppressed documents will be complied with. It is reported that the secretary informed the President of the receipt of a reply from Great Britain agreeing on the interpretation of article 19 of the treaty. Critics of the treaty pointed out that under this article Great Britain could replace six inch gun cruisers with eight inch gun ships. The interpretation said to have been agreed on is that new ships must be of the class replaced.

It was disclosed at the navy department today that contracts for the construction of the new aircraft carrier and two fleet submarine slated to be laid before July 1 will not be awarded until after the senate has acted on the treaty. According to Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams contracts for no more warships will be let this fiscal year.

Shot Accidentally by Gun in Wife's Hands; May Die

James Haisman, 27 years old, 2328 North Kostner avenue, was reported in critical condition at St. Anne's hospital yesterday. He was shot accidentally by his wife, Estelle, at the Haisman summer home at Paw Paw Lake, Mich., on Tuesday. Mrs. Haisman was examining a small rifle when the weapon was discharged, the police were told.

CANNON TELLS HOW HE SPENT THAT $48,300

Defies Senate But Explains to Public.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—Faced with possible contempt proceedings because of his defiance of the senate lobby committee when it sought the information earlier in the day, Bishop James Cannon Jr. tonight disclosed for the first time how he spent a $48,300 fund to carry Virginia against Al Smith in the 1928 presidential campaign.

The $48,300 was part of the $65,300 given to Cannon by E. C. Jameson, New York insurance man, to finance the anti-Smith campaign in the south. Only $17,300 of the $65,300 was reported to the clerk of the house under the federal corrupt practices act and Cannon at today's hearing flatly challenged the authority of the senate committee to investigate his political or financial activities and practically refused to tell the senators what he had done with the balance.

Text of Statement.

In his statement tonight he reiterated his charges that the lobby investigators are invading his rights and singling him out for attack. The statement follows:

"In my statement to the committee on lobbying Wednesday morning I said I would make a further statement to the press concerning the Jameson contributions and expenditures. At that hearing Wednesday morning I testified that all the $48,300 was used in the Virginia anti-Smith campaign, that the so-called 'gift' of $7,300 by Mr. Jameson was used to meet obligations incurred for printing, stationery, postage, etc., in the campaign.

"I refused, however, to admit the right of the committee to single me out and require a report from me concerning my activities and expenditures when it had called on no other person handling Mr. Jameson's contributions ($108,000 made to others besides myself) to make such a report, and had not called upon the Virginia state Democratic committee to make any report of its use of $107,000 to elect the wet candidate, Alfred E. Smith, or upon any of the other 95 state committees for such report.

Denounces Interrogators.

"I insisted then, and insist now, that this singling out of myself and of the Virginia anti-Smith Democrats because we fought the wet Tammany candidate is a deliberate, intolerable infringement upon the rights of American citizens, and is a threat to independent citizens against a repetition of the independent action of 1928.

"I denounce this effort to single out the work and expenditures of the Virginia state anti-Smith Democrats and the making a matter of public record the names and compensations of the speakers, leaders, organizers, and workers, including many ministers in Virginia who did legitimate work in the campaign, whose expenses were properly paid.

"The $48,300 contributed by Mr. Jameson and used in the Virginia state campaign was applied as follows:

"General purposes of state work, including speakers, travel, automobiles, postage, etc. [round numbers], $16,000; for county and precinct organization, election day work, etc., First congressional district, $2,000; Second, $4,500; Third, $6,500; Fourth, $2,200; Fifth, $4,000; Sixth, $3,000; Seventh, $3,000; Eighth, $2,500; Ninth, $2,100; Tenth, $2,500; total, $48,300."

Backed by Caraway Stand.

The bishop appeared at the hearing today primed for resistance. The committee chairman, Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] at Little Rock, Ark., last night, issued a statement denying the committee's jurisdiction. Cannon declined to answer no less than fifty direct questions put to him by Senator T. J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] and J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], the only members of the committee present, although warned that his defiance might become a penal offense.

In the absence of a quorum of the five committee members, Senators Walsh and Blaine were helpless to meet the issue raised by Cannon, but later in the day it was announced that Senator W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], will join his colleagues tomorrow, when notwithstanding the bishop's statement tonight, the questions will be re-stated. If the bishop persists in his refusal to answer he faces the possibility of a report to the senate of his alleged contumacy, with a recommendation that the record be certified to the district attorney for contempt proceedings.

CHICAGO COPS RANK FIRST IN DRY LAW WORK, SAYS DORAN

Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran was a visitor at the office of Administrator Yellowley yesterday. The dry chief asserted his mission had nothing to do with the proposed reorganization of the prohibition bureau after the transfer to the department of justice.

Commissioner Doran expressed satisfaction with enforcement conditions in Chicago, and declared his recent statement deploring the lack of cooperation from municipal authorities did not apply to the police here.

"We have had the best coöperation in Chicago of all the large cities," he said. "Philadelphia is second, and New York is the worst."

The commissioner said he was going to St. Paul and then to Rochester, Minn., to visit relatives.

90 MILES AN HOUR BY PENNSYLVANIA TRAINS FORECAST

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 4.—[Special.]—Passenger train speed of 90 miles an hour with a fourteen hour schedule from New York to Chicago is forecast by Pennsylvania railroad officials as a part of their plan for electrification of the road in the Pittsburgh district. Fast trains now spend twenty hours on the run. Pennsylvania officials also expect to move 50 per cent more freight than at present and three times as much as in 1900.

Passenger trains running at such high speeds will give keen competition to airplane service, it is predicted.

Auto Runs Into School Crowd; 12 Pupils Hurt

Twelve children were injured at noon yesterday when a motorist drove his car into a group of sixty pupils of the Avondale grammar school at Kedzie avenue and Wellington street. Schoolmates surrounded the car and prevented the driver, Bernard Robinson, 19 years old, 5079 Archer avenue, from fleeing. He was rescued from the pupils by the Shakespeare Avenue police.

All of the children had been dismissed early and were on their way to visit Roosevelt High school, Wilson and Kimball avenues. They were to take a north bound Kedzie avenue car to the high school. As the first group went into the street to hail a street car the children were struck by the automobile.

Screams Arouse Neighbors.

The screams of the children aroused the neighborhood. Robinson is said to have been snatching glances at a newspaper in his lap and did not see the children. Passing motorists removed the children to doctors' offices and hospitals. The list of injured, none of whom was seriously hurt, follows:

Dorothy Wicker, 14, of 2727 North Spaulding avenue.

Lucille Lupa, 14, of 2941 Gresham avenue.

Parents Obtain Warrants.

MRS. ROCKEFELLER M'CORMICK UNDER SURGEON'S KNIFE

Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick was reported resting comfortably at the Passavant hospital last night after a minor operation performed there earlier in the day. Her presence at the hospital was kept a secret from all but her most intimate friends.

The operation was performed by Dr. Lewis L. McArthur, staff surgeon at St. Luke's hospital. Although Dr. McArthur declined to reveal the details of Mrs. McCormick's illness, it was reported that she would not be a patient at the hospital for more than a week. She was said to have been under an anesthetic for almost an hour during the operation, but her condition afterward was reported favorable.

MORROW GIVEN PRESIDENTIAL BOOST AT RALLY

Trenton, N. J., June 4.—[Special.]—Two distinguished New Jersey Republicans mentioned Dwight W. Morrow as a presidential possibility tonight at a political rally in behalf of Mr. Morrow's campaign for the nomination for United States senator. They were former Gov. E. C. Stokes and Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton. They spoke at the Crescent temple while Ambassador Morrow sat on the platform and listened. When Mr. Morrow rose for his own address he failed to disavow the boomlet. He thanked the two speakers for their complimentary statements and said that they left him "speechless."

Rich Husband Gets 6 Months in Court Row

Thomas Condon, wealthy head of the Condon Industries, Inc., and the General Telephone Utilities company, was sentenced yesterday to serve six months in the county jail for a direct contempt of court by Superior Judge Sabath. The sentence was imposed after Condon tried to strike Attorney Benjamin B. Davis of the law firm of Socrates & Davis in open court after having called the lawyer a liar in a mixture of Anglo-Saxon expletives.

Condon appeared in court on the motion of his estranged wife, Mrs. Mary D. Condon of the Sherwin-on-the-Lake apartments. Through Attorney Davis she asked an injunction to restrain her husband from molesting her. The attorney explained that Condon had called at his wife's home last Sunday.

Attorney Charges Beating.

"Mrs. Condon told him that she would send their 3 year old son, Junior, to see him," Attorney Davis said. "He demanded to see her. When she refused to admit him because she was not dressed, he beat down the door. On gaining entrance he choked her, hit her in the stomach, and bruised her body.

"Mrs. Condon's maid summoned the manager of the apartments. Mr. Condon was removed. My client fears, because Mr. Condon is possessed of a violent temper, that he may again attempt to do her injury."

Lunges at Attorney.

Condon interrupted to shout that Attorney Davis was a liar. He lunged at the attorney, but was seized by his attorney, Milford Olds, and Bailiff Simon Lewis before he could land the blow.

"Such direct contempt is without parallel before me in my years on the bench," Judge Sabath declared. "An attack on an officer of the court is as serious as a similar attempt on the court itself. The language of the defendant is without reason. To maintain the dignity of the courts this court must be severe. The sentence is six months in the county jail."

Taken to Jail Immediately.

Condon was taken immediately to the jail, where he was quartered with the alimony club. The Condons were married Sept. 9, 1925, and separated Sept. 24, 1928. Mrs. Condon filed a suit for separate maintenance the following Nov. 8, charging cruelty and declaring that her husband refused to live with her. Shortly before the separation he had purchased a $50,000 home in Flossmoor.

Her bill stated that Condon is a millionaire. She averred that he had made his fortune rapidly and became obsessed with riches to the extent that he insulted his friends of less prosperous days. Mrs. Condon received a temporary alimony award of $600 a month.

AVIATOR CLIMBS ABOUT 8 MILES AFTER A RECORD

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—A new world's altitude seaplane record may have been set this afternoon by Lieut. Apollo Soucek, naval aviator. Piloting a little Wright Apache seaplane the flyer reached an indicated altitude of around 42,000 feet, more than 200 feet higher than the world's record of 41,794 feet held by Willi Neunhofen, German aviator.

Calibration of two barographs carried in the plane will be necessary before it can be determined whether Lieut. Soucek exceeded the German record by the 328 feet necessary under international rules before a new record is allowed.

Lieut. Soucek stole time from his honeymoon to have a try at the world's mark this afternoon. Taking off from the naval air station at 2:10, the naval ace was in the air 2 hours and 5 minutes. For twenty minutes the little plane was kept at the top of its climb while the aviator struggled to gain additional altitude necessary to crown his flight with success.

G.O.P. PETITIONS OUT FOR STATE VOTE IN REPEAL

County Republicans Take Initiative.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The first step to determine the attitude of the voters of Illinois on prohibition at the election next November was taken yesterday by the Republican organization of Cook county.

Chairman B. W. Snow of the county central committee announced that three petitions under the public policy act had been put in circulation throughout the city and the country towns. Each covers a separate question sought to be placed on the little ballot in the state election.

Three Questions Proposed.

The first is the question whether the eighteenth amendment shall be repealed. The second is the question whether congress shall modify the Volstead act by giving the individual states the power to determine for themselves what alcoholic content of beverages is intoxicating. The third is the question whether the state legislature shall repeal the Illinois prohibition law, sometimes called the search and seizure act.

In the statement containing his announcement Chairman Snow said that the county organization acted on its own responsibility. In answer to questions, he added that neither the state central committee nor the candidates in the state election, including Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, nominee for United States senator, had been consulted before the petitions were put out.

In Washington Mrs. McCormick used almost the same words as Chairman Snow in saying her wishes had not been consulted. She added that she did not wish to comment at this time.

Democrats in Deadlock.

It was learned that the county G. O. P. decision to act immediately was reached following the development of a deadlock among Democratic leaders due to the opposition of James Hamilton Lewis, nominee for senator, and his advisers to a prohibition referendum next fall. A. J. Cermak, county chairman, and others favored the Democrats taking the lead, but they were outvoted.

The Republican leaders in conference were told that not only Lewis, but also National Committeeman M. L. Igoe and State Chairman Thomas J. Donovan were so opposed to a referendum that there was no chance of the Democratic organization circulating a petition. Chairman Snow, County Treasurer Harding, and their associates then determined to go ahead. They previously had said they would support a Democratic petition if one were started.

Text of the Questions.

The full text of the three questions which the Republicans ask to be submitted to popular vote is as follows:

1. "Shall the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, which among other things prohibits the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes within the United States, be repealed?"

2. "Shall the congress of the United States modify the national prohibition act to enforce the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States (commonly known as the Volstead act) so that the same shall not prohibit the manufacture, sale, or transportation of beverages which are not in fact intoxicating, as determined in accordance with the laws of the respective states?"

3. "Shall the Illinois prohibition act be repealed?"

Chairman Snow's Statement.

"The Republican party of Cook county," said Snow's statement, "continue unalterably opposed to the statutes and to the administrative policies which have been invoked to enforce national prohibition under the eighteenth amendment.

"The evil consequences which have followed the drastic efforts to enforce a law which experience and common sense have shown to be unenforcable have grown to such proportions as to challenge the ability of organized government to enforce any law.

"Instead of a successful establishment of true temperance, the record of the last ten years bristles with a growth of vice, major crime, political and governmental corruption, and a lowering of the moral standard of the rising generation.

"Situation Worse Each Year."

"Each year has made the situation worse until a vast majority of the people have come to recognize that the methods adopted to enforce prohibition have brought a condition which threatens our whole political and social fabric.

"The eighteenth amendment and the drastic laws enacted to sustain it have failed in the purpose sought, and the time has come when the voters must be given an opportunity to determine a proper course of action.

"The eighteenth amendment is unenforcible. The question of its repeal as well as the repeal of the statutes back of it should be submitted to a referendum, and the result of that referendum should be put into legislative and administrative effect.

"The public policy act of Illinois provides a method by which public sentiment can find a crystallized expression of its desires. And there is no power which under our form of government can permanently override public opinion.

Appeals for Coöperation.

"To give public opinion a chance to express itself, the Republican organization of Cook county, acting solely on its own responsibility, and acting because of its belief that it represents a vast majority of public sentiment in this county, proposes to circulate petition under the public policy act for a referendum.

"A concrete expression of what we believe to be the overwhelming sentiment of this county will furnish a powerful urge to the rising tide of opposition to present prohibition methods.

"We have undertaken a big task in securing the 350,000 signatures to put each of these questions on the ballot and we sincerely ask the active coöperation of every element of our population opposed to a continuance of present intolerable methods of prohibition and prohibition enforcement."

Asked About Downstate.

Snow was asked whether he had talked with the state committee about the circulation of the petitions downstate. He replied that the state committee had no connection with circulating the petitions but that he heard rumors that some downstate county organizations might want to join in the campaign.

"What about the candidates, county and state?" he was asked.

"The only ones consulted were the county candidates," he replied.

"What about Mrs. McCormick?"

"We have not talked with her nor heard from her," was the reply.

On hearing that the petitions had been started, Democratic Chairman Cermak said he might have a statement to make today.

"For the present," he said, "all I want to say is that this is just a wolf in sheep's clothing, that they are merely circulating these petitions to keep somebody else from doing it, and that it is my opinion they will never be filed."

City Gets $1,500,000 Check; Police, Firemen Get Pay

With the arrival of a $1,500,000 check from the Commonwealth Edison company yesterday the city paid the policemen and firemen and will pay other rolls that come due up to June 15. City Controller Schmidt prepared to sell $4,400,000 worth of 1930 school board warrants to the citizens' committee to obtain funds to pay the school teachers and other school board employés either Friday or Monday.

Frederick Blow Divorced by Wife in Paris Courts

Frederick Blow, son of the late George Preston Blow of Chicago and a brother of Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, was divorced yesterday in Paris by Madeleine Gautier Blow, according to cable dispatches. Mrs. Blow charged desertion. They were married in Paris in 1927 and have lived there most of the time.

NO JURY TRIAL BILL IS PASSED BY LOWER HOUSE

Seeks to Speed Up Prohibition Cases.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—President Hoover's dry law enforcement program moved forward again today as the house by a vote of 218 to 117 passed the Wickersham bill intended to relieve court congestion by eliminating jury trials in minor prohibition cases.

Although its ranks were deserted by a score or more of prohibitionists who argued that the bill invaded constitutional rights, the house dry majority proved sufficient on the final votes to throw out a dozen amendments and pass the bill substantially as recommended by the President and the law enforcement commission.

If enacted, the bill will radically revise the federal court procedure in criminal cases extant for more than a century. It provides that defendants charged with "petty offenses" shall first be given a hearing before a United States commissioner whose recommendations shall go to the District judge for final disposal. The accused will be given a jury trial only if he demands it in a specified manner and time limit.

Supporting Bill Passed.

Yesterday the house adopted three bills supplemental to the juryless trial measure, one of them defining as "petty offenses" all crimes involving a jail sentence of less than six months or a fine of less than $500 and another amending the Jones act to make the manufacture, transportation or sale of less than one gallon of liquor a "petty offense."

By bringing a majority of the smaller dry law cases through the commissioner procedure the Wickersham commission hopes to relieve the judges of the handling of the thousands of these cases now crowding their dockets.

The only important amendment to the juryless trial bill accepted by the house was that of Representative C. G. Bachmann [Rep., W. Va.] allowing a defendant to waive the commissioner hearing if he chooses. Otherwise it was unchanged.

Action on the bill was preceded by such a storm of verbal opposition that its sponsors, all bone drys, for a time appeared in doubt as to its passage and warned their dry colleagues that their vote against them would brand them as wets. Representative E. C. Michener [Rep., Mich] made the statement that all those opposing the measure are "against the President and don't want the prohibition law enforced."

Chairman Opposes Bills.

Representative George S. Graham [Rep., Pa.], chairman of the judiciary committee, which reported the bill, sprang a surprise in the debate when, after handling the time for the sponsors, he took the floor against the bill.

"In my opinion, this bill does not give the accused a fair chance, which is his right under the constitution," Graham declared. "How in the name of justice can a man have a fair trial before a jury with the stone of conviction by a commissioner already around his neck?"

Others attacking the bill included Representatives F. H. Dominick [Dem., S. C.] and Gordon Browning [Dem., Tex.], both drys; Adolph J. Sabath [Dem., Ill.], F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.], and H. St. G. Tucker [Dem., Va.]. The principal speakers for it were Representatives Michener, C. A. Christopherson [Rep., S. D.], C. E. Moore [Rep., O.], and George R. Stobbs [Rep Mass.].

HUNT AUTOIST WHO HIT 3 POLICEMEN; TWO NEAR DEATH

Police searched throughout the city last night for a large gray sedan, the car of a hit and run driver who ran down and seriously injured three Lincoln park policemen at Sheridan road and Hawthorne place yesterday morning. The injured policemen are William Stoeser, 7207 Montrose avenue; Anthony Schneider, 2682 Orchard street, and Henry Attardo, 2420 Farragut street. The latter two may die, it was reported at the Columbus Memorial hospital.

The policemen were stationed at the intersection because the street is under repair and more congested than usual. A gray sedan bore down on them, crashed through a temporary barrier and bowled them aside.

Two deaths yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 373.

Peter Jacobchuck, 60 years old, a janitor at 8 East Delaware place, died of injuries received Sunday when he was struck by a hit and run motorist at Sheridan road and Bryn Mawr avenue.

Tony Netelinas, 6 years old, 1420 South 49th avenue, Cicero, died at the Frances Willard hospital of a fractured skull suffered yesterday when he was struck by an automobile in front of his home. His skull was fractured. Clarence Dunn, 12 North Le Claire avenue, driver of the automobile, was arrested on a charge of assault and released on $2,500 bonds. The Cicero police said he will be rearrested and charged with manslaughter.

Under tentative plans of Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court, four new Speeders' courts are to be established June 23 when the assignments are made for the coming term of court. Chief Justice Olson is to seek the approval of Commissioner Russell for new courts at the Town Hall, Fillmore, Shakespeare, and Grand Crossing police stations.

FORMER JEAN HIPPACH SUES FOR A DIVORCE

Mrs. Jean Hippach Unander-Scharin of 1500 Lake Shore drive, the daughter of Louis A. Hippach, glass manufacturer, yesterday sued for divorce from Hjalmar Unander-Scharin. She charges infidelity and asks for the custody of their three children.

The couple were married in 1920 at the Fourth Presbyterian church by the Rev. John Timothy Stone. She was a leader in Evanston and Chicago society and he was the son of Mrs. Fanny Marie Unander-Scharin of Stockholm and a nephew of Victor Unander, former Swedish envoy to Egypt. He was graduated from the University of Stockholm and was formerly a reserve officer in the Swedish army.

After their marriage the Unander-Scharins lived in New York until a year ago, when they moved to Chicago. Her parents reside at 2808 Sheridan place, Evanston.

PENNSYLVANIA'S DEMOCRATS FOR DRY LAW REPEAL

Vote for Submission of Amendment.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 4.—[Special.]—The Democratic party of Pennsylvania today definitely went on record as being wet. The state committee, which reorganized here, adopted a platform that recommends the immediate repeal of the Snyder-Armstrong state enforcement act, the repeal of the federal Volstead act, and the removal of the eighteenth amendment from the federal constitution.

The party favors the submission by congress of an amendment to conventions elected by the people of the states provided by the constitution.

The platform, drafted by the state candidates at a meeting last week, was approved unanimously by the platform committee, which went through the form of considering it for an hour. The state committee, after Charles A. Jones of Pittsburgh, chairman of the platform committee, had presented it, without a dissenting voice approved it, amid cheers.

Session Is Harmonious.

The meeting was unusual in its harmony. For years there have usually been contests for control of the committee and fights on the floor have been numerous, police being called in two years ago when an effort to eject Philadelphia and Allegheny county members was made.

Recess was taken for the consideration of the platform by a committee which the state committee authorized Chairman Collins to name.

While there was no debate of the wet plank in the committee by the members, C. Burgess Taylor, a Philadelphia lawyer, who introduced himself as a Democrat, was permitted to present a resolution of his own, which held that the prohibition question as "an issue in political campaigns, serves only to confuse social and economical issues upon the correct solution of which depends the future welfare and prosperity of this state and nation."

The resolution would have put the state committee on record as expressing the belief that it would be for the best interests of the state and nation and all parties "to declare in favor of recognizing the eighteenth amendment and laws enacted pursuant thereto."

The platform committee rejected the offering and reported out the original platform, prepared for it, with only minor changes.

SEEK COUNCIL O.K. ON STRAWN RELIEF PLANS

City council approval of the financial relief program of the citizens' rescue committee will be sought tomorrow at a special meeting of the finance and judiciary committees called to discuss the bills which have been presented at Springfield. Yesterday's meeting of the council was recessed until tomorrow afternoon to permit the council to adopt a resolution urging the legislature to pass the bills, if that action is decided upon at the morning committee session.

QUIZ WOMAN AS POLICE WAIT FOR NEXT GANG DEATH

Police Commissioner Russell and Chief of Detectives Stege were watchfully waiting yesterday for the next outbreak in the series of gang murders, the last of which was the killing on Tuesday night of Thomas Somnerio, which was believed to be in retaliation for the triple murder at Fox Lake last Sunday morning. Russell and Stege said they believed they had driven the various machine gun crews into inactivity by the raids made all over the city in which Stege took personal charge.

Miss Mabel Elsas, sought by the police as the key woman in the murder of Somnerio, surrendered at 11 o'clock last night at the detective bureau, but was able to give no information of a helpful nature. Stege had been hunting a girl named Mabel on information from Margaret Welch, whom Somnerio's widow had sought to blame for her husband's death. After that, John Norton had questioned her for more than an hour he said he would not hold her.

"I first met Somnerio in August 1928," Miss Elsas said. "Soon after I went to work at the Diamond grill, 48 West Harrison street. I quit because of illness three weeks ago. I had not seen Somnerio since Decoration day. I was not his sweetheart. I did not know Mrs. Somnerio."

As to Somnerio's whereabouts at the time of the Fox Lake shooting, which Stege was particularly anxious to question her about, she professed no knowledge whatsoever.

Seen as One of Series.

When the body of Somnerio, who had been an election terrorist in the 37th ward and an associate of "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn, was found in an alley back of 831 Harrison street Tuesday night, the police readily accepted the murder as an incident in the gang war that has been raging for some time and which was started through the murder of Joe Blue six weeks ago.

As they saw it, Sicilians of the Genna gang killed Blue and then the Genna gang, now captained by George Druggan, who was wounded in the Fox Lake machine gunning, retaliated by killing Philip Ignolfo, alias Abbate. The Genna gang then turned their guns loose on Druggan's party in the dinning hotel at Fox Lake, killing Michael Quirk, Joseph Bertsche, and Tom Pellar and wounding Druggan and Mrs. Vivian Ponic McGinnis, according to the detective theory, following which Somnerio was slain.

"That girl lured Somnerio to his death," said Mrs. Mary Somnerio, referring to Miss Welch, who figured in the various trials growing out of the murder of Octavius Granady in the 37th ward on election day two years ago. "She was madly in love with Tommy, but he had turned her down."

Girl Tells Story to Police.

Miss Welch called Chief Investigator Matt Roche of the state's attorney's office and asked if she was wanted as a witness. Roche told her to go to the detective bureau. Later she appeared at the office of the homicide squad wearing a toy pearl handled revolver on a chain around her neck and cocketishly insisting she was not a gun girl.

"After Tommy got out of jail last year and I was let go by the state's attorney, Tommy came to me and asked me if I would go and tell his wife he didn't mean anything to me," she said to Chief Stege.

At the state's attorney's office Chief Investigator Roche said he was investigating all the gang killing, but was concentrating on learning the fate of a number of north side hoodlums affiliated with the Bugs Moran gang who have vanished and are believed to be dead.

Stege's raiding squads were reported yesterday that the usual haunts of gangsters, particularly in the Sicilian sections, were deserted.

The two boys shown in the above picture, taken in Jefferson Park, Throop and Monroe streets, in the center of one of the most congested districts in the city, didn't bother about changing clothes when they took to the water, but they enjoyed themselves thoroughly, even though the mercury rose to 89 degrees. RUMOR OF STORK NEAR LINDBERGH HOME REVIVED

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—Rumors that the stork was hovering over the quarters of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh in the home of the latter's father, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, in Englewood, N. J., gained currency today with the report that a physician and a nurse had been summoned to the estate.

It has been an open secret for some time that America's most famous airman and his bride of a little more than a year were expecting an heir along about this time.

Inquiries at the Morrow home today brought forth word that Miss Elizabeth Morrow, older sister of Mrs. Lindbergh, was somewhat "indisposed" and that the nurse was taking care of her.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE FROM E. S. SHERIDAN

Mrs. Edna T. Sheridan of the Washington Pine hotel yesterday won a divorce from Edward S. Sheridan of the Atlantic hotel, broker, before Superior Judge Sabath. Mrs. Sheridan charged habitual drunkenness and was granted custody of their daughter, Ruth, 12 years old, and a settlement, the terms of which were not disclosed.

Two months ago Mrs. Sheridan charged that her husband sold his seat on the Board of Trade for $19,500 early in January and spent the money on horses and gay living in Cuba.

Mercury Reaches 89

Summer maintained its heavy batting average yesterday when it hung up a mark of 89 at 4:40 o'clock in the afternoon. However, it failed to equal the heat record established June 4, 1925, of 95 degrees.

Chicagoans stampeded to the beaches. Unofficial estimates were that 50,000 persons had taken to the water. In Lincoln park the chief sufferer was the big polar bear, who was granted an extra allotment of ice.

Weather Forecaster C. A. Donnel predicted showers and cooler for this afternoon, with cooler weather continuing under clear skies tomorrow.

New York Heat Kills 4; Day Is Hottest of Year

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—A broiling sun gave New York today the hottest day of the year, killing three men, prostrating four others and sending crowds by the thousands to the beaches to escape a heat wave that registered a maximum temperature of 90 degrees at 4 p. m. The warm weather death total increased to four when a youth was drowned while seeking the comfort of a swim in the Hudson river.

Boston Has Torrid Day.

Boston, Mass., June 4.—[Special.]—Midsummer heat which sent the mercury officially to 94 degrees today in Boston and seriously affected many persons, including 50 Everett school children, will continue to blaze forth tomorrow, according to the weather bureau's forecast tonight.

GORMAN LOSES FIRST PLEA IN DISBARMENT SUIT

The Supreme court yesterday ruled that John J. Gorman, former congressman and attorney, must defend himself in disbarment proceedings brought against him by the Chicago Bar association. The proceedings had their origin in the school board trial of William McAndrew, former superintendent, ousted in Mayor Thompson's war on King George.

Gorman was one of the mayor's chief aids in the introduction of testimony that McAndrew permitted pro-British texts in Chicago schools. He was sued for $100,000 by David S. Muzzey, professor of history, in a libel action. Gorman apologized and admitted some of his testimony was not true.

Gorman petitioned the court to dismiss the charges on the ground that his answer to the bar association had exonerated him.

ZEP RUNS INTO STORM; HEADS FOR PORTUGAL

May Be Forced to Cancel Stop at Seville.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, June 4.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, en route from Lakehurst, N. J., to its home port here, notified the Zeppelin works here at 7 p. m., Chicago daylight saving time, that she was not certain she would land at Seville, Spain, because of bad weather and was heading for Lisbon, Portugal. If the airship did land at Seville, it was added, the landing would not be made before 6 p. m. tomorrow, Spanish time [1 p. m. Chicago time].

When the Zeppelin sent the message she gave her position as latitude 38.30 and longtitude 18.30 west. That placed her about 450 miles east and slightly north of San Miguel, most eastward island of the Azores, and about 500 miles directly west of Lisbon.

Earlier the Zeppelin reported she was making 56 miles an hour. Apparently the big ship was bucking heavy winds, for her speed of 56 miles an hour represented a considerable fall from the speeds made earlier in the flight.

Heavy Storm in Seville.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

SEVILLE, June 4.—Southern Spain and the waters off its coasts today were deluged by heavy unseasonable rain. Seville is a running stream of water as the result of a cloudburst at 10 o'clock this evening, culminating a day of steady pouring rain which held up street cars and autos as water flowed down streets six inches deep. It has been the heaviest June rain in memory and is still continuing.

The Graf Zeppelin is believed to be driving through the same rainstorm, which extends in the direction of the Azores, which the Graf passed over early today. According to a report received in Seville the airship should arrive between 4 and 5 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Zeppelin refuses to communicate with the radio station here except for short messages referring to hotel reservations.

Visibility is extremely poor here, even on the ground, and it is feared that the Zeppelin will have trouble in finding the large International airport on the edge of the town.

4 MEN AND WOMAN PREPARE SCHOONER FOR WORLD TRIP

Four young men and the wife of one were working busily on a 46 foot schooner in the Belmont harbor yesterday, preparing for a three years' trip around the world. They will leave about June 10.

The crew of five is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Cook, 4026 North Kildare avenue, Buck Evans, all-American tackle some years ago, Paul Evans, his brother, and Don Dickson, 1115 Michigan avenue, Evanston. Their small ship, built especially for ocean travel, has been named the Swordfish.

The route of the boat will be via the great lakes and through the Welland and Erie canals into the Hudson river. From New York harbor, they will sail for the West Indies. Then to the Panama canal and west. There will be no definite schedule and they will seek adventure wherever it lies, the enthusiastic crew declared. Cook, the leader, said the expedition was inspired by John McCutcheon's poem and cartoon entitled "The Rhyme of the Restless Rover."

ICKES EXPLAINS OPPOSITION TO CAR FRANCHISE

Lists 13 Objections to Merger Ordinance.

BY HAROLD L. ICKES.

(One of the leading opponents of the transit franchise ordinance and president of the People's Traction league, who gives arguments against the ordinance in the subjoined article.)

If it was sound policy for the city to refuse to the late Charles T. Yerkes a street car ordinance for not to exceed fifty years it should be at least equally sound to decline to make over the streets to Samuel Insull in perpetuity.

For the proposed franchise is in effect a perpetual franchise. It does not matter what it may be called, the facts speak for themselves.

There may be a reservation of a legal right for the city to buy these properties at some future date, but a legal right that cannot be effectively exercised might just as well not exist. Cook county has had a right, solemnly granted to it by the state constitution, to a redistricting by the state legislature, but this right Cook county has been unable to enforce for the last thirty years.

What validity has the "right" to acquire the street car properties if that right cannot be exercised in fact?

Lists Thirteen Objections.

Aside from being a perpetual grant, the franchise is objectionable in other respects:

1. Probably the most serious defect in the ordinance is the absence of a clause providing for a forfeiture of the franchise, in proper circumstances, especially for nonuser or misuser. If there were such a clause it wouldn't so much matter whether the ordinance were perpetual or not. Would The Tribune company lease its property for 99 years, to say nothing of a possible 999 years, without a forfeiture clause in the lease? I can see no reason why the city should not be held to the same course of action that a prudent business man would hold himself to.

2. The ordinance lacks mutuality. Obligations bear most heavily on the city and the benefits accruing to the city are few and far between. I wonder whether Mr. Insull, if he were the city, would be willing to enter into such a contract with another party as he is trying now to exact from the city.

Excessive Valuation Charged.

3. The valuation fixed in the ordinance for both the surface lines and the elevated is excessive. This valuation includes every dollar of capital expenditure ever made for street car purposes in Chicago. I can see no reason why the deceased horses, the junked street cars and the rails that were thrown out as old iron years ago should be capitalized and this and future generations required to pay a return amounting to from 7 to 8 per cent upon that capitalization.

4. The return allowed to the city as compensation is inadequate. Three per cent of the gross profits will not yield to the city by many millions of dollars the amount it has been receiving during the last twenty years, during which it has had 55 per cent of the net returns. Nor is this 3 per cent of the gross a first charge against the profits. To quote on this subject Joseph J. Sullivan, special assistant corporation counsel for the city: "I am unprepared to express my opinion on the fiscal part of the ordinance—namely, as to whether there will be much, if anything, left to pay the city's 3 per cent of the gross receipts when the 3 per cent is junior to operating expenses, bonds, preferred stock, bond requirements, and everything but comon stock."

"No Means of Enforcement."

5. There is no means of enforcing the duty of the transit company with respect to betterments and extensions. These are the same interests that accepted an ordinance in 1907 binding them to build certain extensions and at the end of twenty-three years we find them in arrears over 200 miles.

6. There is no provision for amortization in the ordinance, a most serious omission. If there had been a proper amortization provision in the 1907 ordinance Chicago would be in a much better position today to negotiate a transit settlement.

7. The ordinance obligates the city to build a subway out of the transit fund. It was never proposed that this money should be used for a subway. But admitting that in building a subway the transit fund will be used to the best advantage it is surprising that the use of the subway should be granted to the transit company without any rental or compensation of any sort to the city.

Says City Gives Up Concessions.

8. Not only is a subway to be built and given rent free to the transit company, but it is to have all income from the renting of nontransportation concessions and all profits from advertising rights in connection with the subway.

9. The ordinance does not provide for the demolition of the downtown elevated. On the contrary, it contemplates an extension of the elevated system. Other cities are trying to get rid of their elevated systems.

10. It can not be doubted that the adoption of this ordinance will increase the cares of the car riders.

Criticizes Referendum "Haste."

11. The city council in adopting the ordinance called for a referendum thereon on July 1. This allows the people just forty days to scrutinize this ordinance, which contains more possibility for good or ill for all time to come for the city than any franchise that has ever been offered to them for their consideration. The transit companies, on the contrary, have been allowed 120 days after July 1 (assuming the vote on the franchise is favorable) to make up their minds whether to accept the ordinance. This attempt to jam the ordinance through while giving the transit companies all the time they want is nothing short of outrageous.

12. The ordinance does not provide for anything except fake home rule since the Chicago transit commission will undoubtedly be held to be unconstitutional.

Discusses Walter L. Fisher.

13. People are asked to go it blind with respect to this ordinance because the chief draftsman was Walter L. Fisher. I hold Mr. Fisher in high regard. I supported the ordinance drafted by Mr. Fisher in 1907. But we all must fairly admit now that Mr. Fisher made some grave mistakes in 1907. He could not foresee how his then ordinance would work out during the following twenty years nor has it worked out as he thought it would. Now we are asked to regard Mr. Fisher as endowed with omniscience and to accept an ordinance merely because he drafted it.

Raps Employment Argument.

In conclusion may I say that the worst piece of chicanery indulged in by the advocates of this ordinance is to hold out the hope to labor that its early adoption will mean a cessation of hard times, due to the flow of transit money into betterments and improvements.

Under the terms of the ordinance the transit companies have until Oct. 28 to decide whether they will accept the ordinance. They may even have a longer time with the consent of the city council. Thereafter the companies would have to reorganize; they would have to get permission to issue and sell new securities; they would have to let contracts, and it is fair to say that it will be May 1, 1931, at the earliest before a lick of work can be put in on the transit system.

U. S. Schwartz Gives Voters Measuring Stick for Car Bill

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Former Alderman U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the city council transportation committee when it prepared the 1925 ordinance, issued a statement yesterday urging support of the proposed indeterminate franchise that would consolidate the surface and elevated lines and provide 300 miles of transit service extensions. A referendum on the franchise ordinance will be held on July 1.

"A transit ordinance is always subject to superficial and half-baked criticism," said Mr. Schwartz. "Any solution can be brought about only by the reconciliation of many groups of divers interests, after years of negotiation; and unless the city is willing to hobble along for many more years with inadequate transportation facilities it should support this ordinance.

A Test for Ordinary Citizen.

"No citizen, unless he has a liberal background of experience and spends many days in examining and studying the details, can regard himself as qualified to express an expert opinion on the terms of the ordinance. He should be skeptical of the opinions of those who attempt to do so. All that a citizen can do is to ask the following questions:

"Does the ordinance accomplish what I consider to be the primary objectives of a solution of the transit problem?

"Has the detail of the ordinance been worked out with fair regard to the city's interests and by men expert in such matters who can be relied upon?"

Mr. Schwartz said the ordinance will get better and more transportation, and added: "There can be no doubt that the promised improvements will be supplied under the present ordinance. Ample money will be forthcoming under the proposed financing plan to pay for these improvements, because the security offered for this new money is unquestionably sound."

Statement from Opposition.

An opposition statement came from Charles V. Falkenberg, president of the Logan Square Business Men's association. It said:

"Before voting in favor of the transit ordinance, voters are requested to obtain answers to the following queries, which this association believes sufficient to warrant the defeat of the ordinance." Two of the questions asked are:

"Why does the ordinance provide rapid transit [four track] subways for the north and south side territory bordering the lake front, while according to the reports of the engineers to their various committees, it makes it impossible for all of the great west, northwest, and southwest sides ever to have rapid transit subways, except at a depth [50 to 60 feet], which makes their use impracticable?

"Why are the State street merchants, the bankers, and the newspapers all commending this ordinance? Is it not to benefit their own special interests at the expense of the city as a whole?"

A school for speakers in favor of the ordinance was conducted yesterday afternoon at the nonpartisan committee headquarters. Speeches were made by Walter L. Fisher, former Ald. Schwartz, and Maj. R. F. Kelker Jr.

Revolt Lulls; Troops Quit Scene of Riot.

BOMBAY, India, June 4.—(AP)—India's intermittent fever of discontent swung back today to its quiet phase following 24 hours of bitter clashes between police and followers of Mahatma Gandhi's program of passive resistance to British authority.

From the Punjab to Madras there was a paucity of either news or events. Only in Delhi was a suspicious incident reported, the burning of the National Bank of India and several shops with damage of about $550,000. The fire was in the Chandi Chowk, principal street, where some days ago serious rioting occurred. Its cause was not made known.

Troops Quit Riot Scene.

Troops today were withdrawn from the Worli salt raiders' internment camp where yesterday 88 persons were injured. The rioting occurred when Hindu women tried to bar troops from repairing the pen's barbed wire entanglements and prisoners escaped in a concerted rush. Heavily armed police remained in the vicinity.

Rangoon, too, was quiet. Both Hindu and Burmese laborers have resumed work where last week dock strike riots caused bitter and fatal encounters with the authorities.

Rawalpindi reported that Sardul Singh, president of the Punjab congress committee, has been arrested for sedition and taken to Lahore. He was one of V. J. Patel's appointees. His mission was investigation of the recent Peshawar disturbances, which the government tabooed.

PESHAWAR, June 4.—An armed force of 1,200 Afghan tribesmen has been located, marching on Fort Bara, seven miles southwest of Peshawar. Red and black banners are flying at the head of the column. A detachment of Gurkhas has been sent to reinforce the constabulary, who hold the fort.

Corporal Cummings of the Yorkshire light infantry, who accidentally killed two Sikh children while cleaning his rifle at Kabuli gate, Peshawar, thereby starting a riot, has been sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment by civil authorities under the Indian penal code for "causing the death of a person by doing a rash and negligent act."

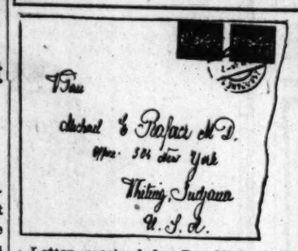
FROM ZAKOPANE, POLAND



Letter received by Dr. Michael E. Rafacz, Whiting, Ind.

"This part of Europe is much like Colorado of the United States," Dr. Rafacz writes. "It has a very historical past. At the present time Zakopane is a beautiful city and at the same time a popular winter and summer resort. It has a beauty unknown to Americans on account of the great difficulty in locating the country.

"At the foot of the Tatra mountains lies the hotel, which is built on the American style. The old points of interest in the Tatras are accessible with and without guides. The guides are genial, clever, and courageous and some of them speak English, which makes it more interesting for the tourists.

"The town folk have a medieval language, their own customs, their own dances, and their own art."

Zakopane is a town and resort of Galicia, situated in the district of Neumarkt, near the headwaters of the White Dunajec. It has iron works and paper mills and is quite popular for its mineral waters. It is also a center for tours to the north side of the High Tatra.

MOVE TO FORCE HOUSE VOTE ON MEXICAN QUOTA

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—A resolution urging the granting of a special rule for consideration of the Mexican quota bill was adopted today by the house committee on immigration. The resolution was directed to the attention of the house rules committee, which has thus far ignored previous requests for favorable action on the bill.

The bill was passed recently by the senate. Republican house leaders have shown a disposition to sidetrack the measure and not permit it to come to a vote.

Under its terms Mexico would be assigned a national origins quota on the same basis as European countries. The bill is strongly advocated by organized labor as a means of restricting Mexican immigration, but is opposed by the state department because of fears that it would interfere with friendly relations between this country and Mexico.

That the house will pass the bill if it gets an opportunity to act upon it is generally believed.

CONDUCTOR AND PASSENGER WIN BANDIT BATTLE

Al Dorgman of 7158 South Michigan avenue, a conductor on a State street surface car, was within a block of the end of his run at Division and Wells street last night when a Negro robber mounted the platform and aimed a pistol at him. Dorgman landed a right to the jaw and seized the gun, but the Negro fought back and bore the conductor to the floor. Edward Diesner, who said he had offices at 19 West Jackson boulevard, hit the Negro on the head with a valise. Dorgman then sat on the robber and held him until the Chicago avenue police arrived.

HUNGARY MOURNS TRIANON TREATY IN SILENT STRIKE

All Activity Is Halted on Tenth Anniversary.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, June 4.—Dismembered Hungary today observed the tenth anniversary of the signing of the Trianon treaty with national mourning.

All over the kingdom activities stopped at noon for five minutes as a silent protest against the treaty, which reduced the once proud Magyar nation to just another little central European country. Parliament seats formerly occupied by deputies of old Hungarian provinces now incorporated into Czecho-Slovakia, Roumania, and Jugo-Slavia were draped in black flags. The deputies themselves wore black shirts, ties, and arm bands.

Socialists Join Harangue.

Parliamentarians of all parties, even the Socialists, harangued the house, calling on Hungary to redeem herself and get back her lost territories and peoples.

"The Trianon treaty was forced upon Hungary and was dictated for peace and has no moral justice," roared Count Albert Appony, Hungary's "grand old man." "Hungary intends to fight to the end with all of her means to make this injustice right."

All theaters and cabarets were closed today as a sign of protest. No music was permitted over the government radio station, the whole program being devoted to speeches against the treaty. Newspapers contained inflammatory articles attacking the treaty.

Czechs Happy Over Treaty.

While Hungary was in mourning, Czecho-Slovakia, which got a good slice of Magyar territory, was joyfully celebrating the Trianon treaty anniversary. In several Slovakian villages demonstrations stirred up by Czecks were held in thanksgiving for their "liberation" from the Hungarians.

Girl Parachute Jumper Sure Sits Down Hard

Elizabeth, N. J., June 4.—(AP)—Miss Wilhelmina Vissers, a nurse, was recovering today after a spectacular parachute jump. She jumped at 2,000 feet and did not open the chute until she had dropped 1,000 feet because she could not find the rip cord. She landed hard, in a sitting posture, but escaped serious injury.

SHIFT RULE OF PIER RECREATION TO PARK BUREAU

A transfer of jurisdiction over recreation on Navy pier from the harbormaster to the city bureau of parks and playgrounds was made yesterday by the city council in approving an appropriation of $20,800 to the bureau for this summer's activities on the pier. The change was fought by Harbormaster Agnew, who has had control for the last three years.

The council also approved an appropriation of $20,000 to Health Commissioner Kegel for use in immunizing school children against diphtheria.

A request of Commissioner of Public Worke Wolfe for an appropriation of $5,000 to pay five engineers for their opinion that it was necessary last year for the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company to construct cofferdams in connection with the river straightening work was deferred.

CANNON TELLS HOW HE SPENT THAT $48,300

Defies Senate Wrath; Explains to Public.

defy senate investigating committees have not fared well in recent years. Harry F. Sinclair, who refused to answer questions relative to his financial affairs during the Teapot Dome investigation was cited for contempt and served a term in jail.

Samuel Insull of Chicago refused to answer questions in the Smith Illinois election inquiry, but decided to give all information sought when threatened with contempt proceedings.

Alternately red and white with anger as Walsh and Blaine hurled question after question at him, Cannon doggedly refused to shed any light on his political activities following the now famous Asheville, N. C., conference of anti-Smith leaders in July, 1928, or to reveal how he used the Jameson contribution.

Cannon vehemently denied any knowledge that, as suggested by Blaine, the $65,300 was part of a fund actually raised by C. Bascom Slemp, Republican national committeeman for Virginia, and routed through Jameson to dry organizations and leaders to promote an anti-Smith rebellion in southern Democratic ranks. Jameson, with a total gift of $172,000, was the largest single contributor to the Hoover campaign fund.

He read a long statement, quoting the statement issued by Senator Caraway in Little Rock last night to the effect that the committee was exceeding its authority in its line of questioning. Senator Walsh replied that the committee ha sinquired into the political activities of every witness or organization examined, and Blaine observed that Cannon is the first witness to refuse to testify.

"I am entirely satisfied that we were wholly justified in pursuing that line of inquiry," said Walsh, "and it would be perfectly indefensible in my view, bishop, on the part of the committee to decline to conduct the same inquiry in your case."

"Perhaps I should have stated so you," added Walsh, "seeing that you are not here with counsel, that the refusal of a witness to answer proper questions propounded to him by a congressional committee becomes a penal offense."

"I understand that perfectly," answered Cannon.

Holding up a copy of Cannon's speech, "Prohibition Repeal Unthinkable," of which hundreds of thousands were scattered over the country during the campaign, Blaine asked Cannon:

"Was it the design of the Asheville conference to engage in the sending out of literature of this type and other literature affecting the campaign?"

Declines to Answer.

"I decline to answer any question concerning these matters on the Asheville conference," replied Cannon.

"By what method did the Asheville conference design to carry out the campaign in 1928 with respect to presidential candidates?"

"I decline to answer."

Likewise Cannon refused to tell who presided at the conference, who was secretary, to name the delegates, tell whether funds were raised, in what banks he has deposits, or how many copies of his speech were sent out from the headquarters of his board in Washington. Blaine sought to convince Cannon that the questions were pertinent to trace his use of the $5,000 reported by Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist Church North board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals to Cannon's anti-Smith campaign.

"I hand you the original report, under the federal corrupt practices act, made by the headquarters committee, Anti-Smith Democrats, which you headed, and ask you to identify the $5,000 contribution by Dr. Wilson's board," said Blaine.

Bishop Still Defiant.

"I decline to make any statement concerning my political activities," replied the bishop.

"I suggest we are subpoenaing you for that purpose," said Blaine.

"Well, issue your subpoena," retorted Cannon.

"That would be silly, with the witness in the chair," said Blaine, proceeding to read the questions propounded by Senator Caraway to Jameson when the latter appeared before the committee several weeks ago and admitted that at the bishop's dictation he framed his report of the $65,300 contribution to show that $17,300 was given for the general anti-Smith campaign in the south and that $48,000 was given to the Virginia state anti-Smith organization.

Cannon refused to answer any of Blaine's questions until the Wisconsin senator reached Jameson's testimony that $7,300 of the $65,300 was actually a "gift" to help wipe out some of the bishop's personal debts. Cannon asserted that in spite of Jameson's testimony the $7,300 was used to pay for printing and mailing campaign literature.

Refuses to Show Records.

"We cannot ascertain whether they are personal or political activities unless we see that account," declared Blaine when Cannon declined to say whether records of how the $48,000 was used are in existence.

"Yes, sir," said Cannon. "Well, you won't see that account."

"You are determined to cover up that account, are you?" asked Blaine.

"No," shouted the bishop. "I stated to the press how it was used. It was used for organization purposes."

"Is there anything in that report that you are ashamed of?" asked Blaine.

"It goes directly to the point I raised at the beginning," said the bishop. "I am not going to come under the jurisdiction of this committee as to my personal political activities."

"Bishop," asked Blaine, "is there anything in that report that is incriminating?"

"No, sir," declared the bishop.

Slemp His Close Friend.

Cannon testified that he is intimately acquainted with both C. Bascom Slemp and former Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, the latter a business associate of Jameson, but he was unable to recall, even when Jameson's testimony was read, that Slemp had introduced him to the wealthy insurance man.

Blaine read a letter from Cannon to Jameson on Oct. 13, 1928, in part, as follows:

"I am also writing to tell you that Mr. Slemp has already paid three-quarters of the amount that he pledged the other morning, and he promises to have all of it in our hands by Monday, so that is cared for. It is very important that I get the balance on Friday, the 19th. I hope to be able to be in New York at that time, and would prefer to have all in cash."

"Do you now testify, Bishop Cannon," asked Blaine, "that Slemp did not collect money and turn it over to Jameson and that that was the money that you expected to get from Jameson?"

Bishop Doesn't Believe It.

"If such a thing was done I never heard of it and I do not believe a scintilla of it," asserted Cannon. "Mr. Jameson is an honorable man and he said he gave his own money."

Cannon also admitted that the $5,000 contributed by Dr. Wilson's board was given to him in cash.

"What did you do with it?" asked Blaine.

"Put it in my pocket," answered Cannon.

"And did it stay there?" asked Blaine.

"No," said Cannon, "I put it in a safe deposit box."

"Where was the box located?" asked Blaine.

"I decline to answer," replied Cannon.

Senator Caraway's denial last night of the right of his own committee, acting under a resolution he himself drew, to investigate Cannon's political activities surprised the capital. It was recalled that Caraway took the initiative in laying the ground work for Cannon's appearance.

Capital gossip credited Caraway's sudden change of heart to the influence of Dr. A. C. Miller, Methodist preacher, editor and political power in Little Rock, who is not only a member of Cannon's board of temperance and social service but was also the bishop's chief defender when Cannon was tried before the recent general conference of the church at Dallas, Tex.

DANIELS PROTESTS CANNON STATEMENT AT LOBBY INQUIRY

Raleigh, N. C., June 4.—(AP)—Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, made public today a letter which he addressed to United States Senator Thomas J. Walsh protesting a statement of Bishop James Cannon Jr.

"The papers state that in his testimony before your committee yesterday," the letter said, "Bishop Cannon read a report from the temperance committee of the general conference of the Methodist church at Dallas which he explained 'was submitted by its chairman, Josephus Daniels.'

"Nobody knows better than Bishop Cannon that . . . I opposed endorsement of that portion of the report approving his actions.

"He also knows that, along with about one-third of the members of the conference, I went on record against his appointment on the temperance board, on the ground that his engaging in bucket shop gambling would be a severe blow to the cause of prohibition. It is also known that I and others filed charges against Bishop Cannon on bucket shop transactions and that the committee on episcopacy ordered a trial and that the trial was stayed only when he admitted his wrong, declared his repentance, promised never to do so again and asked for pardon."

CANADA POURS LIQUOR INTO U. S. AHEAD OF BAN

Detroit Border Exports Doubled in May.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., June 4.—Although Canada has just imposed her ban upon liquor exports to the United States, many Americans along the Detroit border will not be inconvenienced for a while at least, according to revelation of a bumper May booze traffic along the Detroit river front in Canadian customs returns.

Canadian liquor export houses took advantage of their knowledge of the impending booze export prohibition, and returns show that the ports of Amherstburg, Wallaceburg and Windsor practically doubled their booze exports in May over those of April.

Hard Liquor Flows Too.

Amherstburg shipped to thirsty Americans 28,609 gallons of beer in April. In May this port shipped to the United States 49,674 gallons. The hard liquor comparison for the same port for the two months is 23,675 gallons for May as compared with 11,826 gallons for April.

Wallaceburg shipped 11,052 gallons of beer in May, compared to 6,346 gallons in April, while Windsor exported 2,351 gallons of beer in May against 1,258 gallons in April, as well as 54,-[illegible] gallons of hard liquor in May to [illegible],439 gallons in April.

Detroit Border Most Active.

All the "hurry up and get it across" activities seem to have taken place at the three Detroit river ports, for Goderich, Bridgeburg, Hamilton, Kingston, Niagara Falls and Sarnia figures show only moderate variations as between May and April liquor exports. In some instances there is even a decline for May.

The doubling of liquor exports holds good, however, in the case of wine shipped from all Canadian great lakes ports to America in the last month of legal export, the comparative figures being: May, 16,151 gallons; April, 8,000 gallons.

Canada Makes First Seizures.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 4.—(AP)—Ontario provincial police today reported the first seizures of liquor under the new Canadian law, which prohibits export into the United States. The rum G. W.-4 was seized on Lake St. Clair at Stony Point, Inspector Sidney Oliver reported. He said 1,500 cases of beer were found. A speedboat also was seized at Stony Point and three men were arrested.

An Ontario highway traffic officer at Essex, 16 miles east of here, found 12 bags containing whisky in a field in which an airplane was landing. The plane took off again and several men in another part of the field ran to an automobile, in which they sped away.

WOMEN BRAVE FLAMES TO HELP MEN IN FOREST

DYMENT, Ont., June 4.—(AP)—Undaunted by the crackle and roar of forest fires raging less than a mile away, more than a score of women and children returned to their smoke-filled homes in Dyment today to establish food lines for their men folk fighting to block the path of the licking flames.

The women and children were rushed out of the danger zone Monday on a special train to Ignace, and all but eight of them have returned with Red Cross workers and food supplies.

A dozen families in the section have been made homeless by flames. Reports today said that fires, still unchecked after sixty hours, have driven out twenty families and destroyed their homes at Larson and Pass Lake, 25 miles east of Port Arthur. In a new 60 mile front west of Lakehead, near Larson and Upsala, flames were being fought. Big fires are raging also at Mack, Cedar Lake and Dog Lake.

Teacher to the Wright Brothers Retires at 75

Cedar Rapids, Ia., June 4.—[Special.]—Miss Emma J. Fordyce, who taught the Wright brothers, inventors of the airplane, their A B C's, was retired on a pension by the board of education today after 56 years as a school teacher. She is 75 years old.

PERSHING FIGHTS RIGHT OF VETS TO BUILD MONUMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 4.—A new battle of Verdun—this time a battle of words and telegrams—has been raging since the dedication Sunday of the monument to the boys of the 316th infantry who fell fighting around the famous "Hill 378," near Verdun.

On one side is the Pershing battle monuments commission. On the other side is a little group of veterans of the regiment who came to France on the invitation of their poilu comrades to visit the old battlegrounds. Somewhere in the middle is President Hoover.

How Row Started.

According to members of the regiment, the veterans several years ago raised a subscription to erect a monument to their dead comrades, but were informed that the battle monuments commission was the only body which could erect the monument.

The regiment took this rebuff with good grace and turned over the money raised to the Hospice de Verdun, a charitable institution. The hospice, which owns most of the former battlefields where this regiment fought, then decided to erect a monument on its own land in honor of its American friends. The poilus of the Seventeenth French corps, to which the American regiment was attached, invited the Americans to attend the dedication. The pilgrimage was organized and led by Maj. James B. Anderson of Philadelphia.

When the battle monuments commission learned of this move, the veterans said, it threatened to bring pressure on the French to tear down the monument.

Pershing Scorns Invitation.

Gen. Pershing and Ambassador Edge were both invited to the dedication Sunday, but neither showed up, and the American army and the American government were not represented. Gen. Pershing, it is understood, sent what the veterans describe as "a very nasty note" refusing the invitation. Ambassador Edge later apologized, saying he was occupied elsewhere.

The veterans are particularly worried over Gen. Pershing's threat to make the French remove the monument. They have hired a lawyer and have wired protests to several congressmen and President Hoover.

According to the lawyer, President Hoover has wired assurance that the monument will not be touched. He is said to have pointed out that the battle monuments commission has no authority, under the act of congress, to forbid regiments to erect monuments, and to have criticized the "dictatorial methods" of the monuments commission.

FIRE CAPTAIN BREAKS ANKLE.

Capt. Matthew Murphy, driver for Fire Commissioner Albert W. Goodrich, fractured an ankle yesterday while responding to an alarm. He was on the second floor of Engine Co. No. 12 station at 1641 West Lake street. His foot caught as he ran for the brass pole to slide down and he fell 16 feet.

SECRECY VEILS PLANS TO SEND NIEMOTH EAST

Willie Niemoth, gangster, sat in a county jail cell last night while Chief of Detectives Stege completed preparations to start him toward Baltimore as soon as representatives of the Baltimore authorities arrive to take him in custody. Niemoth has been wanted in Baltimore for three years on a pay roll robbery charge.

Just when these representatives were due in Chicago and the hour and train planned for their return east was kept secret at police headquarters here. Somebody managed to pass a revolver to Niemoth in his cell on Tuesday despite the vigilance of police and Chief Stege resolved to take no chances with his prisoner.

When all is ready for the trip a police guard will act as an escort to the train. At least two Chicago detectives will go to Baltimore with the prisoner to make sure that Niemoth is not rescued by his friends.

The police have not learned who passed the loaded revolver into Niemoth's cell. But on a chance of clearing up the mystery, Stege last night ordered a search for Stanley Nowicki, a Joe Saltis lieutenant, and pal of Niemoth.

Niemoth lost all hope of evading the Baltimore charge when the Illinois Supreme court on Tuesday refused to interfere in the extradition proceedings.

"Drunkenness Is a Disease and I Can Cure It"
—Leslie E. Keeley, M. D., LL. D.

THE EDITOR of a powerful Chicago Newspaper before his death, challenged this statement of Dr. Keeley that "Drunkenness is a disease and I can cure it." He defied Dr. Keeley to cure the men whom he would send to the Institute. The results were so convincing that, through his great newspaper, he was personally responsible for thousands of men and women taking The Keeley Treatment for Liquor.

Moon Light Fragrance of Living Flowers

Moon Light Fragrance is a new perfume in solid form. A few grains burned in the "Moon Light" perfume lamp yield their fragrance as naturally as living flowers.

The "Moon Light" is an artistically designed base, fashioned of imported Pedrara onyx, polished to satiny smoothness.

Light from a small electric globe inside the "Moon Light" glows through the veining with a soft light. By the gentle warmth of this light, the tiny perfumed grains (which you pour into the lamp) are heated and their fragrance is spread through your rooms. Their perfume, clinging to your draperies, leaves a delicate and very likeable fragrance for hours.

WOMEN ACCUSE DENEEN WORKER AT MURDER TRIAL

Say They Saw Slaughter Shot Down.

John Pampinella, Deneen political worker in the 42d ward, was identified by two witnesses yesterday in Judge John P. McGoorty's criminal court as the slayer of the Rev. William H. Slaughter, colored Thompson political worker. The murder occurred on registration day, March 11, near a polling place.

The two witnesses, colored women, have been under police guard since they made their statements soon after the killing. They said they feared reprisals because of their identification if they stayed in the 42d ward. They have been sheltered at the expense of the county in the home of a colored policeman.

Witness Tells Story.

Mrs. Ella Officer was the first witness to directly accuse Pampinella of the killing. She said she was with Mrs. Macey Hadley in the latter's home at 1116 Larrabee street when she saw Pampinella shoot down Slaughter.

"I saw a short man running down the alley followed by a big white man," she said. "The big man shot the short man."

She picked out Pampinella from a crowd of men and later identified the short man as Slaughter.

No Chance for Mistake.

Mrs. Hadley was also certain in her testimony that the killer was Pampinella. She said she has known the defendant for several years and could not be mistaken.

"I saw the men in the alley and then I saw the tall man pull out a gun and shoot the small man in the back of the head," she testified under the questioning of Assistant State's Attorneys Charles Lounsbury and Euclid Taylor.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Casimir Borginski, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Otto Kerner.

Joe Levin and Nathan Cohen, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in Pontiac reformatory; Robert Bonniwell, forgery, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Philip Finnegan.

COURT DISMISSES JEANNE EAGELS "LIBERTY" SUIT

New York, June 4. — [Special.] — Justice Louis A. Valente of the Supreme court today dismissed "with regret" a proceeding brought against the weekly magazine "Liberty" to enjoin the advertised publication of a series of articles on the life of Jeanne Eagles. The injunction was asked by Mrs. Julia Eagles, mother, and Helen Eagles, sister of the dead actress, who complained that the defendants intended to publish matter which would defame the memory of their kin and bring the family into disrepute.

Justice Alente said that, while the mother and sister might proceed under the criminal law, they could not maintain an action in equity.

BRITAIN REBUKES PAPAL SHARE IN MALTA AFFAIRS

Snubs Holy See's Demand for Premier's Removal.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 4.—The British government's recent dispute with the Vatican concerning events in Malta has evoked a strongly worded rebuke from London to the Holy See, characterizing the latter's demand for the removal of Lord Strickland, Maltese premier, from his office, as "nothing less than a claim to interfere in the domestic politics of a British colony."

This was revealed in official correspondence published tonight in the form of a blue book, which shows that the Maltese clergy were ordered by their archbishop to refuse the sacrament and absolution to all persons voting for or supporting Lord Strickland.

Regrets Vatican's Attitude.

In the final note handed to the cardinal secretary of state on May 30, the British government "welcomes the assurance that the Vatican is disposed always and everywhere to do all in its power so that public peace and tranquility may be maintained and restored. This being so, the government regrets that the Holy See has not appreciated the necessity of taking practical measures to supplement this assurance."

"Instead of this," the note continues, "the Holy See has now refused to take as far as concerns it, the steps necessary for the restoration of normal political life in Malta."

Forbids Thanksgiving Rite.

Meanwhile news reaching London tonight indicates that the tension between the British government and the Vatican reached a further stage today by the refusal of Archbishop Caruana to permit a special Te Deum to be sung in the Cathedral of St. John in thanksgiving for the escape of Lord Strickland in the recent attempt to assassinate him.

BUILDER TELLS WEIRD STORY OF HIS KIDNAPING

Miller Returns to Naperville.

Lawrence J. Miller, the Naperville contractor who has been missing for two weeks, came home yesterday with a half grown beard and a limp in his right leg to tell a harrowing story of his experience with a band of gangsters.

For an hour and a half he was closeted with State's Attorney C. W. Reed of Du Page county. There were several points that were not quite clear to his questioners.

Calls Wife for Money.

Miller disappeared on May 21. He was first heard from Tuesday, when he called his wife from Murphysboro, Ill., said he had been kidnaped and tortured, and asked for money. This was Miller's story:

"On May 21 I met six men who wanted me to help them sell burglar alarm systems to banks. But I tumbled to that. They probably wanted to put in fake alarms and then loot the banks. They gave me a drink and the next thing I knew I was in an automobile. I woke up in a secluded spot where there were about 30 or 40 gangsters having a sort of reunion. They were all drunk.

"Battles with Jack Handle."

"Later I was blindfolded and put in a basement. These birds told me to go through with the burglar alarm scheme or they'd kill me. But I told 'em I'd die before I'd do that, so they put me in a round, coffin-like contrivance and started to torture me. I passed out.

"When I woke up I was somewhere near Murphysboro. Most of the hoodlums went to town. When they came back I grabbed a jack handle, hit one of them over the head, and got away. I wanted to get hold of a machine gun they had. If I had got that I sure would have mowed 'em down."

Modern Method Lift Them Out
CORNS
Callouses Go, Too

The safest and real modern way to remove corns, root and all—out to stay is soak them every night for 3 or 4 nights in an invigorating, stimulating Radox Footbath.

Then put on modish shoes again, walk and dance with greatest comfort because there's nothing left to ache. No pain, no trouble.

Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layer of corn, each night penetrating further and further thru the pores, carrying the salts to actual root of corn, so loosening it that it comes right out. Nothing like healthy, free from corn feet to assure happy days! Get a package of Radox at any drugstore.

BEAUTY WINNER GETS DIVORCE IN BIGAMY TANGLE

Plans to Rewed Second Husband.

Mrs. Myrtle Marston Rhyne, 22 years old, 6105 Drexel avenue, yesterday won a divorce before Superior Judge Sabath to escape a possible charge of bigamy and so that she might remarry her second husband. She appeared before the judge with Attorney Barratt O'Hara to seek a solution to her marital tangle.

"I was born in Texas," she began. "In 1927 I won the title of Miss Texas in the state beauty contest. Through the contest I met Clinton Rhyne, who said he was the son of a prominent and wealthy Florida family. We were married at his home in Lake Worth on Aug. 6, 1927.

Disappears at Wedding.

"During the wedding reception he disappeared. I waited at his home four days. Then I received a letter saying he had decided I was not suited to his temperament. Six months later I came to Chicago.

"Here I met a Mr. Lee. I told him I could not marry him because I was already married. Later he brought what he said was a divorce decree. Still I refused him.

Marries Second Husband.

"Then I met Bertram Bacon. We were married last February. When Lee heard of it he tore up the decree and said it was false. I remembered that it carried the names of Judge Sabath and Attorney O'Hara.

"I called on Attorney O'Hara. He knew nothing of the alleged divorce. So now I am a bigamist, and I love my husband."

Judge Sabath granted the divorce from Rhyne. Mrs. Rhyne announced that she will remarry Bacon immediately.

Paris "Picks Up" Voice of Ruth Hanna McCormick

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 5.—[Thursday.]—Radio fans here were surprised last night to hear the voice of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick coming over the air. The address of the Republican senatorial nominee in Illinois was broadcast by the National Broadcasting company from Washington and was picked up by a British station and relayed.

Mother Made Homeless by Her 5 Daughters; Court Intervenes

A 70 year old woman, crippled with rheumatism, hobbled slowly down North Mason avenue yesterday on her crutches. Before the home of Mrs. Angie Soderberg, 5636 North Mason avenue, she paused to rest a while. She wept a little.

To Mrs. Soderberg, who offered aid, she said her name was Mrs. Anna Sowka. She didn't know where she was going. Her five married daughters, she said, had closed their homes to her and she had no place to go.

Later Mrs. Sowka told her story before Judge George Curran in Shakespeare avenue court and Sergt. Harry Paul was sent to call the daughters to court. They are Agnes Torson, 32 years old, 1712 Mango street; Mrs. Anna Schultz, 40, the same address; Mrs. Helen Marshall, 33, of 5527 North avenue; Mrs. Stella Epstrom, 35, of the same address and Mrs. Frances Dzewercki, 50, of 3013 Christiana avenue. He also called two sons, John Sowka, 38, of 1345 Devon avenue, and Joseph Sowka, 49, of 6224 Bradley place.

"Martin, my husband, is not able to work, and for the last three years I have been too feeble to care for myself," Mrs. Sowka told Judge Curran. "I have lived with my daughters—a little while here and a little while there—they shifted me around, told me I was in the way and wasn't wanted. My son John paid me $8 a week and with that I paid my board, but John has been out of work lately and hasn't been able to help me."

The daughters told Judge Curran that they couldn't afford to keep her and hadn't time to care for her.

The judge rose from his seat and said: "Get some red blood in your veins. Forget the almighty dollar!" He then ordered one of the daughters to care for her mother until the next hearing on June 11.

COMPROMISE ON LAKE DIVERSION ENDS IN FAILURE

Issue Will Be Brought Out on Senate Floor.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—Efforts to compromise the differences between Illinois and the lake states over the amount of diversion from Lake Michigan for the lakes to the gulf water way ended in failure today. The prospect now is that the issue will be fought out on the floor of the senate next week when the rivers and harbors bill is considered.

The negotiations were broken off by Senator John J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], representing the lake states. Senator Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.], representing the waterway interests, asked Senator Blaine if he was ready to proceed with the negotiations and the latter replied that it was useless to continue the discussion because the lake states were unprepared to recede from their position.

Favor War Department Plan.

The lake states—Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, and New York—which won the suit limiting lake diversion at Chicago to 1,500 cubic feet of water per second beginning with 1938 are maneuvering for a provision in the rivers and harbors bill favorable to their contention that 1,000 or at the most 1,500 second feet is sufficient for operation of the lakes to the gulf waterway.

Blaine to Ask U. S. Aid.

Promoters of the waterway want a provision which assures such volume of flow for the channel as the war department engineers eventually may report requisite. The engineers have heretofore estimated this volume as not exceeding 5,000 second feet.

Blaine will propose in the senate a provision authorizing federal completion of the Illinois waterway at a cost of $7,500,000 conditioned upon "the smallest flow of water" for a "commercially useful waterway." The Blaine amendment then authorizes for navigation use of the 1,500 second feet allowed by the Supreme court and directs the secretary of war to report the minimum volume, "that can be diverted without injuriously affecting the existing riparian, navigation, and property interests on the great lakes."

Deneen Lists Objections.

Senator Deneen said tonight that "among the objections to the proposed amendments by Senator Blaine" are the following:

"First, that it seeks to enact into a law relating to navigation on the Illinois waterway from Utica to Lockport a decree of the Supreme court relating to sanitation which affects the port of Chicago, which is 5¼ miles in length.

"Second, the chief of engineers, who under the law will have the responsibility of creating 'a commercially useful waterway,' etc., objects to the limitation of a maximum of 1,500 cubic feet of water per second after Dec. 31, 1938.

"Third, the provision in the amendment which relates to 'existing riparian navigation and property interests.' The lakes have been lowered less than six inches by the diversion to the Illinois waterway; about six inches by the enlarging of the outlets of the St. Clair river, and about six inches by the enlarging of the outlets of the Detroit river. Provision is made in the rivers and harbors bill for appropriations for compensatory works to restore the level of the lakes and an appropriation of $29,266,000 is provided therefor. This also provides for the deepening of the channels for vessels of 24 feet draft."

Called a "Dry Snooper," Woman Files $2,000 Suit

Muncie, Ind., June 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Clara E. Hutson of Muncie wants $2,000 damages as proof she is not a "dry snooper."

Alleging that Dewey Kennedy, workman, circulated reports that she caused police to raid the home of a neighbor, where home brew was found, Mrs. Hutson has filed suit against Kennedy charging slander.

The complaint sets out that she is being "laughed at, scorned, talked about, ridiculed, and abused as a dry snooper."

NEW YORK CANAL BOOSTED AS AID TO ALL SECTIONS

Albany, N. Y., June 4.—[Special.]—Immediate construction of an all-American deep water canal to link the great lakes and the Atlantic seaboard was urged on President Hoover and congress in a resolution adopted here today by 400 delegates representing nine states at the third annual convention of the Great Lakes-Hudson Waterways association.

The project to develop the route by way of the Hudson and Mohawk valleys rather than the St. Lawrence river was unanimously supported after the mayors of Albany and Troy and representatives of the city council of Chicago had addressed the group.

The tenor of most of the addresses was that American funds would be spent to develop Canadian resources and cripple the United States in the event of war with Great Britain if the St. Lawrence waterway were developed on a coöperative basis with Canada. The need of a deep water channel for the middle west and upstate shipping was stressed.

William D. Saltiel, assistant corporation counsel of Chicago, said that Mayor William Hale Thompson favors the route from the great lakes to the Atlantic by way of the Hudson river, although his stand is disapproved by powerful interests in the middle west.

Cites Chance of Dispute.

"American money," he said, "should be spent in the development of American projects by American labor. The Canadian government has never been overfriendly toward us in matters involving our nation, and if we were to join Canada in developing the St. Lawrence route it would be a matter of constant dispute.

Mr. Saltiel spoke at length of Chicago's efforts to develop the route to New Orleans.

EX-WIFE CLAIMS KOPELMAN CASE IS SPITE STORY

Myrtle Thoren Testifies at Kidnaping Trial.

Mrs. Myrtle Thoren, 451 Wrightwood avenue, divorced wife of Theodore Kopelman, insurance broker, who charges he was kidnaped for ransom by three men on trial in Judge Miller's Criminal court, took the witness stand for the defense yesterday. Attorneys Samuel Hoffman and Charles Dougherty, for the defense, placed Mrs. Thoren on the stand in an effort to show that Kopelman is trying to "get even" with his former wife and the defendants, at least one of whom is friendly with her, and that he himself framed the kidnaping in order to get money from his sister.

Mrs. Thoren, who was dressed in brown from her feet to her head, told of efforts of her former husband to effect a reconciliation. He has tried even since the trial started, she said, and agreed to drop the case if she would break with the defendant, Norman Resnick. Seymour Peller and Sam Gold are the other defendants.

Offered Bracelet, Claim.

Mrs. Thoren said that she lived with her husband until January, 1928, at which time she learned he was unfaithful. He offered her a diamond bracelet to forget, she said, but she refused.

Seymour Peller, 4248 West 14th street, was the first of the defendants to testify. He said he is a plumber, not a bootlegger or racketeer. He said that Kopelman, who he referred to constantly as "Ted," had framed the kidnaping.

"Ted called me on the telephone and said, 'Peller, I want you to do me a favor. I need money bad,'" testified Peller. He then told the story of the alleged frameup by Kopelman. He said Kopelman was not blindfolded nor made to do anything against his will.

Says Kopelman Sought Money.

"Kopelman told me that his sister was playing around with Nickey Arnstein, and that she was sending money to him," continued Peller. "He said he didn't see why he, her brother, shouldn't get some of it."

John Copeland and his wife, who live at 542 Surf street, where Kopelman formerly lived, were the last state witnesses. They said that an effort was made to kidnap Copeland, apparently because of a similarity of names. They identified Gold.

COOK COUNTY IN THE SPECIAL SESSION.

Fortunately for Chicago, the issues now before the special session of the legislature at Springfield are so simple that it has been impossible to conceal or confuse them.

The governor called the special session for two principal purposes: The local governments of Chicago were in need of financial relief. That was the emergency. Mr. Emmerson wanted an amendment to the state constitution which would permit the legislature to impose new kinds of taxes, among them an income tax. Advantage was taken of the emergency needs and an issue not imperative was included in the call.

The governor wants the amendment approved before the financial relief is voted. It has passed the senate. Chicago wants financial relief but opposes changing the basis of taxation in the state until the legislature has reapportioned its membership. If Cook county house members treat their constituents as Cook county senators did the people of the county will have continued disfranchisement and increased taxation as the price of the relief they get from the special session in their emergency financial distress.

Cook county is going to pay close to 90 per cent of any income tax levied in the state. The proof is the federal income tax collections. Cook county, with half the state's population, elects only 37 per cent of each house of the legislature. The record of the downstate majority leaves no room to doubt that the legislature will take advantage of an income tax to add to the burden borne by the salary and wage earners of the cities and relieve the rural taxpayers. Downstate taxes will be lightened and Chicago's taxes will be increased. Metropolitan Chicago will pay a greatly disproportionate share of the costs of state government; the costs of state government will rise; and means will be found of saddling more of the costs of local government downstate upon the metropolitan taxpayers.

There is nothing imaginary, fanciful, or alarmist about this forecast. Cook county for years has paid close to 40 per cent of the taxes for road building in Illinois, but Cook county today has 5 per cent of the roads built with the money, though no part of the state is in as great need of new highways. Of the $9,250,000 in inheritance taxes collected by the state in 1928, the metropolitan area contributed more than 81 per cent. Chicago pays at least 75 per cent, and probably much more, of the corporation taxes, which in 1928 amounted to more than $13,000,000.

The will to make Chicago support the state government has been too apparent to permit a doubt.

Chicago's contribution in general property taxes is only 54 per cent of the total contributed throughout the state under this head only because the legislature is unable to get more property taxes out of Chicago without at the same time placing a corresponding burden upon downstate communities. In consequence the state treasury from year to year has depended less and less upon its receipts from property taxes and draws increasingly on the special forms of taxation designed to raid the Chicago pocketbook. Property taxes now account for less than 40 per cent of the state's budget.

The general property taxes, and especially the personal property taxes, have few defenders, and there is, of course, much to be said against these levies. Still they have served, despite the failure of the legislature to reapportion its membership, as a means of maintaining a semblance at least of a balance between the city and the rest of the state in their contributions to the general government. In 1910, when Cook county's population was 42 per cent of the state's total, the county paid 40 per cent of the state's income from general property taxation; and in 1920, when the county's proportion of the population of the state had risen to 46 per cent, its share of the property taxes had risen to 42 per cent. Since then Cook county's share of the property taxes has probably gone ahead of its share of the population, but the discrepancy is not great.

The moment a majority of the legislature may vote an income tax Chicago will begin to pay virtually all the costs of state government. At the same time new objects of state expenditure will be found. The invitation to spend other people's money presents a temptation which few men, not to say legislative bodies, have been able to resist. The mere fact that the bulk of the downstate members of the legislature have deliberately committed perjury for twenty years to retain their control at Springfield is an evidence of what must be expected of them if they are given a free hand to tax Chicago without at the same time taxing their own constituents proportionately.

Only a fool intrusts his pocketbook to a stranger. What is to be said of the man who intrusts his pocketbook to men who, he well knows, cannot be believed under oath and in their past dealings with him have known no scruples?

The tactics of the downstate leaders of the present legislature are intended to force Chicago to accept the tax amendment as the price of financial relief for the local governments. Reapportionment, we are assured, may wait until a later day not specified. Chicago's financial difficulties are grave, but they are not that desperate. The burden borne by real estate owners under the present arrangement is heavy, but it is not that heavy. It would be an act of political insanity—no less—to yield to the demand for a tax amendment before there has been a reapportionment.

AN UNPOPULAR TARIFF BILL.

Three out of four newspapers, according to the North American Review, are opposed to the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill now awaiting final action in congress. We should be astonished if the poll showed results much different. General tariff revision was undertaken without any popular demand for it. It was not as if the Republican party had been returned to office after a period of lowered tariffs, with a clear mandate for increased duties. That demand was met as soon as Harding succeeded Wilson. Since then there has been no interruption in Republican rule and consequently no need for wholesale changing of the schedules.

It was largely upon the insistence of Mr. Borah that the President made the campaign gesture which led to the special tariff session.

Mr. Hoover showed poor judgment in accepting Borah's advice in the first place and he cannot escape his share of censure for the period of industrial depression. Congress has been adjusting tariffs just at the time when it was most important to stabilize business conditions as much as possible. It is no wonder, then, that the country is out of sympathy with the measure.

FORESTS IN ILLINOIS.

Waste lands in Illinois increased 248,000 acres annually between 1920 and 1928, according to the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. In twenty-one counties of the state the idle lands in 1927 were $425,000,000 in paper value, with the taxes thereon uncollected. The waste land could be used, says S. A. Forbes, for forests, and Illinois timber products, now $13,000,000, could be increased to $22,000,000 or more.

With hard times for the farmers and with marginal lands drifting out of cultivation, the idle lands of Illinois have increased greatly. The state, like many others, is no longer sweeping forward in settlement and cultivation. The frontier days and distributions are on the ebb, and Illinois, in great part at least, is more and more desettled and decultivated every year. The return to idleness of our acres will give the trees another chance.

Two million acres of these waste lands are available for forests, says Dr. Forbes, and 5,000,000 acres altogether—or more—may be used for productive lumbering. From these can come annually at least 260,000,000 cubic feet of timber, and lumber costs and freight rates for the lumber using industries of the state could be cut down. Today the state's timber goes: For fuel and posts to the farms, $7,366,000; for mine timbers, $1,806,000; for ties and piling, $1,031,000; for lumber and logs, $2,757,000, and for black walnut lumber, $500,000—of which Illinois has about 10 per cent of the country's reserve. So low is the timber interest in Illinois that the cut is now much less than the annual growth.

With the idle lands of Illinois developed for merchantable timber, a home industry can be built up and the increasing areas of waste lands can be put back into sound production. In New York a state forest project is well under way, with every indication of success. In Wisconsin the national forest lands are supplemented by private areas given to regrowth. On growing timber taxes, in greater part, are postponed until the crop comes in. The idle land problem and the forest problem of Illinois should be coördinated. The surplus of the one can supply the lack of the other.

BOYS AT FORT SHERIDAN.

In the United States are 226,000 citizens who will have military training in the summer camps this year. The reserve officers' training corps, the citizens' military training camps, the officers' reserve corps, and the National Guard all will be under canvas at one time or another during the warm months. The summer camp way of training men is well suited to our democratic ways of doing things.

At Fort Sheridan boys and young men will find a vacation under arms welcoming them. There will be hikes and good eating, physical training, and early hours for sleep. Shooting on the range will take their time out in the sunshine; swimming, dancing, drilling, reading, and tent life with the members of the squad will keep boys busy. At least once in a lifetime every boy has an American's right to this experience. And Uncle Sam will pay him for it.

FEWER BRIDGINGS.

The war department has given Chicago a half hour or so more to go before the bridges open. To have the heavy foot lifted from Chicago's neck even by an inch is something gained.

Some day our congressmen will have more influence with the war department than the owners of pile drivers—but the time seems far off.

Editorial of the Day

DOUBLE-DECK STREETS.

[Illinois State Register, Springfield.]

As we watch the daily jam of traffic in the streets of a city like Springfield and more particularly in cities like Chicago, Los Angeles and New York, we are brought to the definite conclusion that the traffic problem can be solved only by development of the double-deck street.

Some progress is being made in this direction. An elevated driveway of this character is being constructed along the Hudson river to carry express traffic. A railroad out of Detroit is planning to build such an elevated driveway above its right of way for a distance of twenty miles. For short distances in Chicago, Hamilton, O., Toronto, Canada, and many other cities the elevated driveway is being developed to meet the difficulties of local traffic congestion.

This plan has been the dream of writers and artists for some time. They have developed fantastic ideas of double and triple-deck streets in great cities to meet the motor traffic problem. They have put landing fields on skyscrapers to contribute to the convenience of travel by air.

These are no longer to be considered the fantastic dreams of those who think in terms of things unreal. The day of the double-deck street is at hand. Viaduct development is an approach to it. The doom of the grade crossing and congested streets with intolerable delays is at hand.

COLD WEATHER AND CLOTHES.

MAN made a great step forward when he learned how to clothe himself in cold weather. This gave him great advantage over his competitors, the hairy animals and the feathered birds, an advantage which was accentuated when he changed his garments for the sake of hot weather comfort. Acquiring this art he was able to move from the low planes of the Gobi desert into the higher lands where there was more water and vegetation. He was able to push his way from the warmer lands of the eastern end of the Mediterranean into the bleak north and south country where none of his old time animal competitors could follow.

About the year 1500 the dominating people of Europe had pushed about as far as climate and economic opportunity would permit. Malthus came along with his warnings against excess population. But Columbus discovered America, and a great continent, with about European climate, was opened up. This made it possible to ridicule old Malthus with safety and the old gentleman was forced to take a back seat. Now we have reached about the same point of saturation and an economic level suggestive of that of 1500. Malthus is coming to life. The question is, who will be Christopher Columbus and where is the new America?

The answer is—the tropics. Here lie millions of acres of unoccupied ground and unused resources of every kind. The weakness of the answer lies in two directions. First, insects are man's deadliest enemies, far more deadly than lions, tigers, grizzly bears, and rattlesnakes. It has been demonstrated in Panama that, given money enough and necessity enough, man can overcome at least flies and mosquitoes. Perhaps in time we may recognize the experiment in practical insect control on a large scale in Panama as of more service to mankind than the canal itself.

Second, white men cannot withstand the climate of the tropics. At least, they are not able to compete there with colored men. To overcome this drawback the white man must develop an art of housing and cooling comparable with the arts of housing and heating which he has developed in cooler climates. He does this now in a very limited way. He cools theaters and restaurants occasionally. He cools some hospital rooms. The cooled office building is the next step. The cooled factory will follow. And, finally, the cooled home will come.

ONE CAUSE OF DIZZINESS.

Miss S. A. writes: I am troubled with constipation, and about every two or three months I get a very dizzy spell. I can't move my head, because when I do I start to vomit and my head turns fearfully. This condition lasts at least two days. What can I do to prevent this dizzy headache? I am 17 years old.

REPLY.

Correct your constipation. This is one important cause of dizziness.

FOODS TURNING TO ACIDS.

Miss B. writes: What foods, when digested, turn into acid?

REPLY.

Speaking generally, the acid ash foods are those made from grains and the meats. Among the grain foods are: Breads, pastries, and cereals. Among the meat foods are all meats, including fish and eggs. Milk foods are almost on the fence. Some sour vegetables and fruits do not always cross over. Pie plant or rhubarb generally does not. Plums, prunes, cranberries, and pineapple sometimes do not.

MILD EXERCISE NEEDED.

J. S. writes: My mother, 54 years of age, had a stroke. She appears to be recovering nicely, but her heart is weak and she is getting too fat.

REPLY.

She needs to exercise more and to eat less. Mild exercise will strengthen her heart, increase her endurance, and help to keep her weight down. However, holding the weight in bounds is more a matter of diet.

TO HUNT IN SEVERAL STATES.

Chicago, May 31.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Two fellows and I are planning a hunting and fishing trip to cover several states. 1. What are the necessary steps to take for the carrying of high powered rifles and revolvers in the different states? 2. What states prohibit the use of high powered rifles? 3. Will it be necessary to buy separate hunting and fishing licenses for each state? 4. Can we transfer the license from a passenger car to a truck?

E. N.

The Illinois statute provides: "No person shall carry concealed on or about his person a pistol, revolver or other firearm." In 322 Illinois at page 52 our Supreme court held "about his person" means sufficiently close to the person to be readily accessible for immediate use. A firearm is concealed about the person when it is pushed down behind the cushion of an automobile on which the accused is sitting." But not when it is lying on the floor under a rug.

1-2. Ruling in most states is similar to that in Illinois.

LEASE IS BINDING.

Chicago, May 31.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly advise me if tenant in a 14 apartment building can be held to a lease which he signed in good faith with the understanding that it was customary for all tenants to sign a lease? He has discovered that several of the other tenants never had a lease.

Yes, he could be held.

If not foreclosed or renewed, [2] will it become void if the interest is kept up? 3. If the same mortgage is not renewed, would it be transferable? C. L. S.

WELL, LOOK WHO THE BISHOP IS!

Bishop Cannon is stirring up the senate committee something outrageous by refusing to answer questions. But why should the good bishop answer? Take Alexander the Great. Suppose he had been called to the witness stand and asked all about his campaigns and how much money they had cost. What would have happened? Why, Alexander would have had his inquisitors separated from their heads before they knew what was happening. And there was Genghis Khan, who came sweeping across Europe like fifteen or twenty cyclones all glued together. Do you suppose Genghis Khan would have submitted to a committee's asking him what he was doing devastating around Europe like that? Never! And suppose when William the Conqueror landed at Hastings ready to give battle that a committee of Saxons had sent for him and said they wanted to ask him a few little questions about this or that! Or suppose Ivan the Terrible or Frederick the Great or Napoleon Bonaparte at the height of their power had been asked to testify before a group representing some legislative body? Unthinkable! Unspeakable! Why, darn it all, are great men like Bishop Cannon, Genghis Khan, Alexander the Great, Ivan the Terrible, Mohammed, Philip of Macedon, and so on supposed to sit down and let a committee ask 'em questions? Tck! tck! Perish the thought. Goodness, this senate committee has its nerve asking questions of Bishop James Cannon Jr. Why, the very idear!

LOST AND FOUND.

Lost—that trick of sudden laughter, flung to greet the coming day
And the seven-leagued pace that sped me on the crowded dangerous way;
Spendthrift hours in a great garden, washed with light of sun or moon
With young Love and I a-footing to the ageless Eden tune.

Found—an urge to quicker smiling at success that is not mine
And the deep content of friendships aged by years to flavors fine;
For one love, the love of many, joy in seeing dreams come true
Peace at night, that turns the light out with a tender thought of you.

ETHELYN BRYANT CHAPMAN.

THE W. K. SENATORS, Watson and Moses, announce that even if the senate is compelled to hold a special session unless they confirm the London naval parity pact without further ado it could simply meet as ordered and then adjourn and go home. Which reminds one of the old axiom we used to write in our Spencerian copy books, "You may put a block and tackle on an ox and forthwith drag him to the water trough, but making him drink of said water is something else again."

"ENGINEERS Hear of Air."—Portland Oregonian headline. Engineers are marvelous! Sooner or later they just hear of everything.

He's as Good as Elected Today.

It may be just a trifle early, but we nominate for President in 1932 none other than a man who [Loud cries of, name? name?] a man who when we sent him across the sea comes back with the goods! A man who—gets all he goes after and then some! A man who—all by himself, single-handed and alone, can lock horns with the best that Europe can put up and get away with 'em! Ladees and gentlemun of the convention—we herewith put in nomination for President of these United States the favorite son of old Georgia, the pride of the entire nation—the Hon. Bobby Jones. (Tremendous cheering, delegates leave chairs and march around hall. Demonstration continues one hour and fifteen minutes.)

WE ARE NOT giving as many cheers over the heroism of John Arthur Dewar as the newspapers are. Young Mr. Dewar, the heir of the late Lord Dewar to the extent of five millions of dollars, says he is not in the least excited by his wealth, but will continue bravely and manfully at his work. As young Mr. Dewar's job consists in manufacturing an article sold in bottles and known quite widely as "Dewar's Scotch," we really do not wonder he sticks to his work; it must be such a delightful task.

SILLY PEOPLE.

Silly people make up rhymes,
Silly people read them,
(Lucky for us that they do),
Silly people need them.

Those with nothing else to do
Throw their thoughts in verses,
Those who take life seriously
Flatter them with curses.

Silly folks whose hearts are full
Simply must unhand them . . .
Wise, staid folks with jobs to do
Never understand them!

A NEWLY DESIGNED ship's radio can now pluck stock tables, pictures, letters, checks, postal cards, and things like that right out of the air. There seems to be no escape. Has anybody got the bottom of an abandoned coal mine, say about eight hundred feet deep, for rent? Maybe down there a body might have a real vacation.

DO YOU REMEMBER away back when they had stock tickers in brokers' offices and people who had bought ten shares of Iron Lined Unawares Pref. or five shares of Stickum-Stickum Common on margin would hang around and watch the ticker to see whether they'd take a trip to Europe or sell lead pencils on the corner? Wonder what became of those things anyhow!

JUNE 5, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Grant has issued a brief congratulatory address to the armies, in which he says: "Soldiers of the armies of the United States, by your patriotic devotion to your country in the hour of danger and alarm, your magnificent fighting, bravery, and endurance, you have attained the supremity of the Union and constitution, overthrown armed opposition to the enforcement of laws and of the proclamations forever abolishing slavery, the cause and pretext of the rebellion, and opened the way for the rightful authorities to restore order and inaugurate peace on a permanent and enduring basis on every foot of American soil. Your marches, sieges, and battles, in distance, duration, resolution, and brilliance of results, dim the luster of the world's past military achievements and will be the patriot's precedent in the defense of liberty and right in all time to come."

WASHINGTON.—Testimony is about to be taken against Gen. Lee and other leading rebels on the charge of treason. A member of the English parliament has offered to Gen. Lee a house in London and a large sum of money.

NEW YORK.—A special dispatch to the World says Charles O'Conor, the distinguished copperhead lawyer of New York, has applied to the war department for permission to tender to Jefferson Davis his professional services in case he is arraigned upon the indictment found in the District of Columbia, and the President has directed that Mr. O'Conor's application be granted.

SAN FRANCISCO.—"We couldn't let go of the Philippines now if we wanted to," said Maj. Gen. Elwell S. Otis on the transport Meade from Manila. "We will continue to hold them, of course, and they are fully worth all we have expended for them. They are immensely rich and from a strictly commercial standpoint are sure to be a paying investment. The insurrection has been over for several months, and there is no danger of another rebellion for the simple reason that the rebel army has been shattered and all the leading rebels killed or captured."

CHICAGO.—Track elevation was postponed, probably for years, by adverse action of the city council, and the most important work yet framed by the track elevation committee practically was defeated. The ordinance up was the one elevating the tracks of the Panhandle, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the North Western roads west in Kinzie street. It was killed by the adoption of an amendment that the aldermen voting for it knew would not be accepted by the roads. The test vote was 34 to 33.

LONDON.—News from the front is varied. Through British sources it is reported that Pretoria is invested by the British and will be formally handed over to Lord Roberts today, while from Pretoria comes the announcement that the panic has ceased and that the burghers have taken fresh courage and will defend their capital to the utmost. One report is that six columns of British are converging on Pretoria.

CHICAGO.—Miss Helen E. Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Chapin, 476 North State street, and Jerome H. Bishop Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bishop of Wyandotte, Mich., were married at the home of the bride's parents.

CHICAGO.—The net result of the national committee decisions to date on contests of delegates to the Republican national convention as they affect candidates is: Gen. Wood loses 35, Gov. Lowden gains 50, Senator Hiram Johnson gains 4. Senator Moses of New Hampshire, one of the Wood campaign managers, precipitated real warfare between the leading candidates for the presidential nomination. In a statement he assailed the national committee, charging it had adopted "steam roller tactics" to aid the candidacy of Gov. Lowden. Developments of the day indicated that Gov. Lowden has the best chance of carrying off the nomination prize.

THE AUTHORSHIP OF THE ORDINANCE.

Chicago, June 3.—Since returning from a week-end outing I have read your editorial of May 31 entitled "The Authorship of the Traction Ordinance." You stated that the influence of Mr. Walter L. Fisher was greatest in the drafting of the ordinance. You stated also that Judge Wilkerson, in whose court the Chicago Railways company was in receivership, had appointed Mr. Fisher to represent the court in the negotiations. The court, you state, which Mr. Fisher represented, is charged in a receivership with conserving the interests of the invested capital.

With these and other preliminary remarks, you added this:

"Mr. Fisher has been in fact, if not in name, the representative of the public exactly as he was during the preparation of the 1907 ordinances. The only difference is that then he was acting as a special counsel for the city, while now he is a representative of Judge Wilkerson."

Not even Mr. Fisher, whose record in public life in Chicago and as secretary of the interior is, as you well say, above reproach, can serve two masters at the same time faithfully. A lawyer owes his first duty to his clients who employ him and pay him, and, beyond doubt, Mr. Fisher, honorable man and able lawyer that he is, never, for one moment during the negotations, forgot or lost sight of his professional duty to get the best results he could for his clients and paymasters. His duty—like that of the court which appointed him—was to get the best results he could for the private interests in the care of the court—first, the creditors of the Chicago Railways company, then the stockholders of that company. To imputa any other rôle or motive to Mr. Fisher, it seems to me, is to do him a great injustice, as undeserved as it is unsupported by the results of his work. The ordinance gives to the company, whose security holders Mr. Fisher represents, all they asked, and vastly more than they had any right to expect.

Mr. Fisher outmatched the representatives of the city at every point. The misfortune for the public is that Mr. Fisher did not represent the city, for had he been counsel for the city you may be sure the public interests would have been fully safeguarded, though the companies, ably represented as they were, would have gotten, no doubt, all they were entitled to expect. If Mr. Fisher is justly subject to any criticism whatever, it is that, while he repeatedly stated that he represented the court, he may have failed to make clear that the duty of the court, and therefore his own duty, was to the private interests in the court, and not to the public.

The fact that even the editor of a great newspaper could have misunderstood the function, duty and limitations of counsel for private interests, and could have regarded such counsel as representing the public, is in itself an indication that less experienced and less intelligent persons may well have gained the erroneous impression that Mr. Fisher was representing the public, and not private, interests.

FREDERICK T. KUEN.

AGAINST IT AND WHY.

Chicago, June 3.—I will not vote for the traction ordinance for the three following reasons:

1. There is no provision made toward adequate service to the residents living south of 67th street and west of Ashland avenue. [I do not live in this district nor am I personally interested in it.]

2. There is grave danger—yes, danger!—of municipal ownership, against which I will always vote.

3. Subways in the central business section of Chicago have been declared impractical, because of excessive cost, by one of the greatest living engineers, a man whose opinions are respected the world over.

FRANZ R. WAGNER.

FOR A SECRETARY OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Evanston, Ill., June 2.—Your Sunday editorial, "Public Works and Economic Balance," was fine. Now, then, the editor who wrote it could give us an splendid an editorial anent the need of a public works department. A new federal government department, and for that matter every state needs one, too, and for the same reasons. But let us consider the federal government alone.

As it is now, some public buildings are done by the treasury, some by other departments; rivers, harbors and a lot of other public works by the army engineers [and why?]; roads by still another department, and so it goes, each department clamoring for all the funds it can get out of congress and insisting its work is the most important; no coördination, everything quite messy and most costly.

All that work, buildings, roads, harbors and such, should be under one head, appropriations made with due consideration for relative importance of each project, all buying and contracts under one head, all coördinated and properly handled.

If the cabinet has to be kept down in numbers, why not have a war department [since war still seems the foolish human ultimate way of settling disputes] instead of two, army and navy ones, always squabbling over appropriations and such? The same argument applies there, coördination, economy, and all that sort of thing.

F. W. FITZPATRICK.

OWN YOUR HOME.

Chicago, June 2.—The annual Own Your Home show was advertised to open on East Chicago avenue May 31. My husband and I went there late in the afternoon to see the exhibits and were charged 50c apiece admittance at the entrance. The majority of the booths were vacant, and in some the carpenters were still at work. Men were clearing rubbish from the floors, and huge crates were standing about, obviously with the materials for the exhibition still unpacked. When we asked for our money back we were flatly refused by the manager, who offered himself to supply any "information on home building, etc., that we anticipated getting at the exhibition."

CLOCKS, CHEESE, CHERRIES BLOCK VOTE ON TARIFF

Barkley Raises Points of Order.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—Further complications and delays confronted the tariff bill today. Points of order were presented in the senate against the section of the conference report which contains most of the rate items. It was charged by Senator A. W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.] that the conferees exceeded their authority in increasing the duty on a certain variety of watch from $1.25 in the present law to $9.16.

Besides dealing with the watch and clock section, Senator Barkley also made a point of order against the section on cherries. Tomororw he will make points of order against sections on cheese and rayon. Rulings as to whether the bill must go back to conference to make changes in these items then will be made by Vice President Curtis.

The section of the conference report which includes the flexible tariff provisions, and which was sent back to conference last week on a point of order made by Senator Barkley, was laid aside temporarily to bring the other section before the senate. This procedure was followed at the suggestion of Senator F. M. Simmons [Dem., N. C.], ranking minority member of the finance committee, who objected to a unanimous consent agreement proposed by Republican leaders for a vote on the flexible section at 4 o'clock Friday.

Senator Simmons insisted that the controversy over the rate sections be disposed of first.

If the points of order are sustained it will mean a delay of two or three days while the conferees make changes, but it is likely that a final vote in the senate can be obtained early next week.

New York May Have 6,700,000.

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—With the census compilation complete in Queens and Staten Island, and nearly so in Manhattan and Brooklyn, it was possible today to estimate the city's total population in 1930 at 6,700,000, with Manhattan losing more residents than Brooklyn gained in the last decade and Queens the fastest growing borough, with an increase of 130 per cent over 1920. The Bronx, lagging far behind in the enumeration, was the most doubtful factor in the estimate.

KLAN TO FIGHT TO HOLD G. O. P. POWER TODAY

Test on Willoughby in Indiana Convention.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., June 14.—[Special.]—Efforts by the Anti-Saloon league to defeat Justice Benjamin M. Willoughby for renomination to the supreme bench will furnish the big battle at tomorrow's Republican state convention.

Judge Willoughby, who has been a bitter opponent of the old Klan—dry clique, is one of the three justices who in the days of Indiana misrule stood by strict interpretation of dry cases, by the constitution, the bill of rights and the spirit of the laws. The court has stood three to two for the constitution, and a change of one might give the league a "friendly" tribunal.

Party leaders declare that Willoughby is in danger tomorrow. Two other candidates are in the field, Judge Thomas B. Coulter of Vincennes and T. Morton McDonald of Princeton.

Fight Over Appellate Court.

The Supreme court fight has become enmeshed with another war of reprisal over an Appellate court decision, in which the forces of George V. Coffin, local boss, are fighting Appellate Judge Charles F. Remy of Indianapolis. The judge is father of Will R. Remy, who was Marion county prosecutor when ex-Gov. Ed Jackson, Coffin and another were indicted on charges of having conspired to offer a bribe to Warren T. McCray, the governor, to persuade him to appoint a man of their choice for prosecuting attorney as successor to a man who had resigned.

Most of the Marion county delegates are supposed to have lined up for Willoughby. Coffin, however, it is said, has for his main object the defeat of Judge Remy, and he is in a vote swapping position by which he might make Willoughby suffer.

Willoughby a Teetotaler.

As the 1,957 delegates began to arrive, reports were current that the anti-saloon league had succeeded in getting a sprinkling of its adherents on many of the county delegations. Some of the rural drys are pleading that a vote against Willoughby "is a flower on the grave of the late Rev. E. S. Shumaker," former head of the league, who sought to accomplish the defeat of Willoughby six years ago, when Willoughby won by a single vote in an election in which Coolidge carried Indiana by 211,000 votes.

The "Constitutionalists" point out that it is not a wet or dry issue, for Judge Willoughby is rated as a total teetotaller, and says he has not tasted alcohol even medicinally since the eighteenth amendment went in. Willoughby ruled against the old klan supergovernment when he wrote the decision in the Crabbs case, holding that searches of automobiles by klan night riders and so-called detectives who prowled the countryside were illegal. The Anti-Saloon league had maintained that all cars might be stopped.

Battle for State Treasurer.

Only four contests among eleven nominations are on the books. Besides the Willoughby and Remy bench fights, there is a race over state treasurer. Harry Nichols of Madison is said to have the edge over Caleb C. Williams of Pendleton and Sol L. Sudranski of Green Castle. Roy P. Wisehart of Union City, seeking renomination as superintendent of public instructions, is opposed by Morgan L. Sterrett of Rensselaer.

Neither Senator James E. Watson nor Senator Arthur R. Robinson is expected to attend the convention. The keynoting will be done by Secretary Arthur N. Hyde of the department of agriculture. This is said to be the first time in more than forty years that Senator "Jim" has missed a state convention.

Party leaders tonight spoke of putting in a plank applauding the tariff. On prohibition and a dry referendum, for which Senator Watson expressed approval, they expect to remain as silent as possible. As one prominent leader expressed it: "We ought to get along in amity on the doctrine that prohibition is better than no likker at all."

One of the greatest discussions is over a revenue plank. A tentative plank prepared for the resolutions committee declares in favor of a statute "providing for a graduated income tax with reasonable exemptions, also legislation providing reasonable taxes so far as is necessary to raise revenues from such income and excise taxes for state purposes in lieu of revenues from a state levy upon property."

FOUND DEAD IN ROOM.

WHY

do most people look better . . . with their hats on?

THEY won't acknowledge it, perhaps, but they know why! It's because their hair instead of adding to their appearance, detracts from it. Because it's thin, or dry, or straggly, or poorly dressed.

OFFICERS HEARD BY GRAND JURY IN LIQUOR QUIZ

Others May Be Summoned at Freeport.

Freeport, Ill., June 4.—[Special.]—The federal grand jury investigating the liquor traffic in Winnebago county adjourned today without making a report, after more than a score of county and city officials of Rockford had appeared as witnesses.

Today's witnesses included County Judge Fred Carpenter, State's Attorney William D. Knight, Sheriff Harry H. Baldwin and Chief of Police A. E. Bargren. These witnesses, as well as all other members of the police and sheriff departments who have been questioned, were required to sign waivers of immunity.

Assistant United States Attorney John H. Page said today that in the event the grand jury does not make a report tomorrow, a recess will be taken until next week, and that every member of the police and sheriff's departments who has not been questioned might be called.

Seventeen Stills Seized.

Although Mr. Page would not discuss the inquiry, reports were current that the grand jury is determined to ascertain what, if any, connection may have existed between officials of Rockford and the booze interests, which have lost more than $500,000 in property as a result of federal dry raids in the last three weeks.

In a raid on a bungalow in Rockford two weeks ago Smith and his raiders were fired upon with machine guns by a group of supposed gangsters, who sped by in an automobile. A large still was found in the residence, but no arrests were made.

"Protection" Charged.

Since the beginning of the activity by federal dry agents the police and sheriff's forces have coöperated in the making of raids, but previous to the federal invasion charges of a "protection ring" were frequent.

Prosecutor Page asserted today that the grand jury session was only the beginning of a cleanup in the booze business that would be astonishing in scope.

HUNT DIXIE MAN IN INDIANAPOLIS DEATH MYSTERY

Indianapolis, Ind., June 4.—[Special.]—Officers in several states today redoubled their efforts to find Harold Herbert Schroeder, missing Mobile, Ala., business man, to learn whether he can throw any light on the mysterious death of a man whose charred body was found in Schroeder's automobile Friday night near here.

Officers believe the victim either was stabbed or shot and the car then set afire.

An insurance receipt bearing Schroeder's name was found near the car.

A proprietor of a tourist camp near here, however, when shown a photograph of Schroeder, declared he was positive that Schroeder came to his camp Friday on a motorcycle and wearing a new suit of clothes, and remained there until Saturday.

Late Friday night a couple in a car were hailed by a man wearing a raincoat bearing the initials H. H. S. They gave him a ride into Indianapolis. Today a raincoat with the same initials was found on a junk pile near the point where the autoists say their self-invited passenger got out.

At Mobile officers were told by Gertrude Kittrel, 22, that Schroeder had told her: "You need not be surprised if I disappear. I guess I am worth more dead than alive. When I am gone my wife can have things as she wants them. I would like to disappear forever, let them have their own way, and start all over again."

SEVEN HURT IN CAR WRECK.

St. Louis, Mo., June 4.—(AP)—Seven East St. Louis High school students were injured, one seriously, in an automobile collision here last night.

"the outstanding paper on the Gillette merchandising list"

The Christian Science Monitor leads field of more than 200 daily papers

When it scored the highest number of points in the Gillette Razor Company's newspaper merchandising contest, The Christian Science Monitor showed the kind of service it is capable of performing for the national advertiser. "We have often heard it said that a national merchandising job could not be accomplished. You, in our opinion, have shown that it can," said Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, the Gillette Company's advertising agency, in a telegram sent to the Monitor soon after the close of the contest.

Over 200 leading newspapers in all sections of the country competed. They were divided into four groups, according to the populations of the cities in which they are published. Soon after the contest opened, the Monitor assumed a commanding lead, which it maintained to the finish. In making the final awards, the Monitor was removed from group classification, placed in a class by itself, and given equal recognition with that received by the winner in each group.

Points were credited to the competing newspapers for several kinds of cooperation. An important service was the placing of posters or proof sheets in dealers' windows. The Monitor, with its wide-flung organization of advertising representatives, was uniquely fitted to render such a service. On the opening day of the contest, posters and proof sheets had been sent to Monitor advertising representatives in approximately 400 cities, and to more than a thousand dealers.

Monitor representatives gave enthusiastic support. Dealers selling Gillette Razors and Blades, many of them regular Monitor advertisers, were glad to cooperate. Posters and proof sheets were soon placed in hundreds of store windows. Additional points were scored for other special services designated in the contest, with the result that the Monitor's ultimate score was far beyond that of its closest competitor.

What
Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, Inc.
Say of the Monitor:

"The Christian Science Monitor exceeded our greatest expectations in this contest.

"We have often heard it said that a national merchandising job could not be accomplished. You, in our opinion, have shown that it can.

"You are the outstanding paper on the Gillette merchandising list."

The Monitor also pursued its regular plan of obtaining "tie-in" advertisements. Merchants throughout the country were quick to take advantage of this opportunity to bring Monitor readers to their stores. They placed advertisements in the Monitor featuring the New Gillette Razor and Blades, thus providing additional advertising for the manufacturer's goods. This "tie-in" service was not counted in the score of points credited to the Monitor.

A national dealer cooperative service which no other newspaper and no magazine is in position to provide is offered to manufacturers by The Christian Science Monitor. It adds to the value of space in a newspaper of the highest journalistic standards, long noted for the keen interest of its readers in the advertisements it publishes.

CUBS' 20 HITS OVERWHELM BRAVES, 18 TO 10

WINS $149,000 IN DERBY POOL; DECIDES TO FISH

But He Won't Quit $22 a Week Job.

Five Americans and one Canadian shared the $440,000 in prizes of the Canadian Army and Navy Veterans' sweepstakes on the English Derby yesterday. E. P. Dougherty, New York, and Wilfred Le Blanc of Hull, Quebec, won $149,000 each with their tickets on Blenheim, while Mrs. A. Matzmmger of Reading, Pa., and L. L. Smith of Guthrie won $49,000 each for second place. J. W. Zaloudek of Omaha and Robert I. Lynn of Portland, Me., divided $48,000 third prize.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HULL, Que., June 4.—"I t'ink I go feesh," and William Le Blanc, a $22 a week carpenter, today walked away from an admiring group of friends, counting fingers and thumbs in an effort to compute the incredible sum of $149,000—his winnings in a pool on the English Derby, run today at Epsom Downs.

Le Blanc, a French-Canadian bachelor who never had more than $40 at one time in his life before, bought the ticket in the Army and Navy sweepstakes after he had been gibed for his lack of sporting blood one evening a month or so ago.

He's Short $109,000.

Le Blanc speaks but little English and when apprised of his luck he thought his informant said "forty thousand."

"I wene forty t'ousand dollar?" he asked, aghast.

"No, you're short $109,000," he was told. "You win $149,000."

"Mon Dieu!" exclaimed Le Blanc. His informant asked him what he would do, now that he was a wealthy man.

"I go feesh wan week," Le Blanc said, "Then I work. I love money, but work I love better."

SELLS OUT TO DAD FOR $1.

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—Unaware that his ticket on Blenheim, winner in the English Derby today, had won $149,000, a $20 a week stock clerk of Brooklyn was on his way home tonight from a vacation at Phillipsburg, N. J.

While the fleet colt of the Aga Khan was capturing the Derby and the prize winners to the Army and Navy Veterans' Charity Sweepstakes of Canada were being announced, Edward P. Dougherty, 19 years old, was blowing smoke rings in a hammock at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Grace Mulligan, in Phillipsburg.

Dougherty had tried to sell his ticket for 75 cents to his associates in a brokerage house. When they refused to take the gamble he offered to give it to his father, Daniel D. Dougherty of Brooklyn, for $1.

"Sure and I'll take care of the boy," Mr. Dougherty said. "I might quit my job as a doorman, but then again I might not. Anyhow, I'll see that the boy can return to college if he wants to. He's been making $20 a week."

857 WEEKS' WAGES.

Omaha, Neb., June 4.—[Special.]—The first thing Joseph Zaloudek, who won $24,000 in the Army and Navy sweepstakes today, will do with his winnings will be to buy a new house for his family of four. Next, maybe, he will buy a new automobile.

Zaloudek, who is an order clerk in a wholesale grocery house at $28 a week, quit work for the day when he learned of his good fortune. His wife, who was washing, left the clothes in the tubs for the rest of the day.

BRAKEMAN GETS $49,000.

Guthrie, Okla., June 4.—(AP)—A string of box cars on the Santa Fé railroad rattled toward Guthrie tonight from Pawnee with unusual caboose gossip to shorten the lonely night hours.

To Luther Smith, rear brakeman aboard the train, the rhythmic click of the wheels had a sweeter sound tonight, for with every click he came nearer home and to the $49,000 he won as the holder of a $1 ticket on Iliad, second place winner in the Epsom Downs Derby.

Smith, married and the father of two children, told of his family's long wish for a home of their own and said he was glad they could have it now.

ENGINEER WINS CALCUTTA.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, June 4.—One of three $60,000 first prizes in the Derby Calcutta sweepstake went to Percy Hogg, Southern railway engineer of Barnstaple, Devon, whose lucky number, NR2359, drew Blenheim, the Derby winner.

Hogg, who is a widower, shares the number with a brother-in-law and four of his fellow workers on the railway. Before the Derby was run they sold a half share in the ticket for $15,000. Hogg has taken the news of his fortune quietly, but there was great excitement among his colleagues on the railway.

The only other first Calcutta prize held in Britain was drawn by two Coventry auto mechanics, Thomas Lane and William Osborne, who having sold a half share, win $175,000 each. Both were working at their benches in a Wiley factory during the race.

Blenheim, at 18 to 1, Takes Epsom Derby

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 4.—England's one hundred and fifty-first derby, run in a setting an artist would choose for a carnival rather than a famous race course, today was won by the Aga Khan's Blenheim. The Indian potentate's colt, overlooked in the betting and quoted at 18 to 1, had a length to spare over Iliad at the finish of the mile and a half. The heavily backed favorite, Diolite, was third.

One of the most surprised among the hundreds of thousands of spectators was the Aga Khan himself. He never before had won the derby, and to see the less highly regarded of his two entries lead the field of 17 across the finish line was more than the wealthy patron of the European turf had anticipated. His Rustom Pasha, second choice in the betting, failed to finish in the first ten.

"I didn't have a shilling on the colt," said the eastern potentate.

Not until halfway down the back stretch did Blenheim look like a possible winner. There he began improving his position and as the leaders neared the finish line the Aga Kahn's horse poked his nose in front and in the remaining strides went on to win by a length in the slowest time in which the race has been run in four years. The time for the mile and a half was 2 minutes 38 1-5 seconds.

The Scout II., hope of an American syndicate, was outrun, finishing fifteenth. Joe Childs, astride the invader, said the horse simply wasn't good enough.

The crowd was estimated at more than a half million. Among the throng were King George and Queen Mary, the king making his traditional visit to the Downs, despite a touch of rheumatism. The prince of Wales occupied a box with a party of friends.

The huge crowd camped over night to hold a place of advantage for the race. They sprawled on the grass between the tents of the fortune tellers, bookies' stands, lunch wagons, gypsy caravans, piles of empty lunch baskets and automobiles.

The mile and a half track had the appearance of a carnival city rather than a race course. The inside of the track resembled all of the combined circuses in the world with hurdy gurdies, hobby horses, ball throwing tents, fried fish counters covering the hill where thousands trampled the grass, streets of the tent city, studying form sheets.

Whichone Nears Belmont Record in Speedy Drill

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—Whichone, Harry Payne Whitney's candidate for the rich Belmont stakes Saturday, worked a mile and a half on the Belmont Park course today in 2:31 4-5, three seconds slower than the track record for the distance set by Man o' War. The American standard was made by Handy Mandy in Kentucky in 2:28 2-5.

Whichone's work today was the first test over the full distance of the race made by any of the candidates. Yesterday William Woodward's Gallant Fox worked a mile and a furlong in 1:49 3-5 and James Butler's Questionnaire covered the same distance in 1:49 to win the fifth race on the Belmont card.

The Whitney racer carried 126 pounds in his workout this morning and was ridden by Marshall Lilley.

Carnera Meets Christner in Detroit Ring Tonight

Detroit, Mich., June 4.—(AP)—Primo Carnera will make his first start against first class competition in the United States tomorrow night at Floyd Fitzsimmons' state fair grounds arena here in a ten round bout with K. O. Christner of Akron, O. The Italian will outweigh Christner by about 75 pounds, scaling more than 275, compared with the Akron fighter's 197. He is almost 8 inches taller and has ten inches advantage in reach.

LITERATURE BY THE YARD MAKES REPORTING EASY

For World Title

CINCINNATI, O., June 4.—(AP)—Stanley M. Isaacs, president of the National Boxing association, tonight announced that the N. B. A. would recognize as champion of the world the winner of the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling heavyweight boxing bout in New York June 12.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Orangeburg, N. Y., June 4.—Never a hard occupation, the job of covering a heavyweight prizefighter's training camp has been made well nigh effortless by the helpful press agents of the Madison Square Garden corporation, and I am beginning to feel self-conscious about referring to the pugilists and their managers as idle persons with an aversion to useful toil.

On the walls of the settin' room of the field hands' cottage on Gus Wilson's muscle plantation, where the newspaper chaps compose their dispatches, there are long mimeographed bulletins and statistics, suitable for bodily preemption.

Just Send a Bit of Wallpaper.

If it were not for a conscientious habit developed early in my newspaper training, I should merely take the wire chief gently by the arm, lead him around the room examining the wallpaper until I came to an essay suiting my purposes, and remark, "Send about two feet eight inches of that one about Jack Sharkey's fortune, and put my name over it."

One finds the entire proposition of the prizefighter's training very thoroughly covered to order by Norman St. Denis and Walter, his paw. Out yonder, somewhere in some lean-to or pig pen, inspiration glows the whole night through and the mimeograph thrums in the mechanized production of reliable training camp copy.

"Jack Sharkey has made so-and-so many hundred thousand dollars in his career as a prizefighter and so forth," for about five feet of literature and very good printable matter, too, containing neither fancy words nor controversial statements.

Here's An Old Favorite.

Or a man may prefer something about Jack Sharkey's measurements as compared with those of Hercules, Jim Jeffries, Dempsey, and Tunney. Familiar, but tried and found reliable.

Or one may favor an interview with Jim Corbett or a review of Sharkey's career, starting way before the time that King Solomon, his sparring partner of the present time, beat him in a fight in Boston. This is a drama piece. One fellow goes on to wealth; the other becomes a punching dummy.

The St. Denis boys, Norman and his paw, are willing to go even further, standing ready to leap into a camp chair along the wide pine shelf and maul a typewriter for any desired amount of special, written-to-order matter in a fair simulation of any given individual's style, if any.

Walter Is Boss of Works.

This boy Norman is coming along. I remember meeting him for the first time down in Miami about five seasons ago. He had mimeograph ink on his hands even then and I think he was apprenticed to a realtor's publicity department. His paw, of course, is well known. His paw, Walter, was sport editor of the old New York Globe until the late Frank Munsey bought the paper and combined it with one of his other papers.

Norman was here and there for a while and now here he bobs up in full charge of the mimeographs at Sharkey's camp.

Walter is a myriad minded journalist. He can do a cynical piece for a cynic and an expert piece for an expert, a straight away news job for a straight away reporter or a series of paragraphs separated by jim dashes, of the kind usually found under small

ON THE JOB.

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 4.—[Special.]—Friend Arch: Well, Arch, here I am out at Max Schmeling's training camp which is 200 miles, or a night's train ride, from New York City, where I arrived yesterday morning. So you see how conscientious I am and how hard I am trying to work, and the only thing that worries me is that everything is so expensive.

Here's how it happened. Went over to the Garden yesterday afternoon to see Frank Bruen. You remember Frank used to be managing director of Arlington Park. Now he's that for the Garden. Well, he was being called up all the time by bigwigs and politicians who had discovered their seats for June 12 were not in the first row, but Frank kept telling them they were, that the numbers on the tickets didn't mean what they said, and I said, "Frank, how many front row seats have you," and he unblushingly replied, "Exactly 10,000," which proves, Arch, that he has become a true New Yorker.

Well, we found that Schmeling would work today and Friday and rest tomorrow. I knew you wouldn't want me to see him do nothing, but rest, for how could I tell whether he could lick Sharkey just by watching him rest? And I also knew you would insist I be around for Whichone and Gallant Fox, so the only thing was to get here today. That was not so easy as it looked.

Bill Carey, president of the Garden, offered to lend his plane for us to fly up, but he advised us against it. Whether he had motives or not, I don't know, but so long as it was his plane and he advised against it, I thought he ought to know, just like when a bootlegger advises you not to buy some brand he's selling. So the only other way to get here was to take a 2 a. m. train on the Lackawanna from Hoboken. The 2 a. m. was all right but the 7 a. m. arrival wasn't so good.

So we tubed over to Hoboken and it was still two hours before train time. Well, lots of New Yorkers go to Hoboken when they are not catching any trains, so we wandered around along the river front where the boys used to embark for Europe at the time of the world war and we met several proprietors of business establishments. And I said to one of them, "What do you think of prohibition?" And he said, "Oh, I suppose the drys some time will get some law passed restricting the sale of liquor but I don't think it ever will be adopted in New Jersey."

Well, we got off the train at Binghamton this morning and Joe Jacobs met us with his car. Joe is one of Schmeling's head managers, you know. There are several assistant managers who share Max's earnings, so after the milk fund gets its share and all his assistant managers get theirs, Max may owe himself money even if he does get $125,000 to $150,000 for meeting Sharkey.

So we drove the nine miles to this place which is noted for its shoe manufacturing. On the way, we went past W. H. Kilmer's farm and training track and I wanted to stop and see if he had any horses there, but Joe said I was a fight expert and not a turf expert on this trip. And there's lots of newspaper men here and they are all experting and as soon as I see Schmeling work once, I'll probably know whether or not he can beat Sharkey. That's how good an expert is. If anything happens at his camp, I'll write you about it, although I'm pretty sleepy from being on the train two nights in a row.

When I return to New York I'll be at some other hotel. You know that room I was worrying about the price of. Well, when I checked out, the cashier said it was $10 per day and it wasn't any larger than you get at the Inman in Champaign for $3, and I hadn't even slept in it, and I told the cashier so and thought I ought to get a rebate because my boss wanted me to keep expenses down, and she said, "Most hicks when they come to New York don't sleep in their rooms," and I didn't like the way she said "hicks," and I kept worrying about my expense account. Otherwise everything is all right.

I'll probably stay over until tomorrow because Schmeling is going to play golf tomorrow, and I saw Sharkey play golf at Miami. So by comparing their games I ought to have a good line on how they will fight. If you have any suggestions, wire me because I want to do everything you say and give our readers some real stories. Regards,

HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

CUB CHIEF OUT OF CITY; MAY BE ON PLAYER QUEST

William Veeck, president of the Cubs, could not be located at his offices yesterday and it was said he would not return until tomorrow.

While the nature of the errand that would take him from the city was not revealed, speculation over his plans was brisk last night. The Cubs are in need of an infielder and also are anxious to get a hurler.

Arthur Whitney, hard hitting Philadelphia third baseman, may be one of the men Veeck has set out to get. There have been reports that the Cubs have been dickering for him.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Schnozzola Kerr, the White Sox half pint shortstop, was a mighter man than Babe Ruth yesterday, even though the Bambino knocked his 18th homer of the year with two men on base in the second of the Yank-Sox series at Comiskey park.

Little Schnozz, as his pals call him, knocked the ball into the left field grand stand with two out in the tenth inning to accomplish an 8 to 7 victory over the powerful New Yorkers and move the Sox to fifth place.

That Kerr homer was not the only activity of the diminutive shortstop. In the first inning he scored the first run of the game after a single, and he singled again in the sixth to drive in the fifth run of a rally, the run that kept the Sox in the ball game.

Afield Kerr accepted six chances without a bobble, the last of these a difficult catch in left field with two out and the bases full in the eighth.

Reynolds again was a vigorous athlete. He scored two runs, made a triple and two singles, and stole a base. Hal McKain also shared the hero honors, getting his second reward as a winning pitcher for the fine relief hurling he has done.

Sox Get Two in First.

The Sox got themselves two runs in the first inning. Kerr singled to center, went to second while Lazzeri was throwing out Cissell, and scored when Jolley doubled to the center field wall. Reynolds grounded to Chapman, who tagged Jolley going to third. Reynolds then stole second and went to third while Shires was beating out an infield single. The fourth wide ball to Harris was a wild pitch, on which Reynolds scored and Shires reached third, but Harris was sunk in his effort to reach second.

The Yanks hung up their first marker in the third. Bengough opened with a triple, then Ruffing fanned. But Combs sent a sacrifice fly to Reynolds, which scored Bengough.

In the fourth Ruth walked. Then Lazzari shot a single past Shires. Ruth went to third on the smash. Gehrig lined to Cissell, but Byrd singled to center, putting Ruth over with the tying run.

Jolley Muffs Fly.

The Yanks set the score at 4 to 2 when they accomplished two unearned runs in the fifth. Ruffing pulled up at second on Jolley's muff of his easy fly, and Combs walked. They moved up on Lary's sacrifice bunt. Ruth popped out to Kerr. Lazzeri singled to center, scoring Ruffing and Combs.

The Sox's big sixth was launched with a strikeout by Jolley. Reynolds then got a triple and scored on Shires' single to left. Harris singled to center, Shires taking third and Harris proceeding to second on Combs' throw in. Watwood batted for Kamm and grounded to Lazzeri, but Tony's throw to the plate failed to keep Shires from scoring, and Watwood was safe at first. Metzler batted for Berg and doubled to left, scoring Harris and Watwood. Metzler went to third while Gehrig was retiring Caraway, and Kerr singled, scoring Metzler.

Ruffing started the seventh with a single and Reese ran for him. Combs fouled to Jeffries. Lary grounded to Kerr and Johnny made a perfect toss to Cissell to force Reese, but Cissell muffed the ball and both runners were safe. The Babe then hit No. 18 into the right field stand.

The two clubs will play again this afternoon. Thomas probably will pitch for Chicago and the advance dope is that Herb Pennock will oppose him.

After the game it was announced that Catcher Johnny Riddle had been returned to Indianapolis and that Buck Crouse, Sox veteran, sent to Indianapolis in the Riddle deal this spring, would be returned.

Pupil Beats Teacher for Elks' Golf Cup

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Ray Whipple and William Leith fought stroke for stroke yesterday in the northern Illinois Elks' golf tournament at the Antlers Country club, and Whipple won, 76 to 77. They led a field of 150 sharpshooters over one of the Chicago district's sportiest courses which was made even more difficult by a tricky wind. Whipple is a member and Leith the pro at the Elgin Country club.

Ray finished the first nine one stroke down, but then he cut loose with an amazing string of eight 4s and a 3 to get home in 35, two strokes under par.

The result was hanging in the balance until the last putt was holed and it was made all the more dramatic because the two were playing in the same foursome. Whipple began the 18th one stroke ahead of Leith, from whom he learned his game.

The tee stands amid a grove of old oak trees at the top of a hill, the highest spot in Du Page county. The hole is a par 5 with the flag invisible from the tee. Both hit long drives, both made flawless mashie pitches, both sank second putts for birdie fours—and the pupil had beaten his teacher by a single stroke.

Bob o' Link retained its lead in the North Shore league by beating Evanston, 20½ to 6½, yesterday at the Wilmette Golf club. Other results were:

Glen View, 20½: North Shore, 6½.
Briergate, 15; Knollwood, 12.
Westmoreland, 14½; Wilmette, 12½.
Skokie, 14; Illinois, 13.

Chick Evans of Skokie won low gross with 73, and C. M. Nichols, low net with 78—7—71.

James L. Martin will hold his annual grandfathers' party tomorrow at Exmoor. A group of his friends who have grandchildren have been invited to the club for luncheon and a round of golf. On the prize list there are no boxes of cigars, golf shoes, or sweaters. Instead the players will shoot for an assortment of toys calculated to strike the fancy of the most discriminating minor.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 4.—The seventh consecutive lap in the Cubs' current winning streak was accomplished with ease this afternoon, when the champions downed the Braves, 18 to 10. In view of the winging of the Robins by the Pirates the victory was doubly valuable, as it put the Chicagoans only two games out of first place.

The Cubs began operating at the outset and in two innings they owned six runs off Socks Selbold and Bruce Cunningham. In four rounds the total had swelled to give them a lead of 11 to 4. That should have made everything safe, but Pat Malone blew up in the fifth, and Guy Bush had to dash to the rescue.

Cuyler Most Active with Bat.

The Cubs compiled 20 hits, with Beck and Malone the only visitors not sharing in the festivities. The most active was Kiki Cuyler, who peeled off a homer, single and double off Selbold and Cunningham and two singles off Old Tom Zachary, who tried to stop the upheaval in the sixth. Stephenson's efforts with the bat netted two doubles and three singles.

So as to save his regulars for Brooklyn, Boss McCarthy will start Bob Osborn tomorrow. The Cubs expect to look at Bob Smith.

The Cubs took a three run lead in the first inning after two men had been retired. Cuyler survived when plunked in the back by a pitched ball. Kiki ran home on a double by Wilson. Stephenson hit a two bagger and Haek scored. A double by Grimm scored Stevie. Hartnett then walked and Beck popped out the side.

Before Selbold could make up his mind to desert his job in the second the champions crowded him to the ropes with three more runs. This started with a walk to Blair with one out. English doubled to left center and Blair went to third. Cuyler promptly drove them over the plate on his homer into the center field bleachers, and Cunningham finished the inning.

Cunningham was permitted a few minutes of ease in the third. All that the Chicagoans did to him in this session was a homer to center by Hartnett. But they landed on him for four runs in the fourth. English instigated this revolt by tripling to right. Cuyler's pop single scored him. Wilson slashed a single to center and followed Kiki over the plate when Stephenson doubled to left. Stevie moved over to third on a wild pitch and home on Grimm's sacrifice fly.

Malone Chased in Fifth.

The Braves made their first impression on Malone's pitching in the second. One run scored on one hit. Spohrer drew a pass, stepped over to second on an infield out and home on a single by Maguire. Two more Tribe members nicked the plate in the fourth.

Four runs which made it necessary to eliminate Malone in the fifth started with a double by Maranville. Sisler walked, and a scratch hit by Berger jammed the sacks, with none deposed. Moore bounced to Beck for a double play, Maranville scoring. Spohrer beat out a single to Grimm and Sisler tallied. Then midget Chatham smashed a triple to right, Spohrer scoring. Cuyler's return throw went wide and Chatham counted on the error.

The Cubs lost no time getting a start on their six runs in the sixth. Cuyler led off with a two bagger. Wilson was tossed out, but Stephenson singled and Kiki scored. Passes to Grimm and Hartnett filled the bases and also relieved Cunningham of further responsibilities. Zachary replaced him and promptly passed Beck, forcing Stephenson to score. Bush singled Grimm over the plate. Blair singled to register Hartnett and Beck. Bush scored the sixth run while English was forcing Blair.

By way of amusing the customers, Berger, the local hero, hit a homer with two on in the home sixth. It made his fifteenth for the season.

BROWN WISDOM AGAIN SHOWS A DESIRE TO WIN

Comes from Behind to Beat Karl Eitel.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Temperamental Brown Wisdom has not lost his desire to win a horse race. The old deceiver proved it at Washington Park yesterday when he took one of the fleetest bands of sprinters in the west to the cleaners in the Jackson Park handicap.

It was Brown Wisdom's third start of his Chicago campaign. He ran gallantly on opening day, only to be beaten by Misstep. He ran like a selling plater last Saturday in the Sweitzer handicap when he was an overwhelming favorite, and finished out of the money.

Despite his erratic ways, Brown Wisdom was made the favorite in the Jackson Park handicap, even though he was tossed in with such fast steppers as Silverdale, Cayuga, Nusakan, Supreme Sweet, Karl Eitel, and Beaming Over.

In the early stages Brown Wisdom didn't cause his backers to become hilarious with joy. They were rather a sad lot, for Cayuga, Nusakan, Supreme Sweet, and Karl Eitel were rambling along so fast in front of him it didn't seem that he had a chance to overtake any of them.

Second in Stretch.

But the desire to run hit the 5 year old son of Brown Prince II.-Prodigy as the field rounded the lower bend. Going on the outside, Jockey Garrity gave him his head. He simply mowed down the opposition. He was trailing only Karl Eitel at the head of the stretch.

A sixteenth from home Brown Wisdom went on past Karl Eitel. He stepped out into a lead of a length and held it until he bowed to the judges at the line of finish. Karl Eitel was good enough to save second money.

Martie Flynn Wins.

Brown Wisdom ran the six furlongs in 1:12.

While Brown Wisdom's victory pleased the crowd, a real thriller came in the Kensington purse at a mile and seventy yards, which found three horses finishing noses apart.

Martie Flynn's nose was showing in front as the verdict was returned and it brought joy to most of those in the large midweek crowd, for Martie mustered so many supporters he was the even money favorite at post time.

Last Cadet to Win 5 Letters Leaves June 12

West Point, N. Y., June 4.—[Special.]—The last five-letter football man will leave West Point when George Washington [Buster] Perry, young Kentucky giant, receives his commission as a second lieutenant June 12. Perry played five seasons with the West Point varsity, including two seasons as a plebe or first year man. Entering the military academy in the fall of 1925, he found a place on the A squad and, although by no means a regular in those days, earned his letter.

Five-letter football men have been uncommon at the military academy, but under the old rules of eligibility several cadets were able to get in five years of "varsity play." However, the outgoing class, which included Chris Cagle, Perry, and Johnny Murrell, was the last one which enjoyed the privilege of competing for the varsity as plebes.

Perry expects to go to Governor's island, N. Y., as a second lieutenant of infantry, and assist in coaching the enlisted men's football teams, studying law on the side.

Johnny Murrell, the full back who played with Cagle for four years, after previous experience at the University of Minnesota, has applied for assignment to the air service.

Young Rider Joins U. S. Polo Team Candidates

New York, June 4.—(AP)—George H. (Pete) Bostwick, gentleman steeplechase rider and promising young polo player, today was added to the American polo squad training as candidates for the team to defend the international cup against the British challenge in September. Bostwick was invited to join the squad, making a total of seventeen candidates, as a result of fine play as No. 1 on a team led by Tommy Hitchcock, American captain, at the Sands Point club last Sunday. Bostwick and Hitchcock are cousins.

SCHMELING SETS SPEEDY PACE IN 8 ROUND DRILL

German Heavy Pounds 4 Sparring Partners.

BY HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Endicott, N. Y., June 4. — Max Schmeling today created a distinctly favorable impression upon this writer, beginning his so-called experting on the heavyweight title battle to be fought at the Yankee stadium on June 12. This favorable impression followed a public workout of the German-born aspirant for the world's championship. It was the more favorable because from many quarters had como opigions that Sharkey's ring experience and generalship would bewilder and outclass Schmeling.

All these reasons advanced in behalf of Sharkey may be true, but if they are, it will be a better Sharkey than I ever have seen fight. Schmeling, a charming host at his training camp this morning, was a businesslike young person when he boxed eight rounds with sparring partners in his training quarters ring at Enjoie park. During the proceedings, the sparring partners were considerably messed about although Max was supposed to be under a pull because of the presence at the ringside of Jack Conway from the Sharkey entourage.

"Chumps" Show Speed.

True, three of the four human punching bags opposed to the fast moving German were what is known in boxing parlance as "chumps," but if they lacked hitting power they did not lack speed. Both in speed and in aggressiveness, Schmeling looked good. He leaves himself rather open in his attack, but it was a ring axiom that any one could hit Jack Dempsey if Dempsey did not hit them first. At times, Max also looked as if a right cross might reach his chin. Against Sharkey, he will have to be careful in breaking from clinches, for the Bostonian knows ring tricks.

These possible weaknesses, if they be weaknesses, are mentioned lest one be carried away by a brilliant performance where a brilliant performance was not expected, even against men of only mediocre boxing ability. Yet in his weaving, different but bearing a resemblance to the familiar Dempsey weaving, one wonders where a chap who has figured in only two fights in this country acquired his ring lore. If Schmeling's work this afternoon was a fair sample, that bout next week will be an interesting and not a polite affair.

Max in Good Condition.

Schmeling apparently is in perfect condition. Despite his eight active rounds in sweltering weather he was not breathing hard at any stage. At its finish he did setting-up exercises for another five minutes. Max now weighs 189 pounds. He expects to enter the ring about 187 pounds. His hard work will be through by next Monday. Then he will remain at his quiet farmhouse camp across the Susquehanna river from town, taking just enough exercise to keep on edge until time to leave for New York.

Among those at the ringside were W. S. Kilmer, whose great money winning horse, Exterminator, is spending his last days at the farm near here; Andy Kerr, football coach, and about 50 newspaper men, photographers, and cartoonists, who are coming in droves with the approach of the fistic contest to determine a recognized successor to Gene Tunney.

SO THAT'S WHERE YOU PLOUGHED INTO THE GUY WITH THE RED WHISKERS!
I DON'T SEE HOW YOU DONE IT. KAYO SAID HE HAD THE RIGHT-OF-WAY.
YES-BUT YOU SEE I HAD MY CAR.

Sharkey Camp Trims News to Fit Any Writer

box heads reading "training camp dottings." He states that his boy Norman is pretty well rounded by now, except in the matter of cynicism or pessimism.

This all makes for convenience and leisure in the covering of a prize fighter's training camp. There are a great many interesting people to be interviewed for background and future material, such as Corbett, Benny Leonard, Jack Curley, and Jimmy Hussey, the comedian. I went down the road a stretch with Mr. Curley and obtained some interesting matter about Jess Willard which will go well in a novel that I am going to write some day, but it took ten leisurely beers to get this material and naturally, time was scarce when I got back.

"Have you got anything about millionaires and governors and great big railroad president engaging special trains to come on from Chicago, Los Angeles and Seattle?" I asked.

"Well, I can get you about two feet of that," said Norman, "but it isn't the best stuff. That won't be really ready until Saturday. But what about Gus Wilson comparing Sharkey with Carpentier? I've got about thirty inches just coming off the machine."

"No," I said, "Thanks. I'll try rolling my own."

"Well," said Norman, "If you're planning to need some help any time, just leave your name and let me know what kind of stuff you want and how much."

Michigan Streams Provide Haven for Trout Anglers

BY BOB BECKER.

Presque Isle River, Upper Peninsula, Mich., June 4.—There are a number of trout streams up here just beyond the Wisconsin-Michigan boundary, and they have produced some pretty nice strings of fish this season. If you will take the automobile drive from the town of Watersmeet to Marenisco you will see some of them, and, by traveling beyond Marenisco along the Presque Isle, you'll find more fishing country and several nice camping spots. Right now the trout are traveling all over these streams because the water still is cool. Later the red spots will check out of the more open sections and retire to the spring holes and creeks in order to find suitable "summer quarters."

Today, after we had picked up a mess of fish in the rough water above the town of Marenisco, we paddled with Ben, the push pole expert, who can stand in a canoe and hold 'er steady in the roughest water, downstream to a spring hole for lunch. This spring is below Marenisco a few miles. Under normal water conditions it is just above the level of the river. Farther down the river, along a gravel automobile road, there are several good camping spots and a stretch of river good for the wading angler. Swift water, pools, old snags, and some boulders make a dandy setup for the trout. This is the part of the Presque Isle that we like the best. Beautiful timber crowds close to the banks of the stream, which winds its way toward Lake Superior. You can get away from the highway and young bank fishermen. There are many of the later up here. It seems as if every kid in the country is a confirmed trout fisherman, and they sure do give the deep pools near Marenisco plenty of attention.

Slate river, a small, tumbling trout stream flowing into Lake Gogebic, is open this year after being closed by the state for some time. It has been producing plenty of fish, but most of them are small. Small stream—small trout. But it's a beauty for the fellow who likes to fool along a brook that flows through lovely timber.

WORLD MARK IS AIM OF ROTHERT, SHOT PUT CHAMP

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Hariow Rothert, Stafford university's intercollegiate shot put champion, heads the list of entries in this event in the ninth annual national collegiate track meet at Stagg field tomorrow and Saturday. Rothert's mark last Saturday at Harvard came within a half inch of tying the world mark made in the 1928 Olympic games. Rothert will also defend his title earned last year with a put of 50 feet 3 inches.

Eric Krenz, Rothert's teammate, is another consistent 50 foot shot putter in the national meet. Sammy Behr of Wisconsin and James Bausch of Kansas have done better than 49 feet this year.

Kuck Record Holder.

Rothert broke the intercollegiate mark last week with a toss of 52 feet ¼ inch and when he skips across the seven foot circle Saturday with the 16 pound weight, undoubtedly he'll be seeking to better the world mark held by John Kuck since 1928. Kuck's powerful arm established this record at 52 feet ¾ inches while he was competing for the Kansas State Teachers' college.

Krenz's best throw is less than a foot behind Rothert's. He was second in the intercollegiates a week ago with a toss of 51 feet 2⅝ inches. Then there's Sammy Behr, winner of the Big Ten championship and the best in the Western conference in 30 years. His record is 49 feet 1⅛ inches. Bausch won the Drake relay competition with a throw of the same distance in the finals to beat Hugh Rhea, Nebraska's star football tackle. Rhea had set the pace in the preliminaries with 48 feet 10 inches. At the Kansas relays Rhea was the winner over Bausch with 48 feet 6 inches.

Hamm Tops Jumpers.

Bob Hall of Southern California is another who will force the leaders. Hall has a season mark of 48 feet 10⅝ inches, made in a dual meet with California. Thornhill [Kansas], Roberts [Iowa], and Adams [Abilene Christian] can be counted on to better 45 feet consistently.

Ed Hamm of Georgia Tech, winner of the broad jump in the 1928 Olympic games with a leap of 25 feet 11⅛ inches, is headliner in this event Saturday. Silvio Cator of Haiti, who was second to the Georgian in the Olympics, kept this mark from being recognized by the international federation as the world's best.

Only once this year has Hamm been under 25 feet. He won the Penn relays with 25 feet 4¼ inches and a dual meet with Auburn with 25 feet 6 inches. In the southern relays he jumped 24 feet 9½ inches.

"WEAR LIGHTER CLOTHES"...

The theme song of summer

There's too much hot air, say the dress reformers. They're telling us that wool and worsteds generate heat, and that man's stuffy habits of dress are a menace to his health.

Well, millions of men knew years ago what these sages are saying today, and in their search for lighter clothes, they turned to Palm Beach Suits... Pounds lighter—made of yarns that generate coolness instead of heat. Open in weave to admit the energizing sun rays—washable, serviceable, shapely.

Why not join the "air men's" club. Give your body a chance to breathe. Seek out your clothier and ask him to show you those new Raised Weaves in Palm Beach. Very tweedy, but very light. Dark shades for nightfall—light shades for day. In suits with vests, and suits with knickers. Also Tennis Trousers.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES FIRM IN QUIET SESSION

Noblitt Sparks Advances Around 2 Points.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Quiet trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday resulted in moderate gains in a few miscellaneous issues, while most of the active stocks were steady and little changed from the previous day.

Sharing in the advance were Consumers, Noblitt Sparks, Electric Household, and Iron Fireman. Noblitt was up around 2 on fairly active trade. Friends of the issue say that business of the company is running ahead of a year ago. They point out that unfilled orders of the company on May 1 amounted to $1,912,317, as compared with $846,451 on May 1 last year. Similar favorable reports accompanied the movement in Electric Household.

May Enhance Values.

Consumers was strong on volume of about 3,000 shares, a comparatively large turnover for the issue. It is said that the $50,000,000 development plan of the National Steel corporation planned for the Gary district will enhance property holdings of the Consumers company in that area. The tract which National Steel will build on was purchased from Consumers several months ago.

Buying in Iron Fireman, which carried the stock up a point, was credited to west coast interests. The company's main plant and general offices are located in Portland, Ore.

Missouri-Kansas was actively traded in and a fraction higher at the close. Exchange governors yesterday approved the listing of 500,000 additional shares of the company's common stock.

Will Finance Expansion.

The stock has been sold to Frank E. Parish & Co. and proceeds will be used to help finance the company's expansion program. The company has placed a $1,000,000 order for fifteen 1,000 horse power compressors with the Copper-Bessemer corporation of Cleveland.

The governors also approved the listing of 225,000 shares of the preferred stock and 3,010,496 shares of no par common stock of the Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment company.

Listing of 100,425 additional common shares of United Printers and Publishers, Inc., was accompanied by announcement of the acquisition by the firm of the Magill-Weinsheimer company, Chicago; Springfield Leather Products company, Springfield company, Springfield, O., and the Bosca-Reed-Mackinnon company, also of Springfield.

Reaches High on News of Phone Property Purchase

Mid-West States Utilities "A" stock was a strong spot in the utility division on the New York curb yesterday, advancing more than a point to a new high of 28½ on announcement that an agreement has been made for the purchase of approximately $2,700,000 in additional telephone properties. When the properties are merged the Mid-West States system will include nearly 30,000 telephone stations serving a population of around 340,000.

News and Gossip of Stock Markets

Copper Buying.

As was to be expected, copper buying has fallen off materially during the last week or so. The rush of purchases following the cut in the price was of such large proportions that it is thought immediate consumer requirements have been well filled. Since there are no present indications of a rise in price, it is doubted that consumers will buy very far in advance. Foreign purchases, however, have been fairly well maintained.

Technicolor.

Technicolor has declined more than 30 points from its high of the year, and is not far from its low. If there is a pool behind it, as reported, it has not been overly successful of late.

Todd Shipyards.

Improvement in earnings can hardly be used as an explanation for the marked appreciation in Todd Shipyards during recent days, as the company has been distributing a large portion of its revenue as dividends. Todd pays $4 annually. Some traders are inclined to the belief that current activity reflects group operations.

BOND OUTLOOK BETTER; DEMAND IS CREEPING UP

Situation Reversed, Review Finds.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Just about a year ago, when the stock market was starting on its last wild upturn, somebody asked Andrew Mellon, secretary of the United States treasury, for his opinion on prudent investments. And Mr. Mellon, who also is one of the wealthiest Americans and a most astute banker, paraphrased the title of a current theatrical production in the dry remark, "Gentlemen prefer bonds."

Any one who took Mr. Mellon's advice must have been spared considerable grief later in the year when stock prices crashed. Mr. Mellon then favored bonds because prices of many stocks were too high, whereas bond prices were low and yields were relatively high. He remarked that it was easier to select a sound bond than a sound stock.

It would seem that many investors are beginning to accept such advice. Whereas flotation and public buying of new stock issues ran rampant last year, recently bonds have been making a relatively better showing. Although the demand for new issues of both stocks and bonds is smaller than a year ago, such demand as there is has become about equally divided between the two classes of securities. However, yields on bonds are about as favorable as a year ago, whereas the record of stock returns is less favorable.

Reviews Situation.

Some illuminating data on the present situation have been gathered by Lawrence Stern & Co., Chicago and New York investment bankers, and is presented in their monthly review.

"New issues of both stocks and bonds are meeting with a fair reception and certain high grade bonds offered at attractive prices have been quickly absorbed," the review says. "Public demand seems to be about equally divided between stocks and bonds, with bonds having a slight advantage. This reverses the April situation, when stocks were in slightly greater demand.

"Among different types of bonds by far the greatest demand is for the higher grade issues, with a persistent demand for convertible issues also frequently mentioned. Public utilities and municipal bonds appear to be in greatest favor, with some mention of railroad and foreign issues.

"The forecast of security houses throughout the United States as to the outlook in June for the bond market shows a considerable degree of optimism, with the majority expecting a fair to good demand. The outlook for stocks is not so promising, the forecast ranging from fair to good."

Below Normal.

The retail demand for stocks and bonds during May was considerably below normal and the volume of new public offerings showed a decline of about 15 per cent from April.

Total new offerings were about $767,700,000, compared with $900,700,000 in April and $1,133,500,000 in May, 1929. Bond offerings last month totaled $590,870,121, compared with $833,759,874 in April and $669,373,218 in May, 1929. Stock offerings totaled $176,871,360, compared with $216,985,494 in April and $464,135,097 in May, 1929.

The Lawrence Stern weighted [by volume] index of the average yield of new corporate securities at their offering prices continued to show a rising tendency in May, with the index standing at 5.93 per cent, compared with 5.43 per cent in April and 5.59 per cent in May, 1929.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 4.—Most of the legal formalities in connection with the proposed merger of Brompton-St. Lawrence Paper Mills and Lake St. John Power and Paper company into the St. Lawrence corporation have now been completed, it was reported today. Announcement is expected to be sent soon to shareholders of the three companies containing the formal offer from the new company of St. Lawrence corporation's stock for that of the common stocks of the various units, giving the date when St. Lawrence corporation preferred and common stock will be available.

Alton Stockholders Ask Foreclosure Suspension

Suspension of the foreclosure order against the Chicago and Alton railroad was asked yesterday in federal District court here by a group of common and preferred stockholders comprising the Alton corporation. The stockholders charge that their rights have not been properly looked after and that they have been discriminated against in favor of the road's bondholders. The complaint was filed by their attorney, Charles Clay Briggs.

Steel Merger Opponents Refused Big Salary Data

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 4.—Efforts of opponents of the billion dollar merger of the Bethlehem Steel corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company to learn what compensation is paid Bethlehem Steel officials met with a rebuff today when depositions of Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, and Eugene G. Grace, president, in a suit to prevent the merger were taken here.

E. G. GRACE

Pressed for answers by counsel for the plaintiffs, who allege that he is receiving more than $1,000,000 a year, Mr. Grace declined to divulge salaries or other compensation paid executives of the corporation unless forced to do so in actual hearing of the pending suit. It has been set for trial June 16 at Youngstown.

Cite Large Salaries.

In an amended petition in the suit filed at Youngstown yesterday, the plaintiffs charged that James A. Campbell, chairman of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube and one of the chief figures in the battle to put through the merger, "knew that for years past Bethlehem had paid in salaries and bonuses more compensation to its important officers than any other corporation in the steel industry."

It was charged, as one of the objections to the merger, that Mr. Grace, as president, received in the "guise of salary, and bonus, moneys and emoluments" in excess of $1,000,000 a year "for which he delivered an adequate service or consideration" and that other officials likewise were paid large amounts in the "guise of salary and bonus."

Examination of the Bethlehem Steel officials took place in the offices of Cotton & Franklin, attorneys, on Wall street. Suit to prevent the merger, which has been voted by stockholders, was brought in the name of Myron C. Wick Jr., owner of a block of Youngstown shares, and the International Share corporation.

Will Seek Show Down.

Mr. Schwab, whose testimony was brief, said his part in the merger negotiations was confined chiefly to an effort to obtain proxies for Youngstown shares owned by Julian Kennedy of Pittsburgh, a steel engineer, and that negotiations on behalf of Bethlehem had been carried on chiefly by Mr. Grace.

The question of compensation paid to Bethlehem Steel officials came up as Mr. Crawford and Mr. Day were attempting to draw out Mr. Grace on what promises, if any, had been made to Youngstown Sheet and Tube officials concerning posts with Bethlehem.

Ohio laws, according to Crawford, require corporations to disclose to stockholders what compensation is paid executives and Bethlehem records bearing on officials' salaries were asked for when Mr. Grace refused to answer a direct question about what compensation he had received last year. The records also were refused.

In an effort to prove that an unusually large share of Bethlehem's earnings have been absorbed in compensation to executives and that the facts in the matter had not been disclosed to Youngstown stockholders in the merger negotiations, attempts will be made to have the records produced and Mr. Grace examined on the matter in the approaching trial, counsel for the plaintiffs said.

SEE WALGREEN TIEUP BOON TO HARRISON SALES

As a result of the working agreement between the Walgreen company and Harrison's Heart o' Orange, Inc., officials of the latter organization estimate that approximately 4,550,000 gallons of orange drink, or 72,800,000 individual glasses, will be added to the orange firm annual sales volume. This estimate was based on a survey of 80 Harrison fountains installed in Walgreen drug stores in Chicago.

C. R. WALGREEN. [Moffett Photo.]

Within two weeks it is planned to have fountains in all the 125 Walgreen stores in the metropolitan district of Chicago. Present plans call for 700 units, or an average of one and three quarters fountain units per store. Under the agreement between the two firms, the Harrison corporation will supply all the orange drink sold from the fountain units. Charles R Walgreen is president of the drug chain.

U. S. GOV'T WILL NOT OBJECT TO GERMAN ISSUE, IT IS LEARNED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Assurances that the United States does not expect to offer any objections to the sale in this country of a third of the big German reparations bond issue to be floated shortly by the international bank set up under the Young plan have been given to the New York financiers who will handle the sales in this country, it was learned today.

State department officials said that the New York bankers are expected to make formal inquiries within the next few days as to the attitude of the government toward the sale of the German bonds in this country. It was intimated that, unless unforeseen developments arise, the bankers will be informed officially that this government will not object to the bond issue.

The total bond issue to be floated is $300,000,000, of which $100,000,000 will be offered to the American public.

Ogden National Bank to Pay Initial on New Stock

Directors of the Ogden National bank yesterday placed the new $20 par value stock on a $1.20 annual basis by declaring an initial quarterly dividend of 30c. This action maintains the $6 annual rate paid on the old stock, which recently was split on a five for one basis.

Candy Makers Authorize New Research Institute

BY SCRUTATOR.

The candy industry in the United States, currently estimated to absorb 750 million dollars of retail purchasing power yearly, is going on a scientific basis. Members of the National Confectioners association, meeting at the Stevens hotel yesterday, authorized steps to establish a candy research institute.

Primarily the institute will seek to find better methods of manufacture and more reasons why the consumption of carbohydrates in the form of candy is beneficial to humankind.

Until recently, say three or four years ago, candy as a food was on the defensive a good part of the time. About 1925, according to records of the confectioners' association, 25 per cent of all the printed matter appearing about candy was designed to cut down consumption. It is asserted that this proportion has fallen to 1 per cent.

Adopt Ad Campaign.

An advertising campaign was adopted to combat the original unfavorable impressions and is regarded by the trade as having been entirely effective. It is planned to carry the work even farther. Attempts will be made through the new institute or other scientific organizations to prove that some of the materials used in candy-making are themselves health giving.

Dr. Stroud Jordan, chemist for a New York concern, pointed out that erythrosine, the synthetic red color used in many candies, is 52 per cent iodine; but that no one has yet demonstrated that this iodine is assimilable. He added that there should be no prejudice against artificial coloring which was just as pure and harmless as the kind nature makes.

Inquiries of some of the 1,000 delegates attending the convention brought the general opinion that the cigaret advertising campaign designed to substitute smoking for sweets had passed over without particular harm and that the incident was closed, so far as this association is concerned.

Candy is now consumed in the United States at an average of 12 pounds per person annually. The manufacturers' prices make this output figure at close to 300 million dollars worth. Lumping all the types, Illinois alone produces something like fifty million dollars worth of this.

Shows Wide Appeal.

The wide appeal of candy is shown by comparisons of sales of various grades. More than thirty million dollars worth of the fancy, more than $1 a pound kind, is sold every twelve months. On the other hand, penny goods, which sold at an average of about 15 cents a pound in 1928, account for nearly as much spending. One of the important trends in the business of late has been the increasing sales to chain stores.

It is claimed that candy has more retail outlets than any other commodity. Even more emphasis is being placed on getting the retailers to push sales than is devoted to improvement in manufacturing.

RECEIVERS FOR PUNTA ALEGRE SUGAR NAMED

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Receivers in equity were appointed for the Punta Alegre Sugar company, one of the four leading Cuban sugar producers, in federal court today.

The receivership was ordered on petition of J. Z. Horter, creditor for $44,056. James R. Sherfield, William C. Douglas, and the Irving Trust company were appointed receivers.

Failure of the company, whose liabilities consist of $4,000,000 first mortgage debenture bonds, the principal and interest of which were defaulted June 1, 1929, was attributed in the petition to the abnormally low price of sugar during the last two years.

New York, June 4.—The big brokers of Wall street gave their tired brains a further rest today. Bears made a mild mannered effort or two to unsettle the list by rapping at U. S. Steel and other recognized leaders, but with the weather what it was, couldn't seem to muster enough energy to create much of a fuss. Indeed, their efforts brought enough short covering to boost most of their targets to fractionally higher levels. They had that effect with Steel, with Radio, General Motors, Johns-Manville, and American Can, among others.

The movements of the pivotals furnished the key to the day's operations as a whole. Stocks generally—industrials, oils, motors, coppers, utilities, specialties, and what not—alike beat a narrow course, with little of importance anywhere to chronicle for the edification of whom it may concern. The total of transactions was announced at 1,694,020 shares—still another new low record for the two year period dating back to the mid-summer of 1928.

Money Is Easier.

Money, if anything, was a bit easier, with further shading of rates on time loans reported and with demand funds available on the outside in substantial volume at concessions from the official 3 per cent rate. As for news—there wasn't any to speak of.

1930—A Prosperous Year for "Northwest Engineering"

IN a year when American industrial activity is proceeding with marked hesitation, corporations, as Northwest Engineering Company, whose business shows no slackening, should be of significant interest to investors. Northwest Engineering Company is the largest exclusive manufacturer of excavating and material handling machinery of the crawler or caterpillar type. Its products are generally recognized as having the most diversified uses in this particular field.

Sales have increased in each year of the Company's history. 1930, on the basis of progress to date and prospective demand for the remainder of the year, promises to exceed 1929, the best year in the Company's history. In 1929 earnings available for the common stock amounted to $4.81 per share. At the close of last year current assets were equivalent to eleven times current liabilities.

Several factors have resulted in an increasing demand for equipment such as that produced by Northwest Engineering Company. The United States is engaged in the largest road building campaign in its history. Such important enterprises as the Mississippi Flood Control project, and the Chicago World's Fair, are being pushed with great energy. The railroads, public utilities, and large industrial concerns have but recently outlined extensive construction programs. All this seems to indicate that Northwest Engineering Company is on the threshold of the most prosperous years of its history.

This Company's common stock, which is listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange and New York Curb Exchange, pays $2 per share annually and at current market levels is selling at less than 7 times last year's earnings.

PARTIAL BREAK IN DROUGHT HITS WHEAT PRICES

Southeastern Missouri Harvest Begins.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The finish was within a fraction of the bottom with net losses of 2⅛@2¼c, July being $1.05@1.05⅝ and September $1.08⅝@1.08¾. Sellers of bids were forced to protect themselves on the way down, and numerous stop loss orders were caught.

Harvesting of winter wheat was reported as having started in southeastern Missouri and with favorable weather is expected to be general within a week. There was little in the general run of the news that was construed as bullish.

More Rain Needed Shortly.

Official reports covering the areas that received moisture showed that the latter was largely in the way of showers, and that more rain would be needed in the immediate future. In parts of the Canadian northwest rainfall during April and May is well below the total of last year, when drought was severe, and in the last few weeks Alberta has received little or no rain. Good rains were received in parts of western Nebraska and Kansas which will be beneficial, while in Texas where harvesting is on, clear and cool weather prevailed.

Foreigners continue to show little disposition to take the buying side of cash wheat, and no sales of consequence were reported at the seaboard. Liverpool, however, was ⅛@¾d higher in sympathy with the upturn in Chicago on Tuesday.

Corn Eases With Wheat.

Scattered commission house buying appeared in corn early, giving the market a small advance, but when wheat weakened corn followed and the close was at net losses of ½@1c with July, 81@81⅛c, and September, 81⅞@82c. Trade was light and the market easily influenced. There was a marked revival in the shipping demand, with sales of 189,000 bu to the east.

Unfavorable crop reports from Missouri, where a near failure is expected in some sections due to drought, had little effect on the oats market. Prices were firm early, but weakened later and finished ⅛@⅝c lower, July closing at 40¼c and September at 39⅝@39¾c.

Bulk of the trade in rye was in spreading operations with wheat and corn, and between the various deliveries. Closing trades were ⅞@1¼c lower, July being 62c and September 66¼d.

ATKINSON TO SERVE 22D TERM WITH EXCHANGE

Charles T. Atkinson was elected to serve his 22d term as chairman and secretary of the governing committee of the Chicago Stock exchange at the organization meeting of the new board yesterday. Mr. Atkinson has held the office continuously since his first election in 1909.

Prices of Crude Rubber Futures Touch New Lows

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Prices of crude rubber futures dropped sensationally to the lowest point in the history of the New York Rubber exchange today. Losses ranging from 30 to 60 points were suffered by future months in both No. 1 standard and "A" contracts, reflecting the depressed condition of rubber in the world markets that has continued for some time.

URGES NEW LAWS TO STRAIGHTEN MORTGAGE MIXUP

BY AL CHASE.

Unless important changes are made in our real estate mortgage laws the easy flow of money into that form of securities may stop, with resulting higher interest rates and reduction in the size of loans, according to a warning sounded by Herbert W. Becker, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, at the regular monthly meeting last night of the Chicago real estate board. He declared that if the public learns of the major defects in our mortgage laws this knowledge will prevent many persons from investing in this kind of securities.

"It can be but a matter of time until the public will become thoroughly if not forcibly educated in regard to these defects," said Mr. Becker, "and will turn away from real estate mortgages in Illinois.

"Whatever may be the economic reasons for the decline in real estate and the consequent shrinkage in the value of real estate securities, the situation certainly has brought to light many legal defects in mortgage securities. In times like these it behooves all of us who are engaged in the real estate and mortgage business to ask ourselves how we may better the conditions which have so largely contributed to bring about the present real estate mortgage panic.

Flow of Money May Cease.

"While it is still true that real estate mortgages are the soundest and safest investments which can be made, unless some very material changes are brought about in our laws it is not inconceivable that the easy flow of money into mortgages may cease.

"Briefly stated, the major defects concerning which legislation is imperative fall into four classes. First, a real estate mortgage should by statute be made a lien from the date it is recorded instead of from the date upon which the money is actually advanced thereunder.

"The second great defect and infirmity in mortgages concerns their lack of negotiability. The third important defect concerns the question of mechanic's liens. It may be difficult to make any changes here which affect a large class of people such as the laboring class for whose benefit the mechanic's lien laws were passed, but, nevertheless, some changes in our statutes could be made without seriously impairing their rights.

Illinois is Slowest State.

"The fourth major trouble in the mortgage business has to do with foreclosures and redemptions. A comparative study of the methods of collection of mortgages in Illinois and in other states reveals the startling conclusion that it is more difficult to collect a mortgage in Illinois and takes longer than in any other state in the union. Legislation is certainly needed to simplify the collection of mortgages.

"Hand in hand with this situation are the ridiculous periods of redemption allowed by our laws. In the New England states redemption periods vary from sixty days to six months. In this day and age of speed in everything, there is no occasion why an owner should have a whole year in which to redeem his property and judgment creditors three months thereafter and persons served by publication three years after the decree is entered against them."

Chrysler May Shipments Are 40,644; Hudson, 12,779

Chrysler corporation shipped 40,644 units in May, compared with 37,491 units in April. May shipments this year were 74 per cent of the same month last year, the best relative showing this year to date. Hudson shipments to dealers during May totaled 12,779 Hudson and Essex cars. For five months shipments were 81,741 cars, against 194,570 cars in the like 1929 period.

REVEAL PLANS FOR TWO PIPE LINE PROJECTS

Programs Call for Outlay of $30,000,000.

Plans for two large pipe line projects costing approximately $30,000,000 were revealed yesterday. The two separate programs, each involving an outlay of approximately $15,000,000, will supplement the existing facilities for piping gasoline and crude oil from the southwest to points in the middle west. Companies involved are the Standard Oil of New Jersey and the Phillips Petroleum company.

The Standard company, it was learned, has completed plans for the laying of twin ten inch pipe lines some 300 miles long from a point just south of Tulsa, Okla., to a point on the Wood river in Illinois, about 23 miles north of St. Louis.

Subsidiary Formed.

A subsidiary known as the Ajax Pipe Line company is understood to have been formed to undertake the construction of the line, which will connect with the pipe line systems of the Illinois lines controlled by the Standard Oil of Ohio, at a cost of around $15,000,000. Standard of New Jersey now uses the lines of the Prairie Pipe Line company to bring its oil from that part of the midcontinent field eastward to the Illinois line system.

The move is looked upon as signalizing a new alignment of oil interest in this area. Those familiar with the situation see in the development the severance of the last physical connection between Standard of New Jersey and the Prairie interests and as destined to work for a closer affiliation between Standard of New Jersey and Standard of Ohio.

Starts Construction.

In a letter to stockholders the Phillips Petroleum company states that it has started construction of a $15,000,000 pipe line for the transportation of gasoline from the Texas Panhandle to Wichita, Kansas City, St. Louis and intermediate points.

This line will be built and operated by a new subsidiary, Phillips Pipe Line company. It will be 800 miles long, the longest gasoline line ever built, and the first to be built in the midcontinent area. It will be constructed of 8 inch pipe, for which a contract has been let to the Republic Steel corporation. The laying of the pipe will begin in about 30 days. The line will be operated by ten pumping stations.

Pipe lines have heretofore been used largely for the transportation of crude oil and natural gas, although Standard of New Jersey has converted old lines exchanging from New York to western Pennsylvania into gasoline lines.

Sugar Now at 10 Year Low; Silver Drop Continues

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Leading sugar refiners cut their prices 1-5 of a cent today for the second time in a fortnight, reducing the wholesale price to 4½ cents a pound, the lowest in about ten years.

Silver continued to seek new all time low levels. The New York quoted price dropped one cent to 34 cents an ounce, and London to 15 13-16d, off ½d.

MINN.-MOLINE IMPLEMENT.

Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company in the quarter ended March 31, 1930, reported an increase of 21.5 per cent in sales over 1929, excluding sales of structural steel, unit motors, miscellaneous foundry contracts, and similar items.

CeCo Manufacturing.

I wish to inquire in regard to CeCo Manufacturing company stock, listed at the present price around 13½ to 14, whether in your opinion it is a safe, sound investment, and what its prospects are. CeCo Manufacturing company stock was recommended to me some time ago at around 20, but I did not buy then.—K. F.

CeCo Manufacturing company, makers of a complete line of radio tubes, for the year ended March 31, 1930, reported net loss of $97,535, against net profit of $389,050 in the preceding year. The poor showing in the latest period was accounted for by the president in his report to stockholders as being due to extraordinary expenditures for development and research, as well as plant improvements and advertising.

The amount spent for those purposes was written off during the year. Many of these items are nonrecurring and may result in additional earning power.

One result of the research work is a new type of radio tube. This is a five element vacuum tube, known as pentode. It is said to be more powerful than the screen grid tube and to make possible lower manufacturing costs. It will probably be some time, however, before this tube can be marketed on a large scale.

For the year ended March 30, 1930, the company reported net sales of $1,758,319, against $1,348,134 the year before. In April, 1930, it was reported that March s

The market for hogs improved yesterday soon after a steady to 10c lower opening, and closing sales were mostly 5@10c above the general selling of the previous day. The demand centered on medium and heavy stock, bringing light and weighty hogs closer together.

The extreme top at $10.50 showed little loss on the early weakness, while the general average held steady at $10.20. Shipping demand was lighter, and, with competition lacking on first rounds, smaller local houses held back in hopes of lowering their Tuesday costs. However, all interest bought freely at the strength in mid-session and later, when larger packers boosted their bids 5@10c more. Only 4,000 remained at the close.

Little change was noted in the market for hog futures yesterday. Sales were in line with the recent high spot. Lightweights for September delivery sold at $10.50 and mediums at $10.40.

June light and mediums were offered at $10.40@10.60. Bids of $10.30 on September heavy grades were turned down by sellers. Lightweights for today's delivery were bid $10.50 on the "to arrive" market.

The largest mid-week cattle receipts of the year, at 11,000, broke prices 25@40c yesterday. Buyers enjoyed more advantages. However, with only 7,000 estimated for today, some salesmen were refusing to release their holdings at the sharply lower bids on the strength of the broader demand from eastern points lately.

Lambs were sorted closely at 25@50c lower prices yesterday. Buyers discriminated against all plain quality. Culls were slow sellers at prices $1.50@3.00 lower than a week ago. "Tops" brought $12.00@13.00, with culls at $8.00@9.00.

A string of lambs from California at $13.00 compared with $13.25 kinds Tuesday. Aged sheep carried better quality and showed 25c declines, choice California ewes going to Armour at $5.50.

Yearlings, however, held firm in spite of the break in all other classes. Prime yearling wethers sold at $10.00 @10.75. There was some inquiry for feeding lambs at steady prices.

NOT ONE

There isn't an investor who would not prefer to have his money earn 6% instead of 3, 4, or 5% if he could be sure of that one important factor, SAFETY.

Dobry bonds are unusually safe because the payment of principal and interest is guaranteed by two old line, legal reserve surety companies.

CHINESE REPORT NEW MANCHURIA RAIDS BY RUSSIA

Action Follows Deadlock of Moscow Parley.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 4.—With the Moscow conference between China and Russia on the Chinese Eastern railroad apparently hopelessly deadlocked, the soviets have reverted to direct action on the northern Manchurian frontier as a means of bringing the Chinese to terms, according to reports from Harbin today.

The Nationalist government charges the soviets have raided the town of Taheiho in Chinese territory opposite Blagovyeshchensk and carried away a number of Chinese and also a large amount of farming machinery.

While the government has officially denied that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Nationalist government, was wounded Chinese papers here allege the generalissimo's left arm was shattered by a revolver shot fired by one of Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang's plain clothes men.

A report from the front tonight stated that Gen. Chiang is temporarily transferring his headquarters to Hankow in order to take personal charge of the campaign against the Kwangsi rebels. Japanese reports tonight claimed that Kwangsi rebels had captured Changsha in eastern Hunan, thus preparing to threaten Hankow.

Report Nationalists Defeated.

SHANGHAI, June 4.—(AP)—Nationalist government forces were defeated today in heavy fighting both in Honan and Shantung provinces, said Japanese dispatches, and retreated before northern alliance rebels. Four hundred thousand men are battling in this area.

HUGO PAM ESTATE IS $40,000; LOSES $750,000 TRUST

The will of Judge Hugo Pam of the Superior court was filed in Probate court yesterday, disposing of an estate of $40,000. The judge, a bachelor, died last Thursday in New York. Had he lived three weeks longer the estate would have included $750,000 which was left in trust to him by the will of Attorney Max Pam, his brother.

Max Pam left an estate of $2,500,000, placing it in trust for Judge Pam and his sisters, Carrie Pam, Sarah Pam Blumenthal, and Julia Pam Bear. The trust was created on June 17, 1925, with the provision that the end of five years the beneficiaries should receive the principal. The judge's death three week before that date turns his share over to his sisters.

Judge Pam's will gives the estate to relatives and to several charities. Among the charity gifts are $1,000 to the Sunset Camp for Cardiac Work, $2,000 to agricultural relief in Palestine, $1,000 to the Civic Music association, $1,000 to the Art institute, and $1,000 to the Associated Jewish Charities.

ABANDONS BABY, BUT PROMISES TO RETURN JULY 1

Pinned to the dress of a blue eyed baby girl, abandoned yesterday afternoon by her mother in a room of the Norford hotel, 1510 North Crawford avenue, was a note, reading:

"My husband died last November, soon after the child was born. Since then I have had a difficult time caring for her. I am going back to Iowa and work until I get enough money ahead to feed and clothe her properly. I will return for her July 1."

The note was addressed to the Chicago day nursery, 2801 Foster avenue. The Austin police took the baby there and the management promised to care for her until the mother returned.

RISKS 30 PRISON YEARS TO AGAIN SEE AGED MOTHER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—For the privilege of embracing his aged mother "once more before she died," Aristede Granitelli, a convict, risked an additional thirty years in prison, it was learned today.

Serving a 15 year sentence for robbery, he voluntarily confessed a counterfeiting job and also divulged that he had been in jail before for robbery. This latter would automatically have made him liable to a longer term as a second offender. He knew he would have to be brought back to New York for resentencing. That happened today.

Granitelli's mother, 78 years old, was assisted into the Tombs prison by her two daughters. He was denied the privilege of embracing her, being compelled to talk to her through a heavy steel screen.

"I lost," he said. "I didn't get to hold her in my arms. But just seeing her was worth it. I'll gladly pay the price."

EIGHT MONTHS' BURGLAR HUNT REWARDS WOMAN

For eight months Mrs. Edith Wallace and her daughter, Mary, of 3410 West Ohio street, attended the showups at the detective bureau. Every Sunday and Wednesday night they were on hand, hoping to identify the man who robbed them last Oct. 1 of $600 in cash and clothing valued at $1,000. Last evening they were successful.

Joseph Cantanese, 26 years old, who earlier in the day had been identified as a murderer, was singled out by Mrs. Wallace and her daughter as the man who robbed them. George Ciziauskas, proprietor of a grocery at 1458 West 15th street, also identified Cantanese as one of the four men who held him up and obtained $260 and two shotguns four days ago.

Cantanese was arrested yesterday by a detective squad at his home, 2429 North Parkside avenue. Within an hour he had been identified by Mrs. Emily Erickson as the man who shot and killed her husband, Albert, during a holdup of his Elmwood Park roadhouse last November.

1,500 ATTEND BANQUET FOR ALD. FEIGENBUTZ

Fifteen hundred guests attended a banquet in the Hotel Sherman last night in honor of Ald. William H. Feigenbutz of the 45th ward. Judges, lawyers, and business men and their wives applauded as the alderman was presented with a watch and chain to which was attached a diamond studded star.

No mention was made in the speeches of the controversy three weeks ago concerning an alleged attempt to force many street sweepers to buy $5 tickets to the banquet. Michael Carrozzo, business agent of the sweepers' union, at that time announced that none of the union members need attend. Following that announcement Ald. Feigenbutz declared that all the street sweepers might attend free so far as he cared.

SPIKES RUMOR OF SHAKEUP IN WAVE LENGTHS

Atlantic City, N. J., June 4.—[Special.]—No drastic changes are contemplated in the broadcasting wave lengths, Maj. Gen. C. McK. Saltzman, chairman of the federal radio commission, announced today, at a meeting of the Radio Manufacturers association in convention here this week in connection with the radio trade show.

"I want to spike many weird and fantastic reports, which have greatly disturbed the broadcasters," said Maj. Gen. Saltzman. "We are not on the verge of adopting rules that would upset the present allocation of wave lengths.

"I suggest the appointment of a director of broadcasting. His duty would be to receive all applications pertaining to broadcasting stations, and, with the engineering staff, study the national problems and submit recommendations to the commission."

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Harve a Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received just before sailing a letter from Hermione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment, and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants, and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him, and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked, but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says he thought Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in, only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid.

Geoffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He has already put an investigator on the case. When he takes her back to the Bender apartment he takes her in his arms as he says good night. Catherine responds to his kiss. He asks her to marry him, but she wants time to be certain of her feelings. On the way to her room she hears Germaine sobbing and goes to her. She retires hurriedly on Jeanne's return. Next morning Catherine is violently ill and the doctor is called in. On recovering, Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister at Fontainebleau.

Geoffrey investigates two letters purported to have been written by Germaine to ascertain if they are forgeries. He suspects Blom, the mysterious person seen around the Bender apartment, of stealing the missing pictures.

INSTALLMENT LVIII.

THE MYSTERIOUS NOTARY.

Once more Geoffrey sought a possible connection between Blom's mysterious pilgrimage and the pursuit of Mme. Baron immediately afterwards, arriving for the second time at the conclusion that the notaire had hit on the milliner's savings as a means of furthering his ends.

"By jove, I shouldn't wonder if we'd hit the trail at last. The servants are selling him those pictures, and he is planning to set himself up as a dealer. The thing to do now is to notify the police of Bordeaux, give them a description of Blom, and have all outgoing boats carefully watched. I'll telegraph to Bernard to attend to this at once."

He did so, sending the wire to the address on the agent's letter.

Late Friday afternoon he was hard at work when the office factotum announced M. Bernard. Leaping up in astonishment, Geoffrey beheld the agent, adorned with a bowler hat green with age and a black muffler wrapped round his cavernous neck.

"So you've come back! Did you get my telegram?"

"Yes, monsieur. I informed the Bordeaux police, and will forward them a description of our friend, with a photograph, if obtainable. But I regret to state I have not been able to discover anything more regarding the paintings. He has covered his tracks too well. All we can do is to warn the port authorities."

"Do I know it?" cried the other excitedly. "It's the family name of Mme. Bender herself."

Geoffrey was conscious of considerable disappointment.

"Yet you still hold the opinion that he means to take them out of the country?"

"I assume so, monsieur, but I confess there is little to support the theory. All my inquiries led me to was a series of record offices, one after the other. I have spent the last two days interviewing the archives officials in three small towns trying to ascertain what object Blom had in mind. At last I found it, but I am afraid it will tell you little. It seems that the man was seeking particulars about a family apparently extinct in the district—a family by the name of Dieulefit."

"Dieulefit!" The young man jumped as though not.

"You know the name, then?"

"Do I know it!" cried the other excitedly. "Why, it's the family name of Mme. Bender herself! My God, Bernard, don't you see what it means? The fellow is searching for an heir to our client's estate!"

The solemn eyes regarded him with interest.

"Then you think he has not stolen the pictures at all?"

Geoffrey frowned in confusion.

"I can't say. No—yes—— At any rate, this business has nothing to do with theft. He's got something quite different up his sleeve . . . I've got to think this out. I'll let you know if I shall need you further."

Over a solitary meal at a restaurant Geoffrey argued the question out to a tentative conclusion, his legal knowledge providing him with a clew. He knew that when a person of property died intestate it was the custom to look about at once for the next of kin. If the search proved difficult, any one furnishing information as to the missing heirs invariably received remuneration for his services, based on a percentage system. Where the fortune was a large one, the commission might run to a considerable sum—well worth scheming to obtain.

Undoubtedly, Blom, in his capacity of legal adviser to the Bender servants, was in a position to know certain useful facts. He could easily be aware of Mme. Bender's former name, of the probability of her dying intestate, and of the precarious state of her health. Armed with his knowledge he might very naturally wish to locate some remote connections of the ill woman in order to be first in the field to claim the said commission.

Now at last he began to see daylight. He understood Blom's anxiety to make sure whether a will had been executed, since if that were the case his hopes vanished automatically. Probably also he suspected Jeanne's private machinations, and had tried to put a stop to them by the threats Catherine had overheard, knowing they would foil his own scheme. It all fitted in with surprising ease.

All at once Hermione Cushing flashed across his mind. What if the notaire was after all representing her? As the oldest friend of Mme. Bender, she was more likely than any living person to be acquainted with the latter's antecedents. Perhaps it was she who had supplied Blom with the facts to go upon, meaning to go halves with him in the commission; or perhaps—and now was a totally new idea—she herself might have French blood in her veins, and unknown to any one possess some shadowy claim which she wished to substantiate.

A sudden determination seized him. Quitting the restaurant hurriedly, he jumped into a taxi and in ten minutes was climbing the stairs to the singer's apartment, bent upon taking the singer unawares and propounding her a few blunt questions. A bit brutal, that! He risked branding himself as an officious and impertinent ass. Yet feeling he must know once and for all whether Miss Cushing had any connection with Blom in the matter, he was shamelessly taking this course because he was sure the lady's emotional temperament could not withstand a frontal attack.

The door opening to his ring, he found himself confronting a spectacled dragoon who regarded him severely, a steel thimble on her roughened finger, and a lady's chemise of dimension suitable for a baby elephant draped over one arm.

"Monsieur Macadam?" said the domestic, her stern visage softening.

Clearly she knew who he was. Indeed there was probably little of her mistress' affairs she did not know. She warmed, becoming communicative.

Mademoiselle was dining in the Faubourg St. Germaine, after calling on her friend, Mme. Bender. If monsieur cared to leave a message . . . But Geoffrey was already murmuring a refusal, half way down the stairs.

He felt curiously at a loose end, his brain revolving the new information and burning to impart it to the person most likely to be interested. A glance at his watch told him it was barely 9 o'clock. Why not drive to Fontainebleau and talk the thing over with Catherine? He could be there in little more than an hour.

In record time he alighted in the broad, quiet street outside his sister's dwelling, and a second later burst unceremoniously into a somewhat somnolent family group lounging before a wood fire.

Elspeth looked up with surprise.

"Geoff! You did give me a start. What's up?"

"Where's Catherine?" he inquired shortly.

"Gone? Where? Why?"

"That's all. She's left us this evening. On the 10:45, to be exact. What's the excitement about?"

"I don't understand you. She knew I was coming to fetch her tomorrow afternoon. Why this sudden change of plan?"

"Don't be silly. It was quite unexpected, of course. On the evening's post she had a letter from some friends of hers who are crossing to Dieppe tonight and arriving in Paris early tomorrow morning. They are only stopping over a couple of hours, and want to see her. She would go."

Still he stared at her, visibly disconcerted and annoyed.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

Here's a case where many cooks did NOT spoil the broth. "Paramount On Parade" is the best revue screened up to date and it had twelve directors, not including Elsie Janis, who supervised the job, and David Bennett, who intelligently cared for the ensembles.

Technically the production is smooth as strained honey. The twenty numbers of which it is composed merge easily one into the other, with never an awkward lapse to break the continuity of the whole. The three masters of ceremonies, Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher, and Leon Errol, perform their duties with polish and a most delightful lack of ostentation. Technicolor effects are gorgeous. Songs are many and hummable. Photography, staging, and costumes are all the heart could desire. Comedy is adroit and laugh provoking.

The players listed above hand you the best they have, and, in the main, that best is excellent. I was partial to the skits featuring George Bancroft, Maurice Chevalier, little Mitzi Green, who gives remarkably clever imitations of the Frenchman and Charles Mack; Jack Oakie and Zelma O'Neil; loved the "Dream Girl" number, in which appear Gary Cooper, Mary Brian, Fay Wray, James Hall, and other popular players, and assure you you'll laugh over nonsense provided by Leon Errol in his act and by those redoubtable fellows, William Powell, Clive Brook, Warner Oland, and Eugene Pallette, who have respectively created Sherlock Holmes, Philo Vance, Fu Manchu, and Sergeant Heath on the screen for you. I was least impressed by the work of Ruth Chatterton and Clara Bow, though the numbers in which they appear are interesting.

See you soon.

Edits Poe Memorial with Chisel, But May be Forgiven

Baltimore, Md., June 4.—(AP)—The man who edited with a chisel the Edgar Allan Poe verse on the Poe memorial in Wyman park here today was given a recommendation of leniency by the city park board.

To the defense of Edmond Fontaine, the tree surgeon and poetry lover who chiseled a superfluous "s" from the word "mortals" in the verse from "The Raven," had come the distinguished namesake of the poet, the president of the Maryland Poetry society, and others.

Fontaine is to be arraigned Friday before a magistrate on a charge of defacing public property. The park board repeated the recommendation of the second Edgar Aallan Poe that "the public interest will not suffer by a dismissal of the case."

The poet's namesake is a former president of the Baltimore Bar association and one of the six Poes who made athletic history at Princeton.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

If you were graduating from college this June, what would you like most to do for a living?

The Answers.

Burt Abrams, 5467 Ellis avenue, student—I should like to make a trip to the Catskill mountains and study social conditions. After that survey I would aid the boys of my fraternity in eradicating social evils. That is my pet hobby. Having satisfied my desire to aid humanity, I should resume my study of law.

Morrie Orman, 6052 Ingleside avenue, student—I am finishing my law course, but dropping law in favor of advertising. The advertising game can use plenty of men to help to get money out of the public. Me for that game.

Samuel E. Dashow, 5428 Ridgewood court, Crane student—When I get through at college I'd like to do something in music, writing it or playing in an orchestra. But at present I should like to continue my work in accounting at the University of Chicago.

Mary Bernstein, 2858 N. Albany avenue, Crane student—After I have finished my course at college I naturally would follow the profession of teaching for which I am studying. However, if a nice young man appeared I might change that decision.

Mae Levy, 1030 N. Mozart street, Crane Junior college—If I were graduating from college this June I should like to continue studying for my chosen profession, law. Of course, being a woman, I have a right to change my mind.

Confederate Vets Likely to Hold Few More Reunions

Biloxi, Miss., June 4.—(AP)—Indications that "taps" will soon sound the end for annual reunions of soldiers of the Confederacy were given in discussions at the fortieth reunion today. Reports were that Montgomery, Ala., former capital of the Confederacy, would be the scene of next year's gathering and then another city would see the end of the meetings.

Heat of Streets Is a Contrast to Algonquin

Suggest You Send Some Poor Kids There.

With the hot weather apparently here to stay, tenement families were attempting to reconcile themselves last night to discomforts for the rest of the summer.

Heat, fretting babies, traffic throbbing past at all hours of the night, clanging street cars, and five or six children trying to get what little breeze there was through a single window—that was the situation in some of the homes not so far from the loop.

Think what you can do, readers, for these less fortunate Chicagoans! There's Camp Algonquin waiting up there on the Fox river for these tenement families. There is a large refectory where 500 can eat at one time, and buildings where that many may sleep the sleep of the vacationer from dark until dawn. We need your help to send these back o' yards families where they can really enjoy living, just as you do when you're spending golden hours in your own summer cottage away from the clanging city. Your $10 will send a vacationer to Camp Algonquin for two weeks.

Since acknowledgment of $500 given by an anonymous donor on Sunday, THE TRIBUNE has received the following gifts:

CAMP ALGONQUIN FUND.

Harriet Sayers Trust Fund	$22.50

Robert N. Macalister	10.00
Arlington C. Harvey	10.00
Total	$ 67.50
Previously acknowledged	$500.00
Grand total	$567.50

Yesterday's mails brought $5 each from the N-G-O circle and M. G. Stults. This makes, with $15 previously acknowledged a total of $25 in THE TRIBUNE free ice fund.

FREDERIC TELLANDER WINS TWO PRIZES, C. P. KILGORE ONE

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The prizes are announced today in the ninth annual exhibition of paintings and sculpture by the artist members of the Chicago Galleries association, 220 North Michigan avenue. The jury of awards, consisting of Mrs. Frances A. Barothy, Paul Schulze, Wilbur G. Adam, Frederick Victor Poole and Elmer A. Forsberg, met late Tuesday afternoon and passed judgment upon the exhibit.

Frederic Tellander was given the $1,000 prize for his superb "Arc de Triomphe." The second prize of $750 was awarded to a TRIBUNE man, Charles P. Kilgore, for his colorful and vigorous canvas, "Fiesta." The third prize was also won by Mr. Tellander, who if ever a leopard can successfully change his spots is that leopard. He goes from conservative into modernist painting with grace and ease and carries beauty and a sense of proportion and values along with him that bear him triumphantly over any and every weakness which riddles radical art. The third prize, $500, went to his "Solitude," a rolling and romantic stretch of melancholy country.

Awards of $400, $350 and $300 were made to the following artists: Oskar Gross, Francis Chapin, O. E. Berninghaus, Claude Buck, Carl R. Krafft, Carl C. Preussl, Maurice Braun, John A. Spelman, Stark Davis, Holger W. Jensen, Antonin Sterba, Gerald Cassidy, Charles P. Kilgore, Hanson Puthuff, Marshall D. Smith, Frank V. Dudley, J. Jeffery Grant, Davenport Griffen, Felix Russman and Tunis Ponsen.

The jury of awards for small sculpture, consisting of Miss Mabel Norman, Miss Josephine Kern and John Paulding, awarded the Mrs. E. Mansfield Jones prize of $200 to the delightful winged colt, "Baby Pegasus," by Elisabeth Haseltine and the Chicago Galleries prize of $200 to the exquisite portrait relief of a little boy, "Stanley," by Mabel Landrum Torrey.

Confederate Veterans' Reunions Near End; Cheer Reunited Nation

Biloxi, Miss., June 4.—(AP)—With the end of reunions probably only two years hence veterans today took their fun where they found it to make the fortieth reunion of the United Confederate Veterans one to stand out in memory.

A tentative agreement was reached for Montgomery to entertain the next reunion with one more being held in 1932 at Houston where taps would be sounded on these annual pilgrimages. They hailed a reunited nation and lauded their kindred's world war record.

The veterans paused in their merry-making when their commander in chief, Gen R. A. Sneed, mounted the rostrum.

"Great in war, you were even greater in peace," he said. "You wrested the land from the tragic era of reconstruction rule, with its reign of ignorance, mongrelism and depravity, and established once and for all on southern soil the incontrovertible doctrine of white supremacy.

"As loyal citizens of the reunited country, we can proudly claim in the light of achievements of the boys in khaki at Chateau-Thierry, the Argonne, Belleau Woods, that the sons anda grandson of the brave men who followed Lee and Grant, Jackson and Thomas had no superiors in ancient or modern history."

Present day reaction against older ideas as to the function of theological seminaries was voiced last night in the University of Chicago chapel by President Albert W. Palmer of the Chicago Theological seminary.

With colorful ceremonies and in the presence of official representatives from 46 universities and colleges and 38 theological seminaries Dr. Palmer was inaugurated president of the Chicago Theological seminary to succeed Dr. Ozora Davis, who becomes president emeritus. The inaugural ceremonies were presided over by John R. Montgomery, president of the board of directors.

Dr. Palmer pointed out early in his address that theological seminary's teaching should consider the future rather than the past, the reverse view formerly held by many leaders in the religious education field, he indicated. He then declared a seminary should be an "experiment station," its faculty "a research body pioneering the way into theological questions in this age when theology is coming into its own once more, into questions of personal religion."

Dr. Palmer declared the work of such an institution is to train young men and women who have offered themselves for professional Christian service.

"Note that I say women, as well as men," he declared. "This school is definitely coeducational. Frankly, we do not expect many of our women students to become pastors—and yet, why should not America develop a Maude Royden, as well as England? Most of our women students, however, will go out to be pastor's assistants and directors of religious education. Some of them may become pastor's wives. Why not give the minister's wife a training for her life work?"

Dr. Palmer also stressed the importance of a training that will prevent ministers from becoming cranks, fanatics and victims of easy formulas and shallow shibboleths. This protection, Dr. Palmer stated, would be accomplished by training ministers to remain in touch "with the field of social facts and forces at work in the modern world."

Dr. Palmer closed by saying that the well trained minister must be a preacher as well as a "social engineer, a physician of the soul, and a scholar."

Women were elected to the board of trustees of the seminary for the first time in the 75 years of its history. The two women selected from the 16 central and western states were Mrs. C. J. Chandler, Detroit, and Mrs. Frank M. Ferry of Winnetka. Leaders of the Congregational church are holding their 25th triennial convention in connection with the 75th anniversary exercises of the seminary.

New Yorkers Form Group to Eradicate That City's Slums

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—With former Gov. Alfred E. Smith as president, more than sixty prominent citizens who are officials of over twenty-five civic, welfare, and housing organizations officially banded together today into the Housing Association of New York, with the object of eliminating slums.

Coördinating the work of all existing housing groups, the new association will effect a program of housing betterment on a city-wide scale. Stimulation will be given to enterprises under state and city housing laws.

To remove "blighted districts" by slum clearance and new construction, to prevent the creation of new slums, to enforce existing housing laws, and to raise by additional legislation the legal housing standards are among the major policies of the association.

Through a subsidiary corporation to be known as the Housing Foundation, which will be capitalized at several million dollars, low cost housing enterprises and experimental demonstrations will be promoted.

The association hopes in time to make this a city of model housing for low income groups, white collar workers as well as laboring classes.

Business men, bankers, welfare workers, and trades union men are united in the new organization. It also has representatives of the leading political parties.

Woman's City Club Recalls Varied Efforts

The Woman's City club had a birthday party yesterday in honor of the opening of the new rooms on the ninth floor of the Tower building. The birthday cake gleamed with 20 candles, indicative of that many years of doing "better municipal housecleaning" by the members.

The past and present activities of the club were reviewed by four past presidents: Miss Sophonisba P. Breckinridge, Miss Harriet E. Vittum, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, now honorary president, and Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, and Mrs. Murry Nelson, present president. Miss Mary E. McDowell, a past president, was absent from the city.

These speakers told of the work accomplished: Furnishing information on elections and candidates through bulletins and meetings, conducting citizenship classes for the study of city and government, completed surveys on playgrounds and physical aspects of schools, and focused the attention of the board of education on unsafe school buildings.

It also secured the organization of the county rural health service, the leaders pointed out; aided in organizing the Cook county hospital training school for nurses, initiated the movement now resulting in a better housing association, cooperated with other civic groups in creating a city smoke inspection department, aroused public interest in the Farm Colony of Women, secured the promise of a beach at North avenue to relieve Oak street congestion, and was active in organizing the adult education movement in Chicago.

Minutes of the first organization meeting were read by Mrs. Edward L. Murfey, corresponding secretary, who was secretary of the first meeting, June 4, 1910. In those days women were referred to as "ladies," and it was apparent that woman's use of the ballot was thought to be a long way off.

Following the meeting, guests inspected the new quarters.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY PAUL POTTER

How to plan front, side, and rear yards to improve the appearance of newly built suburban home or to make better lawns and flower gardens for any home, on an average size lot, are questions answered in the newly revised Tribune booklet, "Flower Gardening," that will be sent to you by mail on receipt of 13 cents in stamps by The Chicago Tribune public service offices. Or it may be purchased directly for 10 cents.

Roses never were meant to be born to blush unseen, yet countless amateurs wonder each year if there is not some system to control and even prevent plant pests and diseases common to roses and which often make the flowers and plants nearly as much of an eyesore as of beauty.

A combination dust will do the work, says E. C. Volz, professor of horticulture at Iowa State college. He recommends one part dusting arsenate of lead, one part powdered tobacco and nine parts dusting sulphur. These ingredients are easily purchased and applied. Greatest effect is obtained if the dusting of the plant is done while the dew is on the foliage, repeating about once every two weeks.

Rose mildew, a fungus attack which appears as a white, powdery substance on the leaf surfaces, and black spot, or leaf spot, which appear as small black dots, can be controlled by spraying the plants with a solution containing one ounce of potassium sulphide to three gallons of water, or by dusting with powdered sulphur while the dew is on the leaves.

Stout Women Now Called "Women of Achievement," Ahem!

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

At a club gathering in New York a fashion show featured what its sponsors chose to call "The Woman of Achievement." If you think they were celebrating woman's achievement as bridge builders, foundry managers, political office holders, you're wrong!

The woman of achievement got club recognition as a woman of achievement just as the stylish stout got hers, or the unstylish. If you ask us, we think the former appellation a misnomer. The woman of achievement, to quote her titular sponsor, is the woman who has managed to appropriate to herself sufficient avoirdupoise, acreage, or embonpoint to make her imposing.

Again we must interrupt to remind that all large objects are not imposing. Some of them are grotesque, some ugly, and some merely ludicrous, while some, indeed, are imposing, as large women most certainly can be, and frequently are.

However, it's going to be a lot more agreeable to be accosted by a friend (?) on the street with "Why, my dear, you certainly are achieving" than to hear the hated "Darling, you are growing fat."

The idea in sponsoring the cause of the so-called woman of achievement is encouraging. It is to provide the woman who has achieved a 48 size bust with dress that will prevent her from looking as if she had robbed the sixteen size dress rack. The intention is to promote a scientific sizing movement for the benefit of the achievement girls. In a country where things are made in such tremendous quantities dress manufacturers here cater to youth and the silhouette of youth almost exclusively.

Style, in other words, is being asked to be its age and weight. A bit more scientific knowledge of line, color, and pattern is needed for the wardrobe of the woman of achievement, it is held. Women with a noticeable achievement of bust, waist, hips, or other local distinction are asked to look into the matter themselves and to use more patience and wisdom about clothes.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

F. V.: KEEP THE CUTICLE pushed back to show the half moons. If you can do so without cutting the cuticle, so much the better. If you cut into the skin hang nails will appear. Manicuring instructions may be had for a stamped addressed envelope.

S. M.: THE HAIR ON THE LEGS may be bleached with perodxie of hydrogen and household ammonia. To a tablespoonful of peroxide add a couple of drops of the ammonia. There are excellent depilatories for the removal of hair on the legs.

"Those dirty cellar steps are just DISGRACEFUL!"

Quick, get the GOLD DUST. It will clean them quick and safe without the use of grit.

DON'T put up with DIRT. You don't HAVE to. The cellar steps are EASY to keep clean when you go about it right.

Naturally, expensive CHIPS and FLAKES won't do such heavy work. They're not MEANT to. And those harsh, gritty cleansers that contain so little soap leave an unsightly deposit of GRIT after them.

But there IS a soap that's just MADE for jobs like that. It's Gold Dust, the safe, quick soap that so many women here are using.

There's more REAL SOAP in Gold Dust. That's why it cleans so quickly and so well. You don't scrub your fingers to the bone when you clean with Gold Dust. Gold Dust's high soap content does the work. It WASHES the dirt away.

Just go to your grocer and get one box of Gold Dust. Try it out . . . See for YOURSELF how quick it does away with dirty dirt. Don't accept anything that's supposed to be "just as good." Insist on the GENUINE Gold Dust for all heavy-duty cleaning, and housework will be an EASIER job. Gold Dust is at your grocer's now, in two convenient sizes.

Woodwork washed with expensive flakes or chips is apt to look gray and smudgy, not quite clean.

Quintin Gilbeys of London May Visit Chicago

BY THALIA

Dr. and Mrs. Otho Fisher Ball may have the pleasure of a visit this summer from their son-in-law and daughter, the Quintin Gilbeys of London, and their baby, Robin Alfred. The Gilbeys returned in April from a long stay in India, and are having a gay time during the current London season.

Mr. Gilbey first had planned to return to India this summer. His wife and Robin were to come to Chicago, afterwards joining him in the Orient, but the trouble in India seems to make that inadvisable, so they may all come here.

If they do, the Balls may take them out west for a trip. The summer plans for the Balls' son, Peter, who is in the next-to-the-last year at Lawrenceville, prep for Princeton, also are indefinite.

From London arrives the commentary that "Ranking with Lord Lonsdale and Lord and Lady Carnavan as England's most constant racegoers are Mr. and Mrs. Quintin Gilbey, who was Miss Elizabeth Ball of Chicago . . . She is generally considered to be one of the prettiest women in the paddock, and certainly one of the best dressed. Mrs. Gilbey was at all the Newmarket races, and, I understand, was lucky with the 'tote.'"

The book on which Mrs. Owen Barton Jones (she may be calling herself Mrs. Bridges Jones since her recent divorce, as her maiden name was Constance Bridges) has been working during the last year, while she lived in New York and had a job besides, now is on the bookstands. It is called "Thin Air, a Himalayan Interlude," and the announcement about it avers that it is "something altogether new in travel books, giving an account of a trip into a land of gods and veils, interwoven with a fascinating mystery story."

The Arts club's clubrooms will be closed for the summer on and after June 15 and will be reopened on Oct. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Brown have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Katherine, to Robert Lindsay Scott Jr., which is to take place on June 28 at St. Luke's Episcopal church, followed by a small informal reception at 144 Greenwood boulevard.

Miss Brown's attendants will include Mrs. William A. Murray [Hortense Page-Wood] of Highland Park as matron of honor, and as bridesmaids, Miss Mary Louise Hays of Wilmette, Georgia Lloyd of South Orange, N. J., Anne Robinson of Glenview, Alberta Woodruff, Dorothy Welch and Ruth Seanor of Evanston and Mrs. Donald W. Rogers [Margaret Scott] of Hubbard Woods. Donald W. Rogers will be best man, and Clarence B. J. Jones, Elmer P. Eldridge, J. H. Sheldon Lee, Frederick H. Scott Jr., Frank F. Fowle Jr., Norton M. Cross Jr. of Minneapolis, John and Richard Shoaff of Fort Wayne, Ind., will usher. The last four were fraternity brothers of Mr. Scott at Williams college.

The Clarence B. Mitchells and the Robert Hunters, who were in Chicago for a few days' visit before sailing for Europe, left yesterday for New York. The Mitchells were guests of Mrs. Mitchell's parents, the Charles Garfield Kings, during their stay and the Hunters and their children were with the John Payne Kelloggs.

The Chicago Society for Cultural Relations with Russia has issued invitations for a luncheon on Saturday at the Palmer house for Sergei Eisenstein, movie director.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellicott Evans, who have of recent years resided in Pasadena, Cal., have been in Chicago en route for the east since last week-end. The Charles H. Hamills gave a large luncheon for them on Sunday at the Saddle and Cycle club. Mrs. Evans is the former Mrs. John Lewis Cochran. Her son and daughter-in-law, the John Lewis Cochrans, are to spend the summer as usual at Mackinac island, where they occupy Mrs. Evans' former summer place.

Mrs. Samuel Insull is sailing tomorrow for a summer trip to Europe.

Elmer Stevens and his bride, the former Miss Harriet Straight, have returned from their honeymoon and are residing at the Kenwood hotel. They went on a motor trip through the southern states.

Mrs. Anson Cameron of 25 East Division street and the Cameron boys are to leave this week-end to spend the summer at Delavan Lake, Wis., after the closing of school tomorrow.

WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Seaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Milton Seaman, to George Newcombe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Newcombe of Geneva, Ill., took place at 8 o'clock last evening at the apartment of the bride's parents at 999 Lake Shore drive. The bride wore a long trained eggshell satin gown with seed pearl embroidery and an eggshell tulle veil.

The maid of honor was Miss Mary Seaman, who wore a gown of yellow lace. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Clifford Templeton, Miss Virginia Vilas, Miss Paula Wilms, Mrs. Herbert Paschen and Miss Alberta Newcombe, wore green lace frocks and carried bouquets of lavender sweet peas and yellow roses.

Glencoe Garden Club Show Draws Crowd; Praised for Beauty

The opening of the Kenilworth Garden club's two day flower show yesterday attracted hundreds of enthusiastic visitors who praised its beauty.

The assembly hall and the grounds surrounding it formed the background of the show, which was patterned after the Chelsea fair in London. The stage was arranged to represent a formal garden with a sunken pool, a fountain, statuary, and evergreens. A rock garden, designed by Mrs. Rufus Stolp, was built on the terrace, and dozens of brightly painted wheelbarrows filled with plants and flowers stood about the grounds.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover today was a luncheon guest of Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the secretary of labor, soon to retire. This is the first time Mrs. Hoover has gone from the White House to attend any function since her painful accident nearly two months ago.

The secretary of state and Mrs. Stimson, who returned here this morning from their home on Long Island, entertained a company at dinner tonight in honor of Dr. Enrique Olaya, president-elect of Columbia.

ENGAGEMENT

The engagement of Miss Maida Lillian Randall, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Edwin J. Randall of Evanston, to Drennan J. Slater, son of Mrs. Robert J. Slater of Evanston, was announced yesterday at a luncheon at the Illinois Woman's Athletic club. Miss Randall is a graduate of the Chicago Latin School for Girls and of Wellesley college. Mr. Slater was graduated from Dartmouth college and from Northwestern university law school.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Stove for Veteran's Family.

"Has any one a small laundry or 'monkey stove' he would be willing to give to a mother with four children? The father of this family is in the Veterans' hospital. The mother has recently moved and her own stove was so old it would not stand moving. She uses this type stove because it occupies little space and can be used for cooking and heating. J. S."

Shuberts Get Writ; Halt Broadcast by "Dr. Rockwell"

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—George Rockwell, actor known as "Dr. Rockwell," was restrained today by an order of Supreme Court Justice Valente from broadcasting tonight over WJZ in behalf of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company in a suit brought by the Shubert Theatrical corporation, on the ground that Rockwell is under contract to appear exclusively for the Shuberts. An application to continue the injunction pending the trial will be heard tomorrow morning.

An affidavit by Jacob J. Shubert asserted that the Shubert contract with Dr. Rockwell was made in 1927 at $1,250 a week and that it was continued later until Dec. 24 next at $1,500 a week for last year and $1,750 for the present year. Mr. Shubert said that the actor has been requested repeatedly to join one of his casts.

In addition to the injunction the Shuberts seek $100,000 damages from the actor for breach of contract.

Patterns by Clotilde

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

GIRL'S DRESS.

This smart dress for the sub-deb affects a peplum through the triple gathered ruffles. The circular skirt is finished with a ruffled edge, and the narrow belt gives the pinched-in waistline that is so girlish. Chiffon, lawn and crêpe de chine are lovely materials for this sort of a dress.

The pattern, 3439, comes in sizes 11, 13, 15, and 17 years. Size 15 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of 32 inch material for the collar and 1 yard of 39 inch material for the ruffles and tie belt.

Wear Your Flowers in Fashionable Location

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Study well the accompanying diagram. It will show you the considerable number of ways and locations in which the smart flowers of the summer season may be worn. Of course you know by now that you may wear either real or artificial flowers with practically every kind of costume. If they are artificial they are usually given a natural color scheme and effect.

When you start out in the morning with your trim navy blue tailored suit on ready for a strenuous day tuck two dark red carnations in your lapel, separated as shown in our diagram. If your suit is some other color choose your flowers accordingly.

If your daytime coat has a standing collar it is a fashionable whim to pin a flower under the collar at the back so that it stands up à la Medici. This is sketched in our flower plan. For the belted coat or cape coat the smartest thing is a bouquet of small flowers stuck in the belt. If they're real, so much the smarter.

The summer hat scorns real flower trimming but wears clusters of artificial flowers under and on top of the brim at one side. Agnes also places a cluster of velvet flowers at one side of her knitted caps.

For evening the placing of flowers is quite free. Some women wear four flat camellias on one shoulder strap as sketched. Others tuck a cluster of tiny rosebuds in the bosom of their draped frocks as Patou suggests. Others wear a huge flower at the side front of the skirt or on the hip. Still others attach them to the back of the waist line, and some smart ladies carry a bouquet in the hand.

It's Easy for Kiddies to Feel Left Out When a New Baby Arrives

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Having threatened to write again and again on much needed subjects, I find myself on the subject of the new baby once more. And this time, as before, at the suggestion of my correspondents.

The new baby is a big factor—funny to call the fascinating little thing a big factor! But it is. The new baby makes a great change in the life of the other child—the one who has long been here and who seems to have found her place in the family, which is at first her whole world.

Now, of course, it is natural that a new baby should make a change. But that change should be so handled that the first baby can never have a moment's conscious or unconscious doubt of his parents' continued love.

Here is a letter in point:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: After reading your articles on the new baby, this pathetic incident is brought to my mind with such force I must tell you about it. My nephew was 3 years old when his baby brother arrived. After watching several days and noticing all the attention being directed to the new baby, and feeling ignored, he said: 'Mother, you used to call me Feetheart once in a while, but now you don't call me nussin'.'"

The following from a tender, intelligent, and conscientious mother is interesting:

"I read your column daily and find it a great help. After I read each article I ask myself: 'Is that the answer to my problem?' Today I had it brought home to me that I had read the answer in your column many times and did not think it applicable in my case.

"My daughter is a little past 4, and when she was 3½ her brother arrived. Of course, the new baby takes up a lot of time I had previously spent alone with her. I have read your many articles about just this situation, and thought I had done all I could to overcome it. I went out of my way to show her I still loved her the same as ever, etc.

"Today I took her downtown with me and left the baby with a friend. We had a lovely time in the toy departments and playrooms, and when I squeezed her hand and said, 'You know, you're a sweet little girl,' she positively beamed and said, 'That's just what you used to do to me.'"

Food Talk.

"Those who work never tire of potatoes." That is an old saying of our grandmothers. At this season of the year, however, we are sometimes discouraged with the quality of those served.

It would seem that above all other vegetables, the potato should be cooked to perfection, but in reality few vegetables are cooked more carelessly. "It is impossible to get real mashed potatoes in the spring and early summer," is a remark one often hears. The reason is that potatoes now on the market are not adapted to mashing.

At the present time we are buying either old potatoes or very new ones. We must remember that potatoes are living things and life processes are going on slowly all the time. As spring approaches this is what happens. Chemical substances called enzymes begin to work upon the starch, changing it into sugar. Water and carbon dioxide are given off. The loss of starch and water is followed by shrinkage and the sugars, which have developed, give a sweetish taste.

When the potato begins to sprout, these changes take place rapidly. As a result the potato loses its mealiness and becomes soggy. Such potatoes are best adapted to stews, salads, French frys, and creaming, where mealiness is not a requisite.

New potatoes that are now appearing on the market are agreeable to most tastes, provided they are cooked in the proper way. The flavor and texture differ from old potatoes because they are not mature. Immature potatoes contain less starch but more proteins which gelatinize in cooking. This accounts for the moist, waxy consistency in cooked new potatoes. And this moist, waxy quality prevents their baking or mashing well.

This, then, is the season for stewing, making salads, French frying, creaming, or escalloping. In a few weeks when fully developed potatoes are on the market we can serve mashed and baked potatoes with complete satisfaction.

RECIPES.

SCRAMBLED EGGS.

Dash pepper.
1 cup milk.
2 tablespoonfuls butter.

Beat eggs until they are no longer stringy. Add salt, pepper, and milk. Put butter into hot sauce pan; when it bubbles, add egg mixture. Stirring constantly, cook over hot water until firm but not hard. Two tablespoonfuls grated cheese added to the raw mixture give a desirable variation. Minced parsley, cress, pimento, or cooked mushrooms may also be stirred into scrambled eggs just as they are removed from the fire.

Yield: 5 servings. One serving: Total, 148 calories—protein, 32 calories; fat, 106 calories; carbohydrates, 10 calories.

BUTTERSCOTCH PIE.

5 tablespoonfuls flour.
1 cup cold water.
2 egg yolks.
1 cup milk, scalded.
2 tablespoonfuls butter.
½ teaspoonful vanilla.

Boil sugar with 2 tablespoonfuls water to a sirup. Make a smooth paste of flour and cold water. Add to sirup and boil 1 minute. Beat egg yolks, add milk and combine with sugar mixture. Cook in double boiler 10 minutes, then add butter and vanilla. Pour into cooled baked pie shell.

Cool, cover with meringue made of 2 egg whites, 3 tablespoonfuls sugar and ¼ teapoon baking powder. Brown to preferred color.

WILTED LETTUCE.

1 large head lettuce.
1 teaspoonful sugar.
6 slices bacon.
2 tablespoonfuls vinegar.

Cook eggs about 15 minutes in boiling water. Wash lettuce, drain and chop. Add salt and sugar. Broil bacon until crisp and brown. Cut into small pieces, using a knife and fork. Add the vinegar, then the lettuce. Turn flame low. With a fork keep the lettuce in motion, so that it will wilt evenly. Add eggs cut in slices. Serve at once.

BROILED MINUTE STEAK.

1-3 cup olive oil.
Salt.
Pepper.
1 teaspoonful Worcestershire sauce.
½ pound fresh mushrooms.
2 tablespoonfuls butter.
⅓ cup thin cream or top milk.

Marinate the steak in olive oil, seasoned with salt, pepper, and Worcestershire sauce for 2 hours. Sear the meat on both sides, then brown slowly to the preferred stage. In the meantime, cook the mushrooms in the butter, stirring often. Season with salt and pepper and when the mushrooms are tender add the cream.

Wife's Quarrel with In-Laws Is Her Own Affair

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My husband's family is ruining my happiness. He is the only man in the world for me, and I know he feels the same way toward me. His family is the bossy, domineering kind, and because I informed them I was perfectly able to run my home without their assistance they do not speak to me."

That is "Dorothy C.'s" introduction to her in-law trouble. From there she tells about how her husband's family now is trying to create an estrangement by filling her husband with "rubbish" about her, and how the man sits and listens without a word of protest. Dorothy would like to see him stand up and fight for her. Since he assumes the silent rôle, his wife admits a loss of respect for him. She despises a man who is tied to his mother's and sister's apron strings, etc., etc. From which one, almost every one but Dorothy, adjudges that she is not without her own strain of domineering, bossy traits.

The man frankly tells her she is unreasonable to expect him to quarrel with his people. In which he is right. Anyway, if she is not unreasonable, she is unsympathetic toward his position, and nonunderstanding about the nature of blood ties. Marriage does not cut them off. Nor should it. Theoretically, a man's course lies with his wife, but for practical adaptation those blood ties have to be reckoned on.

If a wife chooses to quarrel with her husband's people, it is her quarrel, however. She has a duty, in the first place, and it is to attempt to make friends with them, for his sake, to keep on terms of friendship with them—for his sake. It is a serious mistake for a young woman to think because she takes over a man she takes over every grain of affection he may have in his system. Where he has strong blood ties, it cannot be done.

Were the situation reversed and it was the woman's sisters and mother who were due for banishment, the wife would certainly feel the injustice of it. She would surely be aggrieved were she expected to take up the fight because her husband was unfit to quarrel.

LIKE THOUSANDS of modern brides, Mrs. M. Standish does all her own work, yet keeps her hands looking lovely with Lux. "I resolved"—she writes—"I'd never have 'dishpan hands'—so I use Lux for dishes, for cleaning, for most everything!"

AREN'T THEY CLEVER . . . these pretty young modern brides?

Mrs. Standish is one of thousands who write delightedly—

"We do all our own work, yet our hands look so dainty, so exquisitely cared for—you'd think we had a whole staff of maids at our call!"

They themselves discovered the secret . . . Washing their fine things in Lux, they noticed how nice their hands look afterward. Then they began using Lux for dishes—other soap and water tasks, too.

You can feel how different Lux is. Those delicate, sparkling Lux suds haven't a trace of harshening alkali . . . bland, soothing, they tend your hands gently . . . cherish their smooth, white beauty.
